Rocking a Prisoner. New Prices, New Ideas. Our Important Glands. Mr. Garner's Plan.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

It appears the killing of 20-year-old Hyman Stark by Long Island policemen, in the course of a "third degree" treatment, included some unusual features.

Among them was what a policeman calls "rocking." It is alleged that a police official second in command, put one foot on the prisoner's stomach, the other foot on his neck, and rocked from foot to foot, asking between times:

"Now will you confess?"

The man died, his larynx was broken. Doctors testified that he was beaten with a rubber hose to emphasize the persuasive character of the "rocking" process.

Newspapers of the North have recently been devoting considerable attention, with exclamations of horror, to the killing of a prisoner in a Florida convict camp, in a disagreeable way.

They now have something to talk about nearer to home.

NOT LONG ago New York's financial powers would have shuddered had you suggested that private street car corporations should be taken over by the city. But "circumstances alter cases."

The value of stocks have dropped pitifully, money is scarce, travel has fallen off, and now defenders of the sacred "private ownership" favor public ownership of street cars, elevated railroads, subways, to relieve high finance of that particular burden.

BEFORE LONG those in control of railroads may decide that government ownership of railroads might not be such a bad thing.

Private ownership is beautiful, the very cornerstone of our republic, WHEN IT PAYS.

But when it loses money it also begins to lose its charm.

DR. A. S. BLUMGARTEN says political orators of the future may describe the glands of their candidates instead of describing their moral qualities. The "keynoter" will announce "a man who" as one with marvelous adrenal and pituitary glands.

The glands are as important to body, brain, health and efficiency, as the battery to a searchlight or doorbell.

Thus far gland treatment is largely experimental, sometimes dangerous. It will eventually became an exact science and a great blessing to the human race.

SPEAKER GARNER is back in Texas, making speeches on the way to a fishing vacation. What his constituents think of him you gather from the fact that his short speech at Dallas was the first he has made in Texas in 20 years, and all that time he has been sent regularly to Congress.

His constituents know him, he does not have to TELL them. As he spoke, his audience yelled appreciatively:

"Pour it on."

Mr. Garner is revealing what probably will be the keynote of his and other campaigns. The fight will be to "take away the power of government from those who administer it for the benefit of a privileged few."

Many states wonder why government allows one hundred and fifty small banks in one part of one state to go under, while giving eighty million dollars of the public's money to one big bank in Chicago.

It is true that the failure of that one big bank might have caused infinitely more distress than failure of one hundred and fifty small banks could produce. Also that the great bank failing might have created a dangerous panic.

But it is hard to explain that to the little people who lost their money in the hundred and fifty little banks.

GOLD SEEKERS crossing the plains long ago would see on some hill, angry and solitary, a huge bull bison going his own way, far from the herd. Republicans may see a similar sight in various parts of the west during this campaign and the modern, solitary bison will be Senator Borah, of Idaho.

He is going out all by himself to tell the people what to do. Next Saturday he will begin with a nationwide radio broadcast.

THROUGHOUT THE campaign Senator Borah will tell the people what he thinks without mentioning Roosevelt or Hoover. He has left the Republican party, therefore what he says will probably help the Democratic party.

He will find the entire nation interested if he will emphasize his views on the importance of PROVIDING MORE CURRENCY. Some financiers dislike the idea of "reflating the dollar" . . but the average voter likes that idea.

MR. GREEN of the American Federation of Labor says it will be non-partisan in the presidential campaign. The executive committee expresses its dislike of both party platforms. The important thing in the coming elections is not the political plans of labor union officials or any others that have jobs, but rather the plans of the ten million men that the federation says are out of work, and their forty million wives, sisters and daughters.

MUCH DEPENDS on geographical location. In Germany, 15 are killed in week-end fights between "Reds and Nazis."

Reds from below, Nazis from the top, want to run Germany. In the excitement, fifteen are killed. And on the same day in

TERESA MARTIN AND JERRY BUTCH . . MARATHON MARRIAGE

DICTATOR FOR PRUSSIA; MARTIAL LAW IN BERLIN

DANCE TO COURT FOR LICENSE

At the end of 1,056 hours of marathon dancing, Teresa Martin and Jerry Butch, No. 17 team, decided they might as well get married. So leaving Motor Square Garden, where they will be married tonight, they danced through town on a truck, danced up the steps of the City-County Building, danced to the marriage license clerk and got a license. Then they danced back again.

But with them, it's the remarriage that counts. Teresa, who said she was 21 today and lives at 810 Suismon street, explained they were married in June, 1927, and divorced two years later. Butch is 26, and lives at 1216 Wagner way.

The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. H. L. Crawford, of Duquesne, who has been conducting evangelist services each Sunday for the marathoners. Lawrence C. Martin and Mary Elizabeth Ridley are to be the witnesses.

Slayer of Three Attempts Suicide

HARRISBURG, July 20.—(INS.)—Dauphin County jail officials disclosed today that Barney Godleski, 31, held as the slayer of three of his children, made an attempt upon his own life in his cell last night.

The buckle of Godleski's belt broke when he attempted to hang himself in the cell and he was thrown to the floor. The disturbance aroused other prisoners and jail attaches were summoned.

Bannister Reclaims Plane, Hops to N. Y.

DETROIT, July 20.—(INS.)—Harry Bannister, former husband of Ann Harding, left here today for New York in his airplane. His trip had been delayed for two days by a $265 suit filed by contractors on the Bannister Lake Orion (Mich.) cottage.

Florenz Ziegfeld Not Out of Danger

HOLLYWOOD, July 20.—(INS.)—Florenz Ziegfeld, New York theatrical producer, was "very slightly improved" in condition today, his physicians reported. He is suffering from lung congestion that followed pleurisy and is not yet out of danger, the physicians said.

AUTOPSY SEEKS POISON CLUE

Chemical analysis of the vital organs of the exhumed body of Steve Allas, 12, named as one of the victims of the Munhall "poison plot" to collect insurance, was being made today.

F. C. Buckmaster, county chemist, detailed to make the analysis, said it would require at least two weeks.

Coroner W. J. McGregor ordered exhumation of the body at St. Ann's Cemetery, Homeville, last night after Mrs. Gizella Young, Munhall fortune teller, reiterated her alleged confession of the plot in the Coroner's office.

REPORT NOT UPHELD

An autopsy performed by Dr. T. R. Helmbold and Dr. J. W. McMeans, coroner's physicians, failed to sustain the reported cause of death, given as cerebral embolism.

Dr. Charles C. Huff, who gave cerebral embolism as the cause of death in the death certificate, remained convinced today that if such was not the cause then another brain condition was. He expressed little confidence in statements that the boy had been poisoned and pointed out that if a poisonous liquid had been

San Quentin Freeing Kid McCoy Today

SAN QUUENTIN PRISON, Cal., July 20.—(INS.)—Today was the day set for the release of Norman Selby, better known as "Kid" McCoy, 59, the ex-prizefight champion, from San Quentin Prison.

McCoy, sentenced to prison in April, 1925, for 20 years for murdering his sweetheart, Mrs. Theresa Mors, in Los Angeles, was paroled. He is to go to Detroit and work as a physical education instructor at an automobile plant.

2-DIE OF HEAT AS MERCURY SOARS HERE

Temperature Nears 93 Mark, Which Set Year's Mark

Two deaths were attributed by the coroner's office to the heat today as the mercury climbed towards yesterday's mark of 93 degrees, record for the year.

Mrs. Anna Burkhart, 77, widow, of Coal Hollow, Sandy Creek, was found dead in bed this morning. Death, from heart failure, was superinduced by heat, according to the report to the corner.

An unidentified man was drowned when, seeking relief from the heat, he started to swim the Monongahela River at Brown's Bridge. Homestead Steel Works police recovered the body.

SLEEP IN PARKS

All city parks were ordered opened tonight to persons seeking relief from the heat.

With this announcement of Public Works Director Edward G. Lang, came instructions from Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh for police to guard park sleepers.

Thousands, without official permission, invaded the parks and playgrounds of the city last night as the darkness brought only slight relief. Others sought coolness in rivers and bathing pools.

Relief is expected late tomorrow, with thundershowers, according to the weather bureau.

International News Service.

Temperatures in many sections east of the Rockie mounted into the '90s, with indications that 100 degrees would be registered before nightfall.

General relief from a high pressure area moving south and eastward from the north plains states was predicted for tomorrow night and Friday. Some relief was felt today in the north plains region and in the North Atlantic states.

An international News Service survey showed 35 persons have been drowned or killed by the heat this week.

PITTSBURGHER FOUND IN LAKE

ERIE, Pa., July 20.—A well-dressed unidentified man, about 50, believed a Pittsburgher, was found today in Lake Erie at Waldameer Beach. He is supposed to have been a member of a camping party. His shirt, shoes and underwear bore labels of Pittsburgh merchants. At first believed to have been murdered, police decided after an autopsy that he had tripped over a piece of debris and in falling struck his head. Water was found in the lungs.

The victim was five feet seven and a half inches tall, weighed 172 pounds had thin dark brown hair, brown eyes and a partial upper plate of teeth. He wore horn-rimmed glasses.

WHITE HOUSE MARCHERS ROUTED

Police Tussle Halts Radical Veterans' Picket Plan

WASHINGTON, July 20.—(AP.)—In a mild scuffle of bonus marchers with police, three members of the bonus seeking army were taken into custody today as the aftermath of an abortive attempt by a large group of veterans to approach the White House.

John Pace, a leader of the radical group of ex-service men, was arrested, together with Walter F. Elker and a companion, whose name was given as Beckwith Johnson. Each was held in $125 bond on charges of disorderly conduct and parading without a license.

Shunted away from the executive mansion by a heavy screen of guards, the arrests came after Pace had again attempted to lead his group toward it.

The radicals, closely surrounded by police, had been walking down Eighteenth street. At D street they attempted to turn toward the White House. Police promptly turned them back.

There was a scuffle, police clubs were brandished, and Pace and his companions were taken into custody.

OUT 'SIGHT-SEEING'

There were several hundred in the group, but most of the veterans dispersed good naturedly after police intervened. They told authorities they were on a "sight-seeing tour," but the former took no chances.

Officers completely surrounded the area about the executive mansion and the space they guarded was cleared of spectators. Later the guard was released.

It was the second time in two days that extra guards had been rushed to the White House on reports of an impending demonstration.

Food Riot Quelled By Chicago Police

CHICAGO, July 20.—(AP.)—Five hundred men and women took part in a noisy demonstration today before an unemployment relief station on the near West Side, but subsided when police and relief officials offered to hear their complaints and make adjustments.

Most of the demonstrators complained that orders for groceries were late in arriving at their homes or that foodstuffs received were insufficient.

'Peck's Bad Girl'

DOROTHY HALE

DOROTHY HALE'S CAREER VIVID

"The Peck's bad girl of Pittsburgh society, convent-bred, student of drama at Carnegie Tech, a runaway daughter trailed by detectives all over the country, chorus girl, art student and sculptress, wife of a distinguished painter, manager of an art gallery, free lance writer and, now, screen actress."

Announcement was made yesterday that Miss Hale, who attended St. Joseph's convent school at Greensburg, had been signed to play opposite Ronald Colman in the film version of "Cynara."

Walker Delay Balks Roosevelt Trip West

ALBANY, N. Y., July 20.—(INS.)—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt announced today he had abandoned his plans for attending the Olympic Games at Los Angeles next month because of the tardiness of Mayor James J. Walker in filing his answer to the removal charges.

GERMANY SUPPLANTS STATE HEADS TO CURB RIOTS

International News Service.

BERLIN, July 20.—Chancellor Franz von Papen forcibly ousted the 14-year-old regime of Premier Otto Braun, of Prussia, today and established himself dictator over the entire state, which includes Berlin.

Appointing himself Reich Commissar of Prussia, von Papen named an almost completely new Prussian government and then proceeded to take control by brute force when Braun's minister of the interior, Karl Severing, refused to obey the Chancellor's decree. Braun was away on vacation.

Reichswehr guards marched upon the Prussian ministry of state and seized control of the building. Severing remained in his offices in Unter den Linden, with the announcement he would yield "only to force."

A select company of government troops, armed with machine guns, was placed about Chancellor von Papen's office to shield him from violence.

CIVIL WAR THREAT

The unprecedented measures, which threatened civil war throughout the Reich as a result of the claims of many states that their sovereignty was being broken down by von Papen, were taken following the demand made in the Prussian Diet by its Nazi president, Hans Kerrl, that a federal commissioner be appointed for Prussia.

Von Papen charged that Braun's Socialist government, which was defeated by Adolf Hitler's Nazis in the last Prussian elections, had been lenient in dealing with Communists and had failed to prevent a campaign of terrorism which had been growing during recent weeks, resulting in many deaths.

A "state of emergency," tantamount to martial law, was established throughout Berlin and the province of Brandenburg.

Dr. Franz Bracht, Mayor of Essen, was named von Papen's plenipotentiary, and he immediately effected emergency measures to carry out the dictatorship.

Quiet prevailed throughout the Reich in the early afternoon, although serious reaction among the working classes was expected to break out momentarily.

The chairmen of most of the trade unions and high officials of the Socialist party were in conference continually after promulgation of the dictatorship decree, and these groups were expected to take action in some manner.

Von Papen announced he acted with the full knowledge and approval of President Paul von Hindenburg, who is vacationing in Neudeck. The step was taken under Article 48 of the Weimar Constitution, the clause under which former Chancellor Bruening exercised a long "dictatorship" over Germany.

LEGALITY QUESTIONED

Whether this elastic clause gave von Papen the right to seize Prussia, however, was another matter, and students of constitutional law were at a loss to pass on the constitutionality of the act.

Severing, in resisting, felt sure of himself, although the government announced he and all other officers of the government who refused to yield would face jail or a $4,000 fine in accordance with the provisions of the emergency decree.

The decree also threatened the death penalty for high treason, arson, railway sabotage, bombings, and participation in armed clashes. Death also will be meted

GRANDI OUSTED BY MUSSOLINI

ROME, July 20.—(INS.)—The greatest cabinet shakeup recorded since Benito Mussolini became the dictator of Italy took place today when Il Duce personally assumed the portfolio of foreign affairs, formerly held by Dino Grandi.

It is understood that Grandi will go to London as ambassador to Great Britain but his appointment has not yet been made.

Mussolini also took over the corporations folio and named as under secretary Signor Rossoni, who was dropped some time ago from the Fascist party. The appointment was the first news that Rossoni was back in the party. He was prominent in its early accomplishments.

Prof. Peter de Francissi, director of the Roman University, was named minister of justice, succeeding Signor Rocco, who probably will be made ambassador to France.

Prof. Francisco Ercole, director of Palermo Institute, was named minister of education, succeeding Signor Giuliano.

Silvio Suvich, formerly a government commissioner, was made under secretary for foreign affairs. It was announced that all other under secretaries had resigned.

Woman Found Drowned In Allegheny River

The body of a well dressed unidentified woman, aged about 22, was recovered this afternoon from the Allegheny River below the Sixth Street Bridge where it was first sighted by pedestrians on the bridge.

River Patrolmen Charles M. Snyder and Henry Reddy, said they believed she had leaped from some upstream bridge within 48 hours.

At the morgue a silver ring, unscribed, was found on a finger of her left hand. She was 5 feet 7 inches tall, weighed about 150 pounds, had blonde hair, well formed features, gray eyes.

She wore a blue and white flowered dress, of summer material, green sash, tan stockings, white pumps and white kid gloves, and had one large white earring.

Bed Improvised At Homestead by John Coolidge

There was no bed to sleep on when they arrived at the Coolidge homestead. John spied two saw horses used in the remodeling of the house. He arranged them a suitable distance apart. Two boards, a bed spring, mattress and blankets completed the ensemble.

'Ride' Shooting, Girl's Balm Suit Linked

NEW YORK, July 20.—(INS.)—The motive which inspired two men to take pretty Rose Wasserstein, 21, for an attempted "ride" may be solved, police believed today, through disclosure that she had filed a $50,000 breach of promise suit against a wealthy New Yorker.

The girl, shot twice in the head, was found in Woodmere, where she had been tossed from a car.

Authorities said they were searching for the defendant in the action, but refused to divulge his name.

She said a man named Harry whom she had not seen in a year and his companion, Jack, both of whom police were inclined to look upon as hired gunmen, telephoned her and made a "date."

The three rode about Long Island for a while, Miss Wasserstein declared. She continued:

"Harry stopped the car near the woods and Jack got out and went to the back of the car. Then I heard a loud report and something struck me. That's all I know."

PINCHOT, SCORING RELIEF DELAY, ORDERS NEW PARLEY

FAILURE AGAIN THREATENS ASSEMBLY

After Four Weeks Only Two Bills Have Been Passed

HARRISBURG, July 20.—(AP.)—After announcing that little had been done by the Legislature toward enactment of the 14-point unemployment relief program indorsed by him and Republican organization leaders, Gov. Pinchot today called a conference for this afternoon with these leaders to discuss the legislative situation.

The conference was called for 4 o'clock in the Governor's office. Republican organization leaders said they were not informed as to the purpose of the conference, but assumed it is to discuss legislation pending before the Senate and House.

Earlier in the day Gov. Pinchot, in a statement to newspapermen, said that so far as unemployment relief is concerned, the session appears "headed for failure."

After four weeks of the session and in the face of an agreement between him and Republican organization leaders, he said only two bills of any sort to carry out the 14 points of the agreed program have been sent to him for signature. He said:

"In a word, almost nothing has been done to carry out the agreed purpose of the extra session and some things have been done to destroy it.

HINTS 'DOUBLE-CROSS'

"It is evident that unless the people of Pennsylvania take a hand the result of this second extra session will be exactly like that of the first session, except that it will be worse. And it will not be Gifford Pinchot who will be double-crossed, but the unemployed, the widows, the orphans and the sick."

Recalling his public statements that he would not call a special session unless and until an agreement was reached on a program in advance of the session, Gov. Pinchot said the 14 points of the program were embodied in the call for the session. He added:

"Then the session met, the agreement was forgotten and the 14 points were promptly shoved aside.

"Out of nearly 50 bills introduced under the agreement, after four weeks only two bills of any sort to carry out the agreed program have reached my desk for final signature. One of these concerns a method of local tax collection and the other has to do with the assets of closed banks.

BILLS AT STANDSTILL

"The two bills in the agreed program which are vital to unemployment relief are both held up in committee. One permits all cities and other political sub-divisions to make emergency loans against uncollected delinquent taxes for unemployment relief. It has passed the House and is now held up in committee in the Senate.

"The other provides for a constitutional amendment to permit the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to repay to the cities and political subdivisions the money borrowed and expended for unemployment relief out of a state loan. This also has passed the House and is held up in the Senate. A Senate bill for a similar purpose has not been reported out of committee.

"In other words, the chief unemployment relief items in the agreed program are at a standstill."

Installment Tax Bill Passes Senate

HARRISBURG, July 20.—The Senate today passed finally the bill of Representative Max Spann to permit delinquent taxes and water rents in Pittsburgh to be paid on the installment plan. The bill previously passed the House and now goes to Gov. Pinchot for approval.

The bill amends the second class city law to bring it in harmony with the McClure bill, already passed by this session, to permit installment payment of all local taxes throughout the state.

Assembly for Cut In Judges' Salaries

HARRISBURG, July 20.—(INS.)—Voluntary salary reductions for Pennsylvania judges will be sought under the terms of a resolution adopted today by the House.

PICKET CHIEFS ARRESTED

hours to pay the bonus or the White House will be picketed.

The warning came from Urban Ledoux, "Mr. Zero," just before Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler advised a ragged crowd of veterans at their camp that if they go home they should work at the polls to "lick the hell out of those who are against you."

SEEKS HOOVER

Ledoux tried to deliver to President Hoover a petition demanding the special session. A White House secretary took the request along with a promise by Ledoux that if the other veterans here won't help, he will picket the White House alone.

The suggestion from Ledoux that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation immediately pay off the bonus certificates also went to the President.

BUTLER CHEERED

Butler's pep talk to the veterans resounded with the "hells," "damns," and other forceful phrases that kept him under the constant scrutiny of higher-ups while he was in the Marine Corps. He assured the bonus seekers they are:

"The best-behaved segment of society in America today."

He told them:

When the crowd cheered, Butler said:

"You are the same lovable people I knew when I shoved you on toward battle through a mud camp in France."

A veteran, who probably remembered Brest, shouted:

"Horse-feathers."

Butler laughed.

With the speech off his chest, the former Marine walked about camps for several hours, finally bunking for the night in a tent with Walter W. Waters, elected commander in chief of the bonus expeditionary forces.

TAX FEE 'GRAB' BILL BURIED

HARRISBURG, July 20.—(AP.)—The fat fees of the delinquent tax collector's office have been saved to the Republican organization of Allegheny County by the Senate committee on new counties and county seats. It buried yesterday for the special session the bill of Senator William D. Mansfield, either to abolish the fee system entirely, or failing that, to materially reduce the 10 per ecnt now paid the collector on delinquent county taxes.

The final vote in committee was eight to three against the bill. Of three Allegheny senators on the committee, Mansfield and Frank J. Harris voted to report the bill, while Morris Einstein voted to hold it in committee.

Today Mansfield said:

"I intend to introduce a similar bill in the regular session next winter."

NEW TAX POWER FOR CITY ASKED

HARRISBURG, July 20. — Expanded taxing powers would be conferred on the Pittsburgh City Council and the Commissioners of Allegheny County if a bill which passed second reading in the Senate this afternoon should become law. It already has passed the House, originally designed to apply only to Philadelphia.

When it reached the Senate for action today, Senator Frank J. Harris had inserted an amendment including second class cities and counties.

Under its term the local taxing bodies now confined to securing revenue from real estate and personal property taxes, would be able to tax any revenue source not already levied on by the state.

Hoover Abolishes Radio Division

WASHINGTON, July 20.—(AP.)—President Hoover today issued an executive order abolishing the radio division of the Department of Commerce and simultaneously transferred the duties of that division to the Federal Radio Commission.

Under the President's order the Department of Commerce will turn over to the commission all officers, employes, records and appropriations belonging to the old radio division.

PINCHOT BEGINS DRIVE TO FIRE COLLINS

Sends Formal Demand For Resignation of Commissioner

HARRISBURG, July 20.—(AP.)—Gov. Pinchot today preferred formal ouster charges of neglect of duty and inefficiency against Public Service Commissioner Emerson L. Collins, Williamport.

The governor set Monday, August 1, at 2 p. m. (Eastern standard time), in his reception room as the time and place for Collins in person or by counsel, to answer the charges.

In his letter to Collins notifying him of the charges, Gov. Pinchot specified three charges:

1—That he has not performed any of his commissioner's duties in the last 30 months.

2—That in the last seven months he has not appeared at any place where commission business has been transacted."

3—That during 1931, although he appeared three times at executive sessions of the commission in Harrisburg, he did not take any part in considering the work presented at such sessions.

PREVIOUS DEMAND

Last week the Governor called upon Collins to resign his office, threatening ouster proceedings if he should not do so. The Governor said that he could not, in the interest of economy, ask capable employes to resign when an incapacitated employe is still on the payroll at a salary of $10,000 a year.

Governor Pinchot said he had not acted sooner in the hope that Collins' health would improve. Having learned, he said, that Collins' health would not improve sufficiently he asked his immediate resignation.

Public Service Commissioners can be removed from office by the Governer, with consent of the Senate, only upon conviction of charges of misconduct in office, neglect of duty or inefficiency.

After Collins' public answer August 1, the Governor will determine whether to prefer charges to the Senate. If he does so, the Senate must act, either clearing Collins or acting on his removal.

The boy died December 2, several weeks after he was reported to have collided head to head with another boy in a football game.

DOCTORS TO CONFER

Examination of the organs was to follow the conference of Coroner McGregor and his two physicians in the Coroner's office at noon today.

The body of Andrew Allas, 16, the boy's brother, was exhumed in May and examined for trace of poison. Andrew Allas, an infant; Richard Duyava and John Manteyo, first husband of Mrs. Anna Allas, of Whitaker way, Munhall, were the others named as victims. Mrs. Allas and Mrs. Mary Chalfa, also of Munhall, were involved in Mrs. Young's alleged confession.

The case of Mrs. Young and Mrs. Mary Chalfa, charged with felonious assault and battery in an alleged attack on the latter's cousin, Mrs. Stella Chalfa, was before the grand jury today.

PAY CUT URGED ON JUDGES

HARRISBURG, July 20.—(AP.)—Both the House and Senate held brief morning sessions today. The House adjourned at 1:30 p. m. until 9 o'clock Monday night; the Senate recessed until 5 p. m. today.

The House adopted the Spangler resolution asking all judges to accept voluntary reductions of 10 per cent cut in salaries of $10,000 or less and a 15 per cent cut in salaries in excess of $10,000. It was sent to the Senate where it was read and laid on the table.

The Senate adopted the Salus resolution providing for an investigation by four senators, the Auditor General, States Treasurer and Secretary of Banking into the bonding of banks.

The principal object of today's session was to bring before the House the Woodward Senate bill which sets up machinery for distributing the expected $45,000,000 Federal relief. The measure was sent from the Ways and Means committee to the Appropriation committee and was finally passed on first reading.

The Talbot $24,000,000 unemployment relief appropriation bill was re-reported and will be on final passage Monday.

DICTATOR FOR PRUSSIA

It was authoritatively stated that the Chancellor had complained to two representatives of Prussia of the apparent close cooperation of the Communists and Socialists against the National Socialists. He is said to have recalled to Severing the latter's recent utterance in an election speech in which he said:

"We'll kick out Papen."

POWER TO ACT

The Chancellor told the two men that President von Hindenburg had given him full power to act and insisted that Prussia obey the presidential decree.

Dramatically gesturing, Severing declared he would not obey the President and added:

"I will yield only to brutal force."

With that the conference came to an end and the government's decrees were immediately issued.

Bavaria to Protest Against Dictatorship

MUNICH, Germany, July 20.—(INS.)—The government of Bavaria, second largest German state, today decided to formally protest the virtual dictatorship established over Prussia by Chancellor Franz von Papen.

The government will protest to President Paul von Hindenburg that the appointment of a Reich Commissar in Prussia is a violation of the constitution, and announced it would stand behind the ousted socialistic government of Prussia in action against Von Papen to be filed in a state court.

The Bavarian government announcement was expected to be followed by similar statements from many of the smaller states, and was considered a possible prelude to a nation-wide uprising against the Von Papen regime.

Premier Braun, who arrived in Berlin after hurriedly cutting short his vacation, twice attempted to enter his offices in the Wilhelmstrasse, but each time was refused permission and forced back by the Reichswehr guards.

Albert Grezesinsky, Socialist president of the Berlin Police Department, was ousted, as was the vice president, Dr. Bernhard Weiss. Each protested their removal and refused to leave their offices, whereupon they were arrested. Reichswehr guards were placed in their offices.

BRITISH VISION U. S.-CANADA TRADE CURB

Empire Parley Uneasy After Hint of Break In Relations

OTTAWA, Ont., July 20.—(AP.)—An inference that the British Empire trade conference, which opens tomorrow, might prove a means for Canada to "break away from the influence of the United States" was plumped into the laps of the empire delegates today.

Stanley M. Bruce, former Premier of Australia, stabbed through the maze of predictions of success that resounded through the corridors where the conference is talked, to place in blunt words a question which was uppermost in all minds. He asked:

"Will a cohesive trade policy within the units of the British Empire be purchased at the cost of American commercial relations with Canada?"

Referring to the United States, Canada's best customer, as a "major problem," Bruce said:

"There is always that tendency to be absorbed by a bigger country. This ought to be Canada's chance to break away."

The Canadians, although they are prepared to open the conference tomorrow with a proposal for an economic alignment of one-third of the earth's population and one-fourth of its known land surface against the remainder, seemed unprepared for the bluntness of Bruce.

American business representatives, almost more numerous here than the Canadians, stirred uneasily over Bruce's statement, which was issued in printed form, but they held to the view that the Ottawa government could not jeopardize a trade with the United States, worth $900,000,000 in 1931, for a trade with the British Isles valued at approximately $400,000,000.

DELAY PRIMARY REPEAL BILL

HARRISBURG, July 20.—The Republican organization today postponed until next Monday night an effort to pass the bill of Senator Leroy Chapman, of Warren County, repealing the state primary law.

Chapman himself moved that the bill go over when it was reached on the calendar this afternoon. Opponents of the measure, led by Senators Frank J. Harris and William D. Mansfield, of Allegheny County, made no effort today to force action.

Chapman explained that all senators favoring the bill were not present, and he was fearful of not securing the 26 votes necessary to passage.

Wife, 18, Requests Search for Husband

BEAVER, Pa., July 20.—Mrs. Verna Rosepiler, 18, of Industry, has asked county detectives to aid the search for her husband of a year, William Rosepiler, 24, who, she charges vanished Sunday night.

China, 10,000 were killed—"Reds" that "have the Russian disease"—and nobody pays much attention to it.

In Germany the average man educated in public affairs by the Social Democratic party, impartial as to Reds and Nazis, cares little which kills the other.

ARTHUR L. RACE, chairman of the American Hotel Association committee on prohibition, says the American Hotel Men's Association has NOT declared for Hoover or Roosevelt, but only for an end of prohibition.

It was the "Hotel, Restaurant, Club and Allied Interests Association" that decided to support the Democratic ticket. Mr. Race says his important organization, covering the whole country, is non-partisan.

U. S. Business Gain Seen As Factories Reopen

NEW YORK, July 20.—(Universal.)—Reports from all over the nation indicated a revival of business yesterday. From coast to coast came news of factories reopening, thousands unemployed for months going back to work.

More specific instances of the slow return to normal business conditions were the reports that hat factories in Danbury, Conn., are running at capacity, hiring extra men.

Thousands of men will go back to work on construction of levees and sea walls as the result of contracts totaling more than $5,000,000 awarded in the Memphis (Tenn.) district.

Other good news came from Springfield, Mo., where 500 girls are going back to work this week in an overall factory, closed for several months.

Ten thousand persons went back to their jobs in Lowell, Mass., and Nashau, N. H., with the reopening of the Nashau manufacturing plants.

AKRON, O., July 20.—(AP.)—A salary and wage increase plan, effective as of July 1 and calculated to restore to all employes the 20 per cent cut from wages last January, was announced today by W. G. Klauss, president of India Tire and Rubber Company.

Currier & Ives Print Creator Dies at 100

NEW YORK, July 20.—(AP.)—Louis Maurer, who got $12 a week for creating sporting prints that made collectors scramble, is dead at the age of 100.

The "oldest American artist" and the last surviving member of Currier & Ives, "Printmakers to the American People," died yesterday in his old brownstone house on West Forty-third street.

He did the famous series of prints on the "Life of a Fireman" and his pictures were credited with immortalizing famous American trotting horses. He lived to see great historical value on reproductions of his work for Currier & Ives which once sold for 25 and 50 cents.

Some of his own reproductions brought $700 each, notably the portrait of the famous race horse Lexington.

Before the Civil War he did the fireman series, Indian fights and life on the plains and his lithographs of horses. He looked a shade like Buffalo Bill, his close friend, and was active to the last. On his 100th birthday he entertained friends by playing on his silver flute. In 1930 at Green Pond, N. J., he stopped a mounted policeman and prevailed on him to let him ride his horse for a while.

ROCKEFELLER'S DAUGHTER SACRIFICING FORTUNE

HOME, LUXURIES GIVEN UP TO AID NEEDY

Mrs. McCormick Ill, Financial Plight Revealed

International News Service.

CHICAGO, July 20.—Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick today was cast in the role of a wealthy woman shunning all extravagance and sacrificing huge portions of her fortune in order that others might not suffer.

The need for economy and financial difficulties, it was disclosed, has forced the daughter of John D. Rockefeller to abandon her expansive graystone mansion and move into a comparatively simple four-room suite of the Drake Hotel.

Because of the financial tribulations, endured by virtue of her desire to protect small home owners and tenants from foreclosure and eviction, Mrs. McCormick's health has been impaired and she is suffering from nervous exhaustion and a bronchial ailment.

SEEKS SECLUSION

Doctors advised her to seek quiet and seclusion in the country. But, the queen of Chicago society was loath to leave the city in whose confines she has remained for more than 12 years. So she compromised by closing the great mansion her father gave her and retiring to the comparative peace of a hotel suite.

The stirring story of Mrs. McCormick's sacrifices for the benefit of those whose incomes have been curtailed during these difficult times was told by her friend and counselor, Edwin D. Krenn, the Swiss architect whom she met in Geneva in 1913. Krenn said:

"Throughout her life Mrs. McCormick has done many splendid things for the city she loves. Everyone knows her splendid work as a benefactress.

AIDED HOME BUYERS

"When her own troubles took form, she was insistent that those troubles not be transferred to the small property buyer or the tenant who were having difficulties in meeting their payments upon small home sites or upon their living quarters.

"When they could not pay the full amount of their installments we reduced the payment rather than allow them to forfeit all that they had paid in, or evicting them on non-payment of rent."

Krenn said Mrs. McCormick is receiving no income from her father or her brother, John D. Rockefeller, Jr. He said:

"She is living upon her own income, reduced, just as the incomes of all individuals have been reduced."

HOOVER DELAYS RELIEF SIGNING

WASHINGTON, July 20.—(AP.)—So there would be time for everybody to get set, including the 30-odd states that already had shown they wanted some of the money, President Hoover has delayed his signing of the $2,122,000,000 relief bill.

The White House announced the postponed pen work—tentatively set for yesterday—would let the President finish plans for reorganization of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, which will handle the huge emergency fund.

This reorganization was to include the appointment of successors to Gov. Eugene Meyer, of the Federal Reserve Board, and Paul Bestor, Farm Loan commissioner, whose retirements as directors of the corporation the bill made mandatory, at the President's request.

Boy Gets Sentence To Sunday School

UNIONTOWN, Pa., July 20.—(AP.)—Earl Kesson, Connellsville lad must go to Sunday school regularly and cannot smoke a cigaret until he is of age, because he stole a turkey.

The court issued the sentence yesterday as Earl pleaded guilty to the theft charge.

Connellsville Fire Battled Three Hours

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., July 20.—A large frame structure, formerly occupied by the Connellsville Planing Mill, was destroyed by flames this morning, with loss estimated $5,000.

South Connellsville firemen assisted in fighting the flames, which raged for three hours.

CASH FOR LOVE WON BY WOMAN

NEW YORK, July 20.—(Universal.)—The $500,000 breach of promise suit brought by Mrs. Annette S. Bracy against Joseph B. Whitehead, soft drink millionaire, has been settled out of court, Mrs. Bracy revealed.

For two years, since the filing of the suit, Whitehead has been fighting it in court. At one time, he denied he had proposed to Mrs. Bracy and said he had failed to marry her because she was friendly with five other men, including Sidney Solomon, manager of the swanky Central Park casino.

Mrs. Bracy said she received "a substantial sum of money and an apology, under oath, for what Mr. Whitehead said about me years ago."

Centenarian Beats Young Oats Cutters

VALPARAISO, Ind., July 20.—(AP.)—With the thermometer near 100 degrees, John McCafferty, 101 years old next October, outlasted two young huskies cutting oats. The centenarian, who lives near Valparaiso, works regularly at a blacksmith's forge.

DEATH PENALTY TO BE ASKED IN GIRL'S DEATH

Physician Accused of Illegal Operations Waives Extradition

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 20.—(AP.)—County Attorney Lewis R. Morris said today he would seek the death penalty for Dr. Richard E. Thacker, former Army physician being returned from Springdale, Ark., to face a murder charge in connection with an alleged illegal operation.

He would ask, he said, that the physician be held without bail for trial next fall.

SPRINGDALE, Ark., July 20.—(AP.)—After remaining in hiding for three months in a little farming community near here, Dr. Richard E. Thacker, Oklahoma City physician, arrested yesterday, was said today by officers to have admitted he performed an illegal operation, upon which a murder charge in Oklahoma City is based.

Although he is charged specifically with the murder of Miss Robbie Lou Thompson, a telegraph company employe, he also has been accused of several other illegal operations. One of them is alleged to have caused the death of Mrs. Frankie Lee, wife of a University of Oklahoma football player.

Dr. Thacker waived extradition to Oklahoma City.

Chief of Police G. D. Lichlyter said the former army physician told him he performed the operation upon Miss Thompson only after she had pleaded with him and he had refused two or three times. He said he would fight the murder charge.

DAM GUARDED IN FATAL RIOT

MARSEILLES, Ill., July 20.—(AP.)—A battle for jobs with guns and fists in which one man was killed and more than a score wounded resulted in the placing of a heavy guard today over the government dam under construction here.

The half hour of sharp fighting yesterday began when unemployed union members entered Marseilles to protest employment of out-of-state nonunion laborers on the state waterway project.

Representatives of the law with 128 alleged participants in the rioting in jail at Ottawa, feared more trouble. All night angry wives of the nonunion workers, mostly from Louisiana, kept vigil outside the La Salle County Jail there, spurning orders from the construction companies, which employed their husbands, to leave town.

WALL ST. QUIZ TO GET DATA

WASHINGTON, July 20.—(INS.)—The Norbeck resolution authorizing the Treasury Department to give the Senate Banking and Currency Committee access to all income tax returns and other records needed in its investigation of the New York Stock Exchange was signed today by President Hoover.

Experts will be set to work within a few days examining the Treasury records, said Senator Norbeck (Rep.), of South Dakota, the committee chairman.

Lives 2 Weeks As Bogus Guest Of Chevalier

JUAN-LES-PINS, France, July 20.—(INS.)—Because the temptation of life as lived here by Maurice Chevalier proved too intriguing to be resisted, a 24-year-old law student languished in the town jail today.

For two weeks, Charles Henri Des Rieux lived in Chevalier's villa here, sleeping in the star's bed, bathing in his bathtub and sampling his wine.

But today he fed on prison fare, all because a watchman became suspicious when he saw smoke curling from the chimneys of the film star's supposedly unoccupied villa.

MONKS, MISSING BOSTON HEIR, FEARED DEAD

Arrest of Woman and Her Uncle Fail To Clear Mystery

LONG BEACH, Cal., July 20.—(AP.)—Police today for the first time advanced the possibility that Allan Bradford Monks, Boston heir who has been the object of a long search, may be dead.

With a woman claiming to be Mrs. Monks, under arrest at San Francisco, and a man claiming to be Wiley Lee Watson, her uncle, in custody here, nothing was done to point the whereabouts of the missing man. Detectives said:

"If Monks is still alive, and we are beginning to doubt that he is, we believe he is being held prisoner against his will in a room in Long Beach, possibly in some obscure rooming house."

Mrs. Monks yesterday said Monks had been in San Francisco Saturday and that she had talked with him on the telephone. She said she was hiding her husband from trouble makers. Then she added:

Watson is held as a fugitive in connection with a warrant issued in San Diego, accusing him and Mr. and Mrs. Monks of tendering a worthless check.

Watson said the couple was married two years ago and lived for a time in San Diego, later going to Oceanside, Cal.

Abaut a year ago, Watson said, they came to Long Beach, where they lived as Mr. and Mrs. Lee. Mrs. Monks operated an art store. Watson said about four weeks ago when "police began talking about him," the couple's chauffeur, George Saladas, also known as Osuki, took them in the automobile and drove away. Watson said he did not know where they went, but he believes now that Monks is somewhere in Long Beach.

On various occasions, Watson said, the chauffeur brings him money, which he believes is sent by Monks.

BLAST KILLS 3; 4 MISSING

ALEXANDRIA BAY, N. Y., July 20.—(AP.)—The toll of the explosion of the drill boat America in the St. Lawrence River, near here yesterday, reached three known dead, four missing and eight men in hospitals today with the death of Earl Russell, 17, one of those previously numbered among the injured.

Eight other men were injured when a ton and a half of dynamite planted on the rocky bottom of the St. Lawrence river exploded under the hull of the 150-foot boat.

Two bodies were brought from the wreckage of the sunken drill boat last night before the diver found it necessary to abandon his search.

Artist Badly Hurt In Fall Over Cliff

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—(AP.)—Harold Jezts, 28, Boston artist, was critically injured yesterday in a fall over a 65-foot cliff near Mussel Rock on the ocean shore south of here.

Jezts, unconscious, was lifted up the cliff by rope after more than two hours work by a score of men. Physicians said he was paralyzed in the lower limbs.

BEATEN GIRL TELLS STORY

Edward Driebold, 29, of Baum boulevard, whom Miss Marie Marrian, 25, of 4811 Ellsworth avenue, accused of beating her and throwing her from his automobile in Highland Park early Monday morning, today was held for court charged with felonious assault and battery.

Miss Marrian testified she attended the marathon dance with Driebold and when she entered Driebold's car he drove rapidly away, leaving a girl friend stranded. In Highland Park he beat her she said. Driebold denied the charge.

MELLON SAILS; TO TALK DEBTS

SOUTHAMPTON, England, July 20.—(INS.)—American Ambassador Andrew W. Mellon sailed for home today aboard the White Star liner Majestic for a "vacation" of several weeks.

Although Mellon declared his visit was "purely personal," he admitted he would spend several days in Washington to acquaint President Hoover with current European affairs, and in particular the reparations and war debts situation.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—(Universal)—Highly important conferences on the European debt situation are expected following the return here of Ambassador Mellon.

He will arrive only a few days ahead of the American delegation to the Geneva armaments conference, whose financial experts were close observers of the Lausanne reparations conference and the events which followed. They are expected to take part in the Mellon conferences.

WIFE FIGHTS WANAMAKER

NORRISTOWN, Pa., July 20.—(AP.)—A preliminary injunction restraining Capt. John Wanamaker, Jr., Philadelphia, from getting a divorce in Reno, Nev., where he filed action June 24, was granted by Judge J. Ambler Williams in the Montgomery County Court at Norristown today.

The order was made in behalf of Wanamaker's wife, September 16 was fixed for a hearing oo the injunction.

Mrs. Wanamaker alleges in her bill of equity she believes and avers that if her husband is granted a divorce in Reno it is his intention to go through the form of marrying another woman who is named in the bill.

Indian, Scout in Custer Fight, Dies

Veterinary's Fear Of Drowning Comes True

UNIONTOWN, Pa., July 20.—(AP.)—Dr. C. H. Springer, 54, expressed fear he would drown last night before he went swimming at Shady Grove park near here.

He told friends he had not been in the water for several years but consented to accompany a daughter in a plunge.

A few minutes later he died as he stroked not far from shore. Death was attributed to a heart attack.

Dr. Springer was a prominent Uniontown veterinary and chicken fancier.

BOLT KILLS 3 AT BALL GAME

ALTOONA, Pa., July 20.—(AP.)—Three persons, spectators and players at a ball game, were dead today, victims of lightning, which struck a tree under which they sought shelter during a rainstorm. The victims were players and spectators at a baseball game, who rushed to shelter as the rain began.

A dozen others were stunned by the bolt. Eight were injured.

The dead are Leroy Lonsdale, 34; Ira Mollet, 32, and Robert Charlesworth, 12, all of Altoona. Injured are Thomas Chambers, 13; Jackie Chambers, 8, and Fred Fisher, all of Lakemont; Walter Dedea, of Garden Heights; James Alexander, of Juniata, and three unidentified youths.

When the group was found late yesterday, a small boy was lying in its midst, unhurt. He said he thought the others threw themselves on the grass to escape the storm, so he did likewise.

13 POLICEMEN ARRESTED FOR '3D DEGREE'

Four Warrants Charge Murder in Death Of Suspect

MINELO, N. Y., July 20.—(AP.)—Warrants were issued for 13 county policemen today in connection with the death of Hyman Stark, a prisoner, after lengthy police "questioning." Four of the warrants charged second degree murder.

CONSPIRACY CHARGED

All 13 policemen were charged with conspiracy to obstruct justice and seven of them were charged with second degree assault. Deputy Police Chief Frank Tappen was named in two warrants, one for neglect of duty and again as having been an accessory to the third degree beating of Stark, which caused his death.

All 13 were arrested in the courtroom where a John Doe hearing into the slaying was in progress. They were turned over to the sheriff, who was instructed to treat them just like any other prisoners.

The men charged with second degree assault are Detectives Patrick Stanley, Marcel Chagnon, George Hutchison, Thomas Bonanza, and Joseph Hyzenski and Patrolmen Lanis Ray and Harry Liljergen. Patrolman Harold Brietenbeck was charged only with conspiracy.

Detective Hyzenski is the son of Mrs. Valeria Hyzenski who was attacked by four robbers who entered her home and beat her unconscious when they found only $4. Stark and three others were arrested last Friday and Stark died of a fractured larynx late that night.

GRAND JURY TO MEET

The grand jury will meet tomorrow and Justice Steinbrink suggested to District Attorney Elvin Edwards it consider perjury indictments as well as indictments for murder, assault, conspiracy and neglect of duty. As soon as his subordinates were arrested, Abram Skidmore, chief or Nassau County police, announced a police trial would be started Monday looking toward their possible removal from the force.

The John Doe hearing opened Monday and two men were placed on the stand today before Justice Steinbrink issued the warrants. The first was Detective Chagnon, who testified that he had beaten other prisoners "for good legal reasons," but that he had taken no part in the beating of Stark.

Then Martin W. Littleton, Jr., assistant district attorney, took the stand merely to sign a waiver of immunity covering the testimony he gave Monday. It was understood this action was taken because of police testimony that Littleton had been told Stark was "sick" on Friday afternoon, at which time Littleton had testified he knew nothing about Stark's condition.

Brooklyn Police Face 'Third Degree' Charge

NEW YORK, July 20.—(INS.)—District Attorney William F. Geoghan, of Brooklyn, announced today that he will investigate a charge that Sigmund A. Gallant, an auction store owner, died June 30 as a result of police brutality.

The investigation to be started tomorrow is the result of a charge by Louis Zimmerman, an attorney representing Gallant's widow, Anna, that the man died as result of being throttled by one of four patrolmen who raided Gallant's store while he was playing pinochle there with three other men.

Duquesne Workman Dies in Earth Slide

Semaphone System Helps Road Police

GREENSBURG, Pa., July 20.—A new semaphone signal system, whereby members of the state highway patrol can flash signals to passing patrolmen, has proved successful in this district after a month's trial. The signals have aided in apprehension of traffic violators.

Widow of Copper King, Mrs. Daly, Weds

Among the guests were the Grand Duchess Cyril of Russia, who signed the register.

NEW YORK, July 20.—(AP.)—The George Djamgaroff who was married in London today to Mrs. Marcus Daly was an important witness two years ago before the Congressional committee investigating Communistic activities here.

He identified Feodor Ziavkin, general manager for Amtorg, the Soviet trading agency here, as a former member of the Ogpu, the Soviet secret police; testimony which Ziavkin flatly denied.

Djamgaroff, immaculately dressed and twisting in slender hands a gold headed cane, said he could not be mistaken because Ziavkin had once slapped him in the face and this fact had indelibly impressed Ziavkin's likeness on his memory.

Mrs. Daly is the widow of the late copper magnate's son, who died in November, 1930, while on a hunting trip in Africa, leaving an estate worth $7,000,000. She has a young son, Marcus Daly III, who accompanied her on her trip to Europe. A native of Vienna, she is a sister-in-law of Mrs. James W. Gerard, wife of the former ambassador.

Loretta Turnbull, Queen Of Boat Racers, to Wed

LOS ANGELES, July 20.—(INS.)—The engagement of Loretta Turnbull, world champion outboard motorboat queen, to Richard Blythe, young New Yorker, was announced yesterday by her father, Rupert B. Turnbull.

Miss Turnbull has been warming up her speedboat for the Olympic tryouts at Balboa Saturday and hopes to represent the United States in the final events.

The young couple met in New York on the occasion of Miss Turnbull's first trip to Italy, where she represented the United States in outboard motorboat contests and won her championship.

INVENT AUTO SAFETY WHEEL

Seventy-five miles an hour on a flat tire is no more dangerous than speeding along the smoothest of boulevards with good tires and brakes, according to P. E. and C. O. Fisher, brother inventors of an auxiliary wheel for automobiles.

The auxiliary wheel, resembling a solid-tired flange on the revolving brake drum of the ordinary automobile, is designed to take the weight of the car instead of allowing the machine to drop down to the rim of the tire. Its purpose is two-fold:

1—To reduce tire blowout hazard.

2—Elimination of the ever necessary jack.

Instead of using a jack to raise the wheel for the purpose of changing tires, the motorist may run the auxiliary wheel onto a block of wood, or anything to raise the tire surface from the road and thus make his repairs.

The auxiliary wheel is not on the market, but the Fisher Brothers who have applied for a patent, say they hope to interest some manufacturer in the project. The Fisher Brothers are engaged in the manufacturing business at 511 Reedsdale street, North Side.

Policeman's Son Bitten on Lip by Dog

James Stackline, 4, son of Joseph Stackline, North Side policeman, was bitten on the lower lip by a dog while at play in the yard of his home at 1721 Harpster street. The child's injury was treated at Allegheny General Hospital, and the owner of the dog, John Straka, of 1711 Harpster, ordered to keep it tied up 10 days.

MOLLISON TO WED AMY JOHNSON BEFORE SEA FLIGHT

Silent on Whether Bride Will Go On Round-trip Hop

LONDON, July 20.—J. A. Mollison, Australian aviator, who plans to start a round-trip flight to New York, August 7, said today he would be married a week before he starts to Amy Johnson, British woman flier.

Mollison has made several flights between England and Australia. Miss Johnson's greatest claim to fame is her solo flight to Australia in 1930.

Mollison declined to reveal whether his wife would accompany him on his trans-Atlantic flight.

Miss Johnson has said she would not allow him to make the trip alone because of its dangers, but Mollison declared he would not allow her to accompany him, also pointing to the danger.

Mollison plans to start from Port Marnock, Ireland, and fly to Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, refuel there and go to New York. Returning, he plans a non-stop flight from New York to Croydon airdrome, near London.

ROAMING BOYS CAUGHT AGAIN

Eugene Hilliard, 14, and his brother Charles, 12, were back in their home at 2112 Edgebrook avenue, Brookline, today after two successful attempts to seek adventures far from home.

Disappearing while at play Sunday, the boys had traveled as far as East Liberty when East End police picked them up, early Monday.

While being returned to their home Monday afternoon in custody of their sister, Grace, they disappeared again—this time in the downtown section.

FIGHT 20-CENT BUS LINE

A proposed new 20-cent-fare bus line from Brentwood to Ferry street, downtown, was protested today by the Pittsburgh Railways Company before a Public Service Commission hearing.

Application for a permit to operate the line was made by the Brentwood Motor Coach Company, headed by D. L. Sike.

Sike testified before Examiner William E. Best he intended to charge a 20-cent cash fare and a 15-cent token fare, and maintain a 20-minute schedule with four buses, from 6:30 a. m. to midnight.

The proposed route would run from Brentwood along Sawmill Run boulevard, McNeilly road, Pioneer avenue, West Liberty avenue and through the tubes.

O.G. proves its case

CLUB WOMEN INTERESTED IN CIGARETTE PURITY WITNESS OLD GOLD SCIENTIFIC VICTORY

Mrs. Oliver C. Harriman, Mrs. Julian Gerard, and Mrs. William Thaw III, keen spectators of the Calorimeter test showing the greater coolness of OLD GOLD, in comparison with 3 other leading brands.

PROOF! . . . that's what you want in a cigarette advertisement. You can't smoke claims. You're entitled to evidence.

But do you get it . . . when an ad simply says: "My cigarette is better?"

OLD GOLD doesn't expect to win you by unsupported adjectives alone. But it does ask you to consider the findings of a great testing laboratory . . . as checked by scientists of two leading universities . . . then draw your own conclusions!

These laboratories made a "cool" test of 4 leading cigarette brands . . . an accurate, impartial scientific test. They repeated it 75 times. And consistently, the smoke of an OLD GOLD was shown to be the coolest, and hence the throat-easiest.

Coolness is the clue to quality in a cigarette. Only the finest, smoothest, purest tobacco burns "cool." Only PURE tobacco burns cool. In establishing itself as the coolest smoke, OLD GOLD proves itself the cigarette of purest and choicest tobacco quality; utterly free of hot-burning artificial flavorings.

NOT A COUGH IN A CARLOAD

The Verdict of Science

This is to certify that in 75 repeated cool tests made of the 4 leading cigarette brands . . . measuring the heat content of each cigarette in B.T.Us. with the Oxygen Bomb Calorimeter, it was shown that:

Old Gold averages 112 B.T.Us. Cooler than Brand X
Old Gold averages 155 B.T.Us. Cooler than Brand Y
Old Gold averages 156 B.T.Us. Cooler than Brand Z

(Signed) NEW YORK TESTING LABORATORIES
G. Brinton Jack, Jr., Director

NOTE: These tests were checked and verified by the scientists of two leading universities. Their signed reports will be sent on application to P. Lorillard Company, Inc., 119 West 40th Street, New York City.

U. S. OFFENDERS PAY $82,032

Out of $171,612.69 imposed as fines, forfeitures and other penalties in criminal cases in the United States Court for Western Pennsylvania during the fiscal year ended June 30, dry law violators were called upon to pay $148,239.62, in addition to jail and penitentiary terms and probation periods.

The imposition of the aggregate fines was recorded in the annual report of United States Attorney Louis E. Graham. Of the total fines only $82,032.79 was realized, for in many cases defendants went to jail in default and in some the court allowed extended periods for payment.

During the fiscal year 1,376 criminal cases were instituted, involving approximately 1,600 persons, and 1,308 cases terminated, among the latter being 1,071 actions brought under the dry law. In 1,246 cases convictions were obtained, 1,184 by pleas of guilty and 66 cases by jury trials.

In civil litigations involving the government there were judgments in favor of the United States aggregating $26,804.94, on which $7,913.50 have been realized.

GARAGE VICTIM OF BOGUS ADS

East End police today were seeking a joker responsible for appearance of advertisements that resulted in a series of worries for customers and the management of the Nuskay Service Garage, 6117-9 Broad street.

Manager Jack Nuskay first learned of the brewing confusion when confronted with aspiring managers in response to one advertisement. Mechanics and helpers, carrying tools, formed another group of applicants. But the special offer of free official inspection with each purchase of seven gallons of gasoline caused disappointment for motorists from various parts of the city.

The fake advertisements, placed through telephone calls charging the accounts to the garage, did not appear in the Sun-Telegraph due to its system of verifying all orders before publication.

In Mayfair
—With—
Patricia Pitt

Many of the smart set are reading travel literature of all sorts, but things are still so pleasant in town that they are postponing the making of definite plans.

Among these is charming Mrs. Carl H. Borntraeger, who says:

"Never have I known so many people to stay in town in July. The other day when I was out at Fox Chapel at luncheon I was amazed to see so many folks, ranging from boys and girls at school to the older set, like Mrs. Richard Beatty Mellon.

"And nobody seems to mind staying home; some are here because they think they should stay, and others because they just happen to want to. There's something to do every night, small dinner parties and such things."

Her daughter, Rita, is expected home the latter part of the week from the southern place of Mrs. George R. B. Berger, Sr., 15 miles out of Washington.

* * *

Betty McKay and Harriet Fickes, who've been on the same house party, are home, and will leave the latter part of the week for Beaumaris, Muskoka Lake, where Betty's father and mother, the Thomas J. McKays, already have gone for the summer.

To Visit Canada

Others at Beaumaris, Muskoka Lakes, literally an island colony with each summer place having an island of its own, are the Albert McKays, Mrs. John Mc. Wilson, of Oil City; the John G. Frazers, the junior George R. B. Bergers, the John Wilsons and the junior J. H. Hillmans.

The George Pearson Rhodeses, who are at their Beaumaris home, have as their guests the William Baird Salsburys. The Joseph W. Marshes have joined the Beaumaris colony, too, as have Dr. and Mrs. Paul Titus.

* * *

Mrs. Alan Humphreys and her children left yesterday for the Maryland summer place of Mrs. George R. B. Berger, Sr.

* * *

Mrs. John M. Milliken, of the Schenley apartments, plans to leave this week by motor for Atlantic City to spend some time with friends at The Traymore.

* * *

Benjamin Thaw will sail this week-end for England.

The C. Bernard Sheas are among those Olympic Games bound. They left for California yesterday. Others who will attend the games include Paul N. Critchlow, Jr., of Sewickley, and Blair Rainey, David Rainey and Edward Martin, all of Beaver. They are motoring.

Mayfair Travelers

Leaving yesterday morning by motor for Bass Rocks, Mass., were Mrs. Howell C. Cooper, Mrs. Chester M. Van Kleeck, Mrs. Daniel E. Nevin and Miss Margaret Adair, who will visit Mrs. James L. Stuart at her summer place.

Mrs. John Joy Edson, Jr., who has been at Gloucester, Mass., will join the Stuart house party later.

Woman, Man Fall Dead, Heart Victims

Mrs. Julia Aggeis, 56, of 2606 Cleveland street, McKeesport, collapsed last night after leaving McKeesport Hospital, where she visited a patient. Carried into the hospital, she was pronounced dead of heart disease.

En route to a physician's office, Ignacy Premas, 48, of 2830 Mulberry way, fell dead at Penn avenue and Thirty-fifth street. Dr. G. W. Dippel, 3515 Penn avenue, attributed death to a heart attack.

Dean Will Address Life Underwriters

Dr. S. S. Huebner, dean of the American College of Life Underwriters, will be honor guest and principal speaker at a dinner given by the Pittsburgh chapter in the Harvard-Yale-Princeton Club tonight. Frank Wiggenton is president of the chapter.

Husband, Children Inherit $15,000

Carrie Broad Challinor, 702 South Linden avenue, by her will probated yesterday, left her $15,000 estate to her husband, James Fawcett Challinor, named executor, for life, and then to two children, James Oliver Challinor and Lily C. Challinor.

MRS. GEORGE J. WALKER . . . BEING SERVED AT PITTSBURGH COUNTRY CLUB'S GUEST DAY

Summer Offers Opportunity For Juniors to Stage Informal parties

The Junior women's clubs have always stressed the social side a little more than the organizations of mature women, and with summer with its opportunity for informal entertaining here, it is not surprising that juniors are planning all sorts of parties.

The Junior Women's Club of West Newton has decided to add to its program a dance, to be held at the Monongahela Country Club Friday evening.

Miss Margaret Pore is chairman, assisted by Miss Maria Markle, Miss Mary Patton, Miss Helen Robinson, Miss Mildred Pool, Miss Virginia Hodgson and Miss Mildred Hill with Mrs. J. W. Carothers, the juniors' advisor.

* * *

The State Federation of Pennsylvania Women will present John M. Phillips, who will talk on the back-to-the-farm movement over KDKA tomorrow afternoon at 3:45, the federation's radio period.

* * *

Friends of the Congress of Clubs when shopping in town this summer will now have a new restful place to lunch or to dine. The board of directors has decided to open the dining room of the clubhouse, Penn avenue, from now until September 15, when departmental meetings will be resumed, to non-members.

For a family or a party, tables may be reserved with Mrs. M. C. Reno, the hospitable club manager. At night, by the way, an eat-all-you-can dinner will be featured, designed to appeal to the men.

* * *

Mrs. E. J. Gibson, of Allegheny County, was elected president of the regional conference of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, held recently in Ridgeview Park. Mrs. A. B. Dilliner, of Fayette County, was elected vice president; Mrs. F. B. Watkins, of Westmoreland County, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Emma Porter, of Washington County, corresponding secretary, and Miss M. A. St. Clair, of Indiana County, treasurer.

New Castle Girl, Pittsburgher Married

The wedding of Miss Dorothy Fisher, of New Castle, and Morris Parker, of Pittsburgh, took place Sunday in the Hotel Schenley with Rabbi Morton Goldberg, of Fall River, Mass., officiating.

Miss Dena Cohen, of Cleveland, was her cousin's bridesmaid, and Dr. Robert Guarer was the best man. Giving the bride in marriage was her uncle, Michael Fisher. Myer Parker, Daniel Fisher and Hyman Parker were ushers.

A dinner followed the wedding, and later the bride and bridegroom left for Atlantic City. The bride is a graduate of the Carnegie Institute of Technology; the bridegroom of the University of Pittsburgh and the Beaux Arts, Paris.

UNIQUE PAJAMA OUTFIT CUT ON NEW EVENING DRESS LINE

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, July 20. — It takes an expert to tell an evening dress from a pair of pajamas these days. Clothes made for sunshine and those meant to shine under night lights are pretty much alike. Further than that, when it comes to elaboration, the clothes that appear on the sands of the South are likely to be more fanciful than those that are seen on dance floors; heavy silks are being worn at Cannes, while all Paris dances in pique.

* * *

TAKE CHANTAL'S new pajama outfit, for example. It is cut very much on the lines of an evening dress; it follows the correct belt-less silhouette, with an exceptionally high waistline, and it keeps smooth hips and back by means of careful molded lines and bias cutting. In the bright dark blue that is a Paris favorite right now, it would serve—if cut with a skirt instead of trousers—as a perfect evening frock for either town or summer resort.

* * *

THE LITTLE jacket does actually serve for both uses. It is made of a heavy coarse linen, patterned in magenta flowers, and may be worn with either pajamas or evening dress. Its full sleeves are cut on Chantal's new bellows lines, so that they may be worn full and puffed without the use of elastic bands at the elbows.

* * *

LITTLE WASHABLE jackets like this one are prominent fashions this year, both in Paris and in the South. They are worn for both daytime and evening, with most casual of sports frocks and the most elaborate evening dresses. Pique jackets with silk dance frocks are not unusual combinations; sometimes the jackets are fastened at the front with detachable buttons—tailored buttons to be used by day and jeweled buttons by night.

AVIATRIX TO AID LANCASTER

MIAMI, Fla., July 20.—(INS.)—Sixteen witnesses have been summoned to the defense of Capt. William N. Lancaster, former British war pilot, held in the Duval County Jail on a charge of murder in the fatal shooting of Haden Clarke, 26, writer.

Lancaster will go on trial here July 26.

Mrs. Jessie M. Keith-Miller, noted Australian aviatrix and Lancaster's flying associate for several years, led the list.

The aviatrix was engaged to marry Clarke when he was found fatally shot in the room of her residence here which he shared with Lancaster the night of April 20.

Other witnesses summoned by the defense include Rex Gilmartin, commander of the American Legion Aviation Post, New York City; Fred W. Flake, Long Branch, N. J.; Harry Young, New York City; Dick Lavender, New Orleans; Bing Boyer, George Harrington and Marshall Dacey, all of New York. The other witnesses reside here.

MRS. MOONEY TO SPEAK HERE

Carrying the fight for her son's freedom into the Pittsburgh district, Mrs. Mary (Mother) Mooney, 84-year-old mother of Tom Mooney, who is serving a life term in San Quentin Prison for the Preparedness Day explosion, will arrive at the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Station tonight at 11:20 o'clock.

Mrs. Mooney will address a mass meeting in the Academy Theater Friday at 8 p. m., describing her son's futile efforts to regain his liberty, and the case of the nine Scottsboro (Ala.), Negroes whose executions have been held up pending a hearing before the United States Supreme Court October 10.

Richard B. Moore, Negro labor leader of New York, also will address the meeting. The tour, which has included 41 cities, is sponsored by the International Labor Defense.

Former Reporter Wins World Trip

W. D. Stockley, Jr., formerly of Pittsburgh and at one time a reporter for the Gazette Times, has won a free trip to Europe following a competitive examination at the University of Arizona where he completed his college work, according to word received by friends here today.

Before going to Arizona, Stockley studied at Princeton University for three years. Stockley was among the three tudents with the highest standing in a nation-wide contest.

Auto Chief to Honor Orville Wright

DETROIT, Mich., July 20.—Orville Wright, pioneer inventor of the airplane, will be presented with the first of the new Essex automobiles which will be christened by Amelia Earhart at the factory here tomorrow. Announcement of the presentation was made by William J. McAneeny, president of Hudson Motor Car Company.

Bolivar Student Wins Scholarship

Curtis F. Shomo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shomo, of Robinson, Pa., student of the Bolivar High School, has been awarded the $400 state competition scholarship in Indiana County, according to word received by his parents today. Shomo has arranged to attend the Indiana State Teachers' College.

N. Braddock Firemen Plan Street Fair

North Braddock firemen will hold their annual street fair tomorrow, Friday and Saturday, in Wolfe avenue, with water battles, band concerts and a parade of 40 visiting companies.

Tomorrow night will be marked by a water battle between the women of Hose Company No. 1 auxiliary and a team of visiting women. The firemen of the borough will fight their battle Friday evening, and on Saturday the parade will be held. Concerts will be held each evening.

Symphonic Group Makes Bow In New WCAE Series; Appeal to Veterans

The New York Orchestra, a symphonic group of 90 musicians organized last January, presents the first of a series of summer programs featuring the lighter works as well as many of the old favorites of well-known composers over an NBC network including WCAE tonight at 8:30.

The program, presented under the direction of Modest Altschuler, originates in the Washington Heights High School Stadium. Subsequent broadcasts by the organization will be heard Thursday, August 4, and weekly thereafter through August 18. Altschuler, a native of Russia, was the founder and for 24 years conductor of the Russian Symphony Orchestra in this country, and introduced many notable musicians, including Sergei Rachmaninoff, pianist, and Mischa Elman, violinist, in New York.

Mr. Deller

An open air broadcast under the auspices of the American Legion, held in the Spanish Garden at Webster Hall tonight, is scheduled on WWSW from 10 to 10:30 o'clock. John J. Deller, county commander of the Legion, is the principal speaker. The musical portion of the program is presented by the McKeesport Bugle and Drum Corps of 60 pieces, and William R. Hartman, soloist.

Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer, chairman of the Board of Commissioners of the District of Columbia, appeals tonight to war veterans in the Pittsburgh area to refrain from joining the "bonus army" now encamped in Washington. Mr. Reichelderfer speaks from Washington and by special arrangements is heard over WCAE at 6:55.

Program Pointers

With a burst of fanfare and the cheers of carnival time, Freddie Rich leads his orchestra and a large group of solo and ensemble vocalists in a Mardi Gras musical revue heard over a Columbia network including WJAS tonight from 7:15 to 7:45. During the broadcast, Julia Mahoney, soprano, and Evan Evans, baritone, are featured in the romantic duet, "Living In Dreams," and the Four Eton Boys offer a novelty number, "What Kind of a Noise Annoys an Oyster?"

Miss Mahoney

"Misuse of the Federal Tax Dollar" is the topic of an address by Representative Robert Low Bacon, of New York, during the American Taxpayers League program on KDKA at 8 p. m.

Gladys Rice's interpretation of Baker's "Strange Interlude" and a new orchestral arrangement of "Chansonette" by Nat Shilkret and his orchestra are highlights on WCAE at 9:30.

Miss Violet Symons, prominent member of the advertising fraternity, will be interviewed on "Fall Fashions" by Alice Abbott on the Market Place program on WCAE tomorrow morning at 9:30.

A new weekly series of programs starring talent recruited from local college ranks is inaugurated on WWSW at 7:15 tonight.

Polo Players With Seals On WCAE

Two of the foremost polo players of the Pittsburgh district come to the WCAE microphone to talk about their favorite sport during an interview with Harry Keck, sports editor of the Sun-Telegraph, tonight at 7 when the Trained Seals program goes on the air. The players, both members of the Pittsburgh Polo Club team, are Thomas King McCreery and David I. McCahill, Jr.

Comments on political activities throughout the state and nation by Mark Shields, political editor of the Sun-Telegraph, are broadcast from WCAE tonight at 6. In Mr. Shields' absence from the city his talk is read by one of his associates in the Sun-Telegraph editorial department.

Richard Koch, baritone, and the harmonizing Lawson Sisters are starred with an orchestra directed by Pete Weldy during the Sun-Telegraph Nite Club of the Air on WCAE tonight at 11.

An interesting half-hour for the youngsters is heard on WCAE today at 4:45 when the Sun-Telegraph Family program is broadcast.

News flashes by Louis L. Kaufman, Globe-Trotter of the Sun-Telegraph and Hearst Metrotone News, are broadcast by WCAE daily at 9:05 a. m., 12:15 p. m., 2:30 p. m. and 6:30 p. m.

DAY AFTER TOMORROW
Remnant Day
Where Else ... But
Boggs & Buhl

REMNANT DAY means one store and only one store to the people of this community—Boggs & Buhl. The first Remnant Day on record was held at this store over a half-century ago. It has grown in volume and interest yearly until today it is acknowleged the supreme sale event in this part of the country.

For weeks before the sale the entire store is gone over from basement to roof. Wherever merchandise is found that should be cleared out—regardless of cause—age, odd lots, too large stock, etc.—it is put to one side and plainly marked with a RED INK price—a price that positively assures the sale of that item.

That explains why Remnant Day at Boggs & Buhl is famous—why it continues to draw thousands of people from miles around. They are never disappointed. They will not be this Friday. We promise you the most sensational values you have seen since before the war.

This is notice in advance—Friday is the big day. Let nothing you can put off keep you from coming to this extraordinary event. Be sure to read tomorrow's papers—they will carry items and prices that will amaze you.

Money, Without Love, Will Not Keep People Happy

Is money the whole show?

Mother Ainsley thinks it is, and she's all of a fret because her adored daughter refuses to share her enthusiasm for kopeks.

Daughter, on the contrary, is placing all her bets on love. What does it matter if her hero, Tom, hasn't a penny, and is only a youngster with a middling good job and no certain future?

"You'll ruin your life if you take that worthless boy," moans Mama.

But, on the other hand, there's Robert. Now there, according to Mrs. Ainsley, is the answer to a maiden's prayer. He's older. He has made his pile. He can give Rita "everything" if she marries him.

Yet, Rita stubbornly insists she loves Tom, and she can't see Robert at all.

MOTHER DISAPPROVES

Now go on with the story.

"My Dear Miss Martin:

"I feel foolish, asking someone else about my problem. I've always solved my own heretofore, but this time I seem up against something I can't do anything with, and I am nearly frantic, so I am asking your help.

"You see, it is my daughter. She is just 20, and, like most youngsters, she is full of fanciful ideas of 'romance.' Just now she has me worried almost to distraction. I don't know what to do. I have talked and talked to her, and she won't listen.

"She is determined to marry a poor boy, when she might have a man with money, who could give her everything. She is beautiful, and her father and I have given her a good education. We have even sacrificed to send her to college and to give her good clothes and every advantage we could. We have had great hopes for her, and now she is ready to throw all that overboard.

"She has always been popular, and some time ago Robert, as I will call him, began to pay her serious attentions. He is 32, comes of a fine family and has a good business, besides an independent fortune. He takes her out in his expensive car to the very best places in town, and he is madly in love with her.

PREFERS OTHER MAN

"Then there is Tom, whom she met in college. He is handsome, and I will admit he is a fine chap, but he is only 25. He only earns a fair salary, and I know he has very little saved. His people are honest, but obscure, and they have no money whatever, outside of owning their own small home.

"When he takes Rita out, they go on a street car, or in his battered flivver, to a movie or some other cheap place; but my silly girl seems to have a better time doing that than she does going to fine places with the more desirable man.

"I have tried to tell her that money is important, and that love in a two-by-four apartment or a cottage won't last. I've tried to make her understand that when she no longer has the nice things we have given her she won't be happy, but she won't listen. I can't bear to see her making this terrible mistake. She would be so much happier with Robert! But how can I make her have common sense enough to see it? What can I do?

"MRS. B. AINSLEY."

What can you do? Keep hands off, my dear, and let your daughter run her own life!

Yes, I know that sounds hard, and you won't want to do it; but it's the only right and just thing for you to do. Your little girl is a woman now, and you can't live her life for her. You have no right to try.

DAUGHTER WISER

"But she'll be so much happier with money!" you cry.

How do you know? Money may be the most important thing on earth to you, but how do you know it will be to her? Money does have it's place, yes, to keep a roof over our heads—but it won't keep a song in our hearts.

Your little girl wants her song—and wants her adventure. And in that she is infinitely wiser than you are, lady. And as for love not lasting, if you have really trained her to be a fine woman, as you think you have, then she'll have sufficient courage and loyalty to stand by her man, even if the way is hard.

Aren't you bringing a terrible indictment against yourself, when you say that she won't be happy unless she can have the things that money can buy? Hasn't she backbone and intelligence enough to buck the real test of life? Or is she just a pretty, painted doll, to be kept in a glass case?

Personally, I think you're under-rating Rita. And here's one friend who is betting on "love in a cottage."

Don't Take First Loves Too Seriously, Counsels Fay King

By FAY KING

There are millions of happily married couples in the world, and comparatively few of them are marriages of first love.

Of the happy couples I personally know of, only two were first sweethearts. In both cases they met in small home towns, married and went out into the world together.

That is why poor unhappy young persons who kill themselves over a first love affair get little sympathy.

The majority of married persons are glad they did not marry their first love because they later met the ones they love much more.

Live! You will love again and laugh over that old first love.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Guard Children and the Aged From Sunstroke

During the summer months when the sun is hot and there is great humidity, persons are frequently overcome by the heat. In a large city the ambulance physicians daily treat many cases of sunstroke.

Dr. Copeland

Disturbance in the heat-regulation of the body is the cause of sunstroke. It is most common in elderly people, but may occur in anyone excessively exposed to sun and heat. The afflicted person becomes pale, has difficulty of vision, feels weak and nauseated and collapses. The skin becomes clammy and wet and the pulse rapid and the pupils of the eyes become dilated.

After recovery from the attack the victim of heat stroke is sensitive to high temperature and must be careful to guard against exposure.

There is a more severe form of sunstroke which may prove fatal. In this form the individual quickly becomes unconscious and the skin, instead of being clammy, is dry and hot, while the temperature of the body is unusually high. Muscular twitchings and rolling of the head may cause the condition to be mistaken for epilepsy.

Sunstroke requires the attention of a physician. Until he arrives, keep the patient in a cool room. His clothing should be opened and he should be encouraged to drink water. If the body temperature is high, he should be placed in water kept cool by means of ice until the temperature of the body falls to 102 degrees Fahrenheit. While he is in the tub, massage the skin vigorously. This will stimulate the circulation and cool the overheated blood.

Such an attack may prove to be serious, and prevention is far easier to accomplish than a cure. During hot weather, as a preventative, bathe often and rest as much as possible. Elderly persons and children should be warned against exposure to extreme heat and the direct rays of the sun. Strenuous work should be avoided on hot days.

If you have a headache after being in the sun, stop your work, lie down in a cool place, loosen your clothing and apply cold water to your face and hands. Do not resume work until headache and other disturbances have disappeared.

Summer time demands care for those at the extremes of life. Vacations should be started with gradual exposure to the sun. To rush to the tennis courts or anywhere else in the open is a mistake. Even the beach is dangerous if its joys are overused the first day or two.

Cold drinks in excess and overeating are unwise in hot weather. Temperance in all things should be the rule.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Wedding Gift.

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. I am a private secretary and my employer is to be married soon. I know all his plans and also the bride-to-be's plans. Should I give the bride a wedding gift? Would a glassware dinner set be appropriate, and if not, please suggest something.

2. I would like to send a card of congratulations. Is it proper to send it to both, or send it after they are married and address it to Mr. and Mrs.?

DAILY READER.

1. As a general suggestion I should say that it would not be especially appropriate for you to send a wedding gift. But so many things would enter into such a decision, that it is not easy for a person not thoroughly familiar with them, to say definitely about this.

Perhaps you might base your decision on whether you receive an invitation to the wedding. If you do, you probably will want to send a present.

But the present you suggest I think is, under any circumstances similar to yours, not appropriate. It is too consequential, too important. I suggest, instead, a crystal case, or a set of china glass salad or dessert plates, or a tea set of cloth and napkins, monogrammed if you wish, or a photograph frame, leather or silver or crystal.

2. Cards of congratulation for such occasion are not appropriate.

Contract Bridge -:- HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

The Sins of Howell Scoring.

A writer of another age once lamented the sins made in the name of charity. In these days of duplicate Bridge, students of the game of Contract find frequent occasion to lament the offences against logic committed by players in chasing to its lair the illusive Slam. Match point scoring at Duplicate Bridge has to a certain extent introduced a new element into the game for those who follow it closely. In some cases the object is not to find the best final contract in the combined hands, but an unsafe contract, which, if completed, will realize that dream, "top on the board."

An interesting illustration of unsound bidding, which gave an opportunity for sparkling play, occurred in a recent Duplicate match at the Boston Whist Club in Boston. The hand was:

North—Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

	♠ Q J ♡ Q J 10 ◇ A K Q 10 6 5 ♣ A 4
♠ 9 7 6 4 2 ♡ 9 8 7 5 3 ◇ — ♣ 10 7 3	North West East South	♠ 8 5 ♡ 4 ◇ J 9 8 3 2 ♣ K J 9 8 2
	♠ A K 10 3 ♡ A K 6 2 ◇ 7 4 ♣ Q 6 3

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
		1 ◇	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	3 ◇	Pass
4 N T	Pass	6 ◇	Pass
6 N T	Pass	7 ◇	Pass
7 N T	Pass	Pass	Pass

At the table where this bidding occurred, Mr. Lombard Williams, vice president of the Whist Club, held the South hand.

I shall not comment on the bidding further than to restate the opening paragraph. The safe limit of this hand would appear to be a Small Slam contract for diamonds, but that would be merely an average result. As the cards lie, a Grand Slam, of course, cannot be made with diamonds as trump, but no Grand Slam should be bid depending upon a finesse or a squeeze, and no good player would take that risk at Rubber Bridge.

West's Opening lead against the Grand Slam contract was a heart, which was won with the Ten in Dummy, and Mr. Williams, if he found the diamonds adversely held divided 3-2 or even 4-1, provided West held four, thought he could count 13 tricks laid down—four spades, four hearts, four diamonds and one club.

Wishing to test the diamond situation at once, he led the diamond Ace, upon which West discarded a spade, and the unfavorable situation was then revealed. South now knew that if West held the King of Clubs, the contract could not possibly be made unless the remote contingency that it was a singleton in the West hand. If East, however, marked with the diamond stopper, also held the club King, the Grand Slam contract could be made by developing a squeeze.

To the third and fourth tricks, two rounds of hearts were played, followed by a trick won with th. Knave of spades in Dummy. In order to create the squeeze situation, if East held the club King, Mr. Williams now led the Ace of clubs, establishing the club King in the East hand. This play is known as the Vienna Coup, a very beautiful example of the squeeze. Two more rounds of spades were then taken; next the Ace of hearts was cashed, followed by the 10 of spades, and East found himself unable to further defend the hand. He had already been forced to part with one diamond, and all of his clubs except the King. To discard a diamond would be to establish all the remaining diamonds in Dummy. The discard of the club was equally futile, as thereby South's Queen was established as a trick-taker. Perhaps it is sufficient justification for occasional overbidding to afford an opportunity for flawless play.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Mrs. Culbertson will be glad to answer any specific question on bidding or play sent in by readers. Address her in care of this newspaper, inclosing a three-cent stamped self-addressed envelope.

TODAY'S QUESTION:

Please give the correct Opening bid on the following hand:

♠ A K 5 3 ♡ K Q J 10 9 8 4 ◇ K ♣ K

Answer: Three hearts. The hand contains 8½ to 9 playing-tricks, including 3½ to 4 honor-tricks.

Household Hints

Warm a knife board before using it, and the knives will polish more easily.

The marks left by hot plates and dishes on a dining table, or other polished wood surfaces, can be removed by applying spirit of camphor with a soft cloth. Rub lightly and then when the stain disappears, polish with a soft duster.

Lemon juice well rubbed into the bread board will absorb all grease and dirt and whiten the wood beautifully.

If you wish to cool a beverage quickly, take a vessel of cold water and squeeze the blue-bag into it until it becomes a dark blue color. Then add a handful of salt, and in this place your jug of lemonade, milk or jelly.

Mary Explains Her "Nefarious Scheme"

"Mary! You didn't!" I exclaimed banally, as she told me of the ruse she had played upon Charles Owen, so that she would be able to chaperone Marion upon their horseback excursions. "What did he say?"

"Swallowed it, hook, line and sinker," she answered, with pardonable exultation in her voice. "I think when I first talked to him he had the idea that I was trying to vamp him for himself, and you could just see him trying to figure out what I had in the back of my mind.

"He's a mighty cagey old fox, and I suppose so many vamps, baby and grown-up, have tried to play him for a sucker, that he's never off his guard. But when he once got it through his dome that I was asking his advice concerning Marion and Ronald, how 'the waters came down at Lodore.' I never heard such a flow of conversation in my whole life."

"The tenor of which was, I suppose," I said smiling, "that Ronald and Marion were totally unsuited to each other, and that he too had been worrying over the problem."

Mary stared at me.

"I was going to say, 'How did you know?'" she said at last, "but I suppose you've seen lads like him before."

"A few," I said. "How long did he take to get to the point of confiding to you his hopes for Marion?"

"Oh, he was most artistic," she said. "Didn't broach it at all the first conversation—was just intense and soulful. It was the next day that he began to talk about my sympathy and insight being so beautiful that he felt an irresistible desire to confide in me his feeling for Marion, which he said had become too strong for him. I had all I could do to keep from heaving a brick at him."

"From your statement of a few minutes ago that Mr. Owen counts you his best friend in his scheme for winning Marion, I judge that you didn't heave the brick," I said, as I smiled at her, while she twisted her lips into a wry grimace.

"No! Instead I worked my beautiful sympathy and insight for all they were worth. I told him that I had known Marion since early childhood, and that I was sure she was the type of girl who needed the loving guidance of an older man as a husband, instead of the irresponsible affection of a mere boy like Ronald."

"At this juncture," I interposed, "your uncle would exclaim 'You incorrigible little devil!'"

"I feel like eight of them," Mary acknowledged. "But what are you going to do when somebody throws a plum pudding like that into your lap? Of course he thinks he is putting something over by enlisting me in his cause. I wouldn't be afraid to bet a hundred that he believes he could cop me out later if he put his mind on it; but in the meantime he's planning to cash in on my sympathy and help.

"And long may he think so! Me? I'm going to be a double for little Casabianca as far as staying on the burning deck till Uncle Charlie calls me off is concerned. I'm his little side kick and pal. I wish you'd tell Aunt Lillian that mine is the nefarious scheme to appear to be vamping Uncle Charlie so as to blind her to the fact that he's been showering attentions on Marion. I proposed that little stunt to him myself, and did he lap it up?"

"How far would you go to bring Marion back to her senses?" I asked quietly.

COYNE'S STAND ON TAX HIT

The Civic Club of Allegheny County today voiced its objection of the stand State Senator James J. Coyne in opposing legislation to abolish the delinquent tax collector's office. A letter expressing its attitude was sent him by H. Marie Dermitt, secretary.

The club's attitude on several other bills pending in Harrisburg also was announced. Among those favored are:

House Bill 3, to provide payment of taxes and water rents in monthly installments; House Bill 52, to appropriate $30,000,000 from the motor license fund to state welfare and state aid, and Senate Bill 56, ratification of the "Lame Duck" amendment as passed in the Seventy-second Congress.

BEER TANK NOW GUSHES WATER

A large tank, formerly used to hold 3,500 gallons of beer, is now being utilized at the Volunteers of America Health Camp, Wildwood, to furnish the water supply for the outdoor wading pool and showers constructed this year.

Since the opening of the camp, July 4, 235 undernourished children have been cared for. So many more children are to be cared for that additional cottages are being erected. Besides the pool and showers, the camp is provided with a playground, dining pavillion and a sanitary kitchen.

Goodwill Children To Present Play

Children of the primary department of the Pittsburgh Goodwill Industries will present their first mid-summer play in the Industries' community house tomorrow night. They were coached by Lura A. FIRM EMPLOYED FOR SCHOOL INSPECTION

The Board of Public Education was on record today as favoring an "outside" inspection of the 162 buildings of Pittsburgh's educational system, as a safety measure, following clashes between members as to whether the inspection should be made by an outside firm or by the board's buildings department.

After the discussion, started by Philip Murray, it was decided by a vote of eight to five that the inspection should be made by C. L. Woolridge, Inc., at a cost of $60 a building.

URGE ENGINEER JOB

Murray and other members contended that rather than to spend approximately $10,000 for the inspection, a safety engineer should be hired at an annual salary of $3,000.

Voting that the Woolridge Company be given the job were Taylor Allderdice, Mrs. Mary Cowley, N. R. Criss, Thomas E. Criss Charles R. Fisher, Dr. G. W. Gerwig, Alexander P. Reed and Marcus Aaron. Opposed were Mrs. F. B Chalfant, Frank R. Freese, Dr. A. L. Lewin, Murray and Mrs. John M. Phillips.

A second motion, that at the completion of the Woolridge survey regular inspections be made by the buildings department, was adopted unanimously.

3 SCHOOLS TO CLOSE

Action on the closing of Bon Air and Beck's Run schools was postponed for a year at the request of committees representing the two districts. Brown's Ralston and McKee schools will be closed effective September 1, as part of the board's economy program.

It was announced the Frick Foundation has donated an additional $20,000 to feed needy children at the schools during the summer.

LARGE PAVING JOBS AWARDED

Eight repaving and miscellaneous contracts had been awarded today by City Public Works Director Edward G. Lang.

The largest was for the repaving of Borgs and Bailey avenues, from Wyoming street to M. O'Herron Company for $11,590.60, and repaving of the railways area of Fifth avenue, from Soho street to Craft avenue, to the Dominick Pavia Construction Company, for $20,433.

Other awards included: Grading, paving and curbing of Norton street, from Cowan street to Prospect street, to the Minsinger Company, $3,672.40; repaving of Carson street, west, from Steuben street, to Nardulli & Sons, Inc., for $6,354.30; work on Panther Hollow Bridge approaches, to M. O'Herron Company, for $3,625.50, and construction of fence on Panther Hollow Bridge, to Fort Pitt Malleable Iron Company, for $9,206.

$25,000 'Alky' Plant Raided; Three Held

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 20.—A $25,000 alcohol plant, where Sheriff Adam Stone says denatured alcohol had been filtered through charcoal and glycerine and sold as grain alcohol, was raided early today. Trade between Pittsburgh and Cleveland was supplied, the Sheriff said. Rocco Veon, Ellwood City, Pa., and Simon and Frank Tommar, New Middleton, were arrested.

U. S. Soldier Shot In Flight Dies

COLUMBUS, O., July 20.—(INS.)—Pvt. Leo J. McDonald, 32, who was shot Monday while trying to escape court-martial at a United States Army post, died of injuries here last night.

Tunney Finds Spellbinding 'Different'

COLUMBIA, Conn., July 20.—(AP.)—Gene Tunney has found the political ring vastly different from the ring in which he gained fame as the world's heavyweight boxing champion. He said yesterday in his maiden speech as a Democratic campaigner:

"In facing a man like Dempsey, I knew where the opposition was coming from, but in facing a crowd, you don't always know just where you stand."

Tibbett Travels Far To Keep Song Dates

NEW YORK, July 20.—(AP.)—Itinerant singers of ancient days didn't know the half of it. Lawrence Tibbett, American opera, concert and movie singer, could literally travel rings around them.

During the past year he traveled 19,450 miles to meet 183 engagements, journeying by rail, by air, by automobile and by boat.

Hay Fever Yields to Doctor's Discovery

Indianapolis—What is regarded as an amazing advance in medical science is the discovery of the actual cause of Hay Fever and Asthma by the well-known Dr. Fugate. He found the cause of these ailments originates from an unbalanced condition of the endocrine glands. After finding the cause he perfected an effective treatment that has already been used in thousands of cases, and the reports of immediate relief indicate that at last help for Hay Fever and Asthma has been found. An important booklet telling in detail about his discovery and treatment has been published by The Fugate Co., Dept. 8454, 126 S. Meridian St., Indianapolis, Ind., who offer to send it free. Those troubled with Hay Fever or Asthma should write at once.

ARMSTRONG'S WIDOW READY TO FACE PROBERS

POLITICS

—By MARK SHIELDS—

HARRISBURG, July 20.—The attitude of the regular Republican organization of Pennsylvania in its approach to relief for the unemployed needy in the state is as direct an example of altered policy or expediency as could be imagined There never has been a more patent case of political about face.

Mr. Shields

It will be recalled that months ago, when the Sun-Telegraph and other Hearst newspapers were urging that Federal relief be supplied to assist in the emergency, Senator David A. Reed, State Chairman Edward Martin and Frank R. Phillips of the Philadelphia Company and head of the Allegheny County emergency relief, suffered a wounded pride at the thought that Pennsylvania should seek help from Washington.

This rich commonwealth, they averred, could handle its own problems. They didn't want Mr. Hoover bothered by such plaints, and Senator Reed on the Senate floor grew very bitter at Gov. Pinchot, who had the effrontery to request assistance fom Washington.

So there was another special session of our Legislature to afford relief by Pennsylvania for Pennsylvanians. The Legislature has been in session for four weeks, and there is no sign of any relief measure worthy the name.

No Revenue to Meet Relief Bill Demands

There is in committee of the House a bill by Representative Talbot, of Delaware County, to appropriate $24,000,000 for relief. But the organization leaders have come to a realization that in their program there is nothing of the nature of revenue to provide the money for this bill.

I venture the prediction that there will be no $24,000,000 Talbot bill passed at this session, for there are some sane minds in the organization who realize it would be no more than an empty gesture, so far as there is lacking the revenue to back it.

The prospect that the money could be found through economy in government expenditures has completely evaported. Even should every penny of economy suggested by the House Appropriations Committee be saved, there would be only $6,000,000 for the $24,000,000 of the projected Talbot bill.

That would mean that hospitals, the mothers' assistance fund and state-aided institutions would suffer the same abatements that hamstrung their activities after passage of the $10,000,000 Talbot act, at the last special session.

The only difference would be that where there abatement was on an index of $10,000,000 last time, it would be on a basis of $18,000,000 for the future, the difference between $6,000,000 and $24,000,000.

Legislative Farce; No Progress Made

It is all a tragic legislative farce and, so far as state relief is concerned, the Legislature is just where it was when it met nearly four weeks ago. It is about time the people of the commonwealth were realizing that in front of the challenge of the present emergency there has been a complete breakdown either of ability or courage, or both. The "younger statesmen" whom State Chairman Martin has said were being developed in this Legislature appear to have the rickets.

As a result of this failure of the younger statesmen and the older statesmen to do anything, the federal government now becomes the sole hope of the needy of the commonwealth. The same federal government to which Martin, Reed and Phillips said we should not go, must carry the burden if there is not to be tragic chaos. The Republican leadership of the Pennsylvania which could care for its own is accomplishing nothing here.

That may be hard reading to President Tom Dunn of the Chamber of Commerce, a Democrat who didn't want Mr. Hoover bothered by our affairs, and who suffered a hurt sense of state self-sufficiency at the thought of turning to Washington.

If it wasn't for the $300,000,000 direct relief fund set up by the federal government, of which Gov. Pinchot has asked for the state $45,000,000—which he may not get—we would have to try feeding ourselves with this pride, a lean ration.

* * *

Pinchot Would Handle Government Funds

Actually, the Legislature, made up of Pennsylvanians met to do something by Pennsylvanians for Pennsylvanians, thought it could reappropriate the federal money through the Talbot act. Now the regular Republicans know they can't, that this Washington money will be administered by the Governor, and the legislators are all at sea without a paddle.

It is true that Pennsylvania could help meet its own situation for its own people if it would institute an excise tax on the cost of electric light, gas and water bills, paid for by the producer rather than the consumer. That would not be satisfying to Senator Reed, who successfully fought the same proposal in the United States Senate, putting the tax on the consumer, nor to Gen. Martin, and certainly not to Mr. Phillips.

Unless the Legislature has an intention of really coming to grips with the situation, it should adjourn this afternoon.

In its present helpless and futile state of mind it is merely adding to the costs paid on the taxpayers.

NEW BANK BILL TO EASE HOME LOANS HERE

Upturn in Construction Expected to Follow Hoover Approval

Pittsburghers who are seeking mortgage money from building and loan societies, savings banks or insurance companies are vitally interested in the anticipated signing by President Hoover of the federal home loan bank bill, local bankers and building and loan leaders point out.

If the bill becomes a law it will soon make available to building and loan subscribers and others who wish to secure mortgage money a large part of the $18,000,000,000 now invested in home mortgages.

Many building and loan societies would have money available for subscribers who have been unsuccessfully seeking loans for months, but who can not be accommodated because of the naturally "frozen" condition of millions of building and loan assets.

Rumblings of a battle for one of the district banks, with Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Cincinnati in the fight, have already been heard.

BANK HERE SOUGHT

A definite move is afoot in Pittsburgh to besiege Pennsylvania's Senators and Representatives with requests for co-operation on the ground that Pittsburgh and Allegheny County have a vital interest in the proposed bank, chiefly because of the more than 200,000 building and loan members and the many savings banks who are directly affected by the bill.

But the final decision as to what cities will get the banks will rest with the five members to be appointed by the President to the home loan bank board, according to William E. Best, president of the United States Building and Loan League, one of the prime movers in securing the passage of the bill through Congress.

Best, today, said of the bill:

"There will be a steady upturn in building, especially home building, as a result of this bill. The building and loan associations now have about $9,000,000,000 invested in mortgages. The savings banks have a like amount. The insurance companies are the third group to be greatly affected by it."

Much of these "frozen assets" will be released as a result of the bill, Best pointed out. It will make this money available to building and loan subscribers and those who wish to make home loan arrangements with insurance companies.

In explaining the working of the bill, he said that the first task of the home loan bank board will be to divide the country into from 8 to 12 districts and then locate a bank in each of those districts.

STOCK SUBSCRIPTION

After the bank set-up has been completed, home loaning institutions may subscribe to capital stock to the extent of at least 1 per cent of the unpaid principal of their home mortgages, but not less than $1,500. The capital of each bank cannot be less than $5,000,000, but will be set by the bank board. Individuals cannot borrow directly from the bank.

H. J. HEINZ, II, GIVEN 'JOB'

Henry John Heinz II, son of Howard Heinz, will sail Friday on the Paris for England to take up his duties at the London Heinz plant.

Completing his studies at Trinity College, Cambridge University, England, young Heinz returned to the United States a few months ago to visit with his family and prepare for his entry into business. He will spend a year or more at the London plant and then return to Pittsburgh to continue his study in the company's main plant here.

CITY EMPLOYES GET HEARING

The hearing before the Civil Service Commission of 14 police and firemen, ousted by Mayor Kline in his recent shakeup has been set for August 15, Attorney Alexander P. Lindsay, representing the men, announced today.

Members of the commission being out of town necessitated postponement of the hearing, set for this afternoon, Lindsay said.

AUTO HITS TWO GIRLS, ONE DIES

Patricia McKinney, 4, a Negro, was killed last night when struck by an automobile in front of her home, 6609 Deary street. She suffered a fractured skull.

Samuel McAteer, of 4822 Schenley avenue, driver of the car, was ordered to post bond at the Coroner's office.

Ruth McDonald, 7, daughter of Patrolman A. M. McDonald, of Munhall, was in Homestead Hospital today with a probable fracture of the skull suffered when she was struck by an automobile while playing near her home yesterday.

Downtown Barbers Reduce Hair Cuts

Price of hair cuts have been reduced by the 40 members of the Triangle Master Barbers' Association, operating in the downtown district. Various prices had been charged, according to J. H. Jeffreys, president, but due to economic conditions, the association fixed the price at 50 cents.

Scores of other shops mostly in outlying districts previously reduced prices, in some instances to as low as 25 cents.

NAME WINNERS IN PA. COACH CONTEST

Many Prizes of Gold Given Craftsmen at Carnegie Museum

Central and Eastern Pennsylvania today were sharing highest awards in the state Napoleonic coach model contest sponsored by the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild and the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

Paul R. Rempp, of Bethlehem pike, Spring House, and Raymond F. Sekulski, 2251 West Third street, Harrisburg, won the first awards in the senior and junior classes, respectively. Each received $100 in gold and a trip to Detroit for the annual Guild convention, opening August 22. Their entries will be judged in the national finals, which awards a four-year university scholarship for any institution of the winner's choice to the two high winners.

SILVER TROPHY

Awards were announced last night at Carnegie Museum, where the model coaches have been on display. Award of the Sun-Telegraph silver trophy to the boy in the tri-state area whose model ranks best will be made later with completion of judging in West Virginia.

The state's second high honors were given Alfect D. Hoodley, 518 Walnut street, Swarthmore, Pa., and Harold Sirney, 525 Tenth street, Monessen, in the senior and junior classes, respectively. Both received $100 in gold and their models enter the finals. William E. Epley, of 527 South Fifth street, Jeannette, who received senior class honorable mention, won two additional awards in craftsmanship. These were first award of $25 for trimcraft and second award, $15, in paintcraft.

OTHER AWARDS

Other senior awards in craftsmanship were: Woodcraft—first, Lewis E. Britton, 3118 Green street, Harrisburg; second, Edwin Nowacki, 157 Lincoln avenue, Leechburg. Metalcraft—first, Sidney Marks, 738 Fisher avenue, Philadelphia; second, Britton. Trimcraft—second, Chester McGear, 1118 East Haines street, Philadelphia. Paintcraft — first, McGear.

Junior craftsmanship awards were: Woodcraft — first, Mike Bizic, 610 Pine street, Ambridge; second, Melwyn Yohe, R. F. D. No. 2, New Kensington. Metalcraft—first, Yohe; second, Robert Kampmeyer, 403 Franklin avenue, Cheltenham, Pa. Trimcraft—second, Kampmeyer. Paintcraft—second, Bizic.

All craftsmanship awards carried $25 for first place and $15 for second honors.

'Depression' Beach Gets Lifeguards

John Biggs, of East Tenth avenue, and Thomas Paustenbach, of West Tenth avenue, Tarentum, were sworn in today by Burgess V. L. Henry, of Tarentum, as lifeguards and special officers for duty at "Depression" beach on the Allegheny River between 1 p. m. and 8 p. m. daily.

'BRIDEGROOM'S' HEARING SET

Albert Smith, 22, of Hudson, N. Y., whose "bride of six months" told Mt. Lebanon police they had been married a year and caused their arrest, today will face a federal charge of transporting a stolen automobile. He and Stanley Stromberg, also of Hudson, N. Y., were turned over to federal authorities accused of transporting the auto from New Brunswick, N. J., to Mt. Lebanon. Smith and Anna Foster posed as a bridal pair, stranded. Police had taken a collection and procured a tank of gasoline for them when the "bride" got her wedding dates mixed.

Aluminum Company Tax Refund Suit Up

A hearing is being held today before Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker on the government's demurrer in the suit of the Aluminum Company of America, seeking to recover $650,632.38, with interest, alleged to have been overpaid as income and excess profit taxes for the year 1918. The amount sought is more than $1,000,000. Attorney John A. McCann, of Pittsburgh, special assistant to general counsel, Bureau of Internal Revenue, represents the government.

Sailor President Might be Better Than Fisherman

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

The last two boys we tried were fishermen.

Maybe a sailor would be an improvement.

Anyway, the campaign abuse has started. When a Republican meets a Democrat they claw the ground like game roosters. The Republican says:

The Democrat replies:

"Aw, Hoover can't even bait his own hook. He just fishes for the news reels."

That's the way it stands now. And in order to defeat the doubters it will be essential for Roosevelt to campaign in a sailor hat and Hoover in rubber boots.

ROBBED, PUSHED FROM BRIDGE

Michael Hickey, 16, wasn't worrying about the depression as he walked from Homestead to his home at 59 Hazelwood avenue. For painting the kitchen of a Homestead home the housewife had given him $1.75.

Michael was in good humor and when a Negro stopped him on the Glenwood Bridge to ask for a cigaret, he searched his pockets for his pack.

Michael caught up to him on the other end of the bridge. In the tussle the Negro pushed Michael off the bridge. He fell 25 feet to the railroad tracks.

Today he's in Homeopathic Hospital, his money gone and two ribs fractured.

Trosdal, Shipping Magnate, Ends Life

SAVANNAH, Ga., July 20.—(AP.)—Einar Storm Trosdal, internationally known shipping magnate, was found dead of carbon monoxide gas in his garage early today and police pronounced it suicide.

His body, clad in pajamas, was inclosed in his automobile into which a rubber hose conducted gas fumes from the exhaust pipe.

15 Killed as Train, Mexican Trolley Hit

MEXICO CITY, July 20.—(AP.)—Fifteen persons were killed and a score or more were injured today when a train bound from Laredo struck a crowded street car in the suburb of Tacuba.

The street car service has been suspended for more than a month because of a strike, and was resumed only last night.

DOES NOT WAIT FOR SUBPENA SERVERS

Home From Canada, 'Phones Murren of Desire to Talk

Mrs. Joseph G. Armstrong, widow of the former chairman of the County Commissioners, will appear tomorrow without subpena, before the grand jury investigating alleged private use of county gasoline, she notified county detectives by telephone from Springdale, today.

Reported yesterday as being in Canada, Mrs. Armstrong informed Chief George W. Murren, of the county detectives, that she had returned and was staying with relatives near Springdale, adding, he reported:

"You needn't bother sending a subpena. I'll come whenever you want me. I just read in the newspapers I was wanted to testify."

REPORTS TOMORROW

Murren told her to report at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow, when all others of the 28 ordered subpenaed, who could be served, have been notified to appear.

Detectives reported they were unable to find Edward M. Kenna, former County Road Commissioner, and John Armstrong, said to be a son of the late Commissioner. Kenna was out of town, it was learned.

Kenna was an official of the Peoples Gas Company at whose South Side station numerous county employes and their relatives are alleged to have filled their automobiles with gasoline, with the order:

"Charge it to the county."

District Attorney A. T. Park said he was not disturbed by inability of subpena servers to reach the witnesses as records of the gasoline company's transactions obtained by auditors were sufficient basis for any action by the grand jury which will take up the gasoline phase of the audit investigation tomorrow.

ZIEFEL SERVED

Among those served with subpenas, detectives reported, were William H. Ziefel, former chief clerk to the County Commissioners; Elmer Armstrong, of Kent way, also said to be a son of Joseph G. Armstrong; Gilbert C. Cloonan, former head of the County Elections Bureau; Susan Askey, 5738 Kentucky avenue; A. C. Johnson, 221 North Sheridan avenue; John J. Gallagher, 699 Sumner avenue, Wilkinsburg, and John S. Devlin, 7741 Forbes street.

Auditors who examined the company's books reported that Mrs. Armstrong obtained 1,600 gallons of gasoline and charged it to the county; that Ziefel obtained 6,000 gallons; Mrs. Ziefel, 1,000 gallons, and Cloonan, 10 gallons.

The grand jury is also investigating the $200,000 airport hauling ocntract of Watson Bowser, of Kittanning and tax receipt frauds in five wards of Pittsburgh. A presentment recommending indictments of many ward politicians is expected to be made Friday, in connection with the tax phase.

Dry Chief Denies Raid Minimum Rule

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., July 20.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

If any country wants to pounce on Japan, now is the time, for every able-bodied Japanese, man, woman and child, is here to compete in the Olympics. There are hundreds of 'em. The big Swedes and Germans can't step without tramping on dozens of 'em. And they all got kodaks. I asked a nice little Japanese girl if her father and mother was on the team too? She said, "No, they didn't have a kodak."

Will Rogers

Visiting the studio yesterday was Matthew Brush, not "late" of but "still" of Wall Street. Three years ago he saw America going over Niagara Falls, and sold everything "short" but barrels. Such foresight was naturally investigated by the Senate, so he was and was pronounced clear of at least "astigmatism."

Yours, WILL.

BOY RECEIVING COACH MODEL AWARD

DR. CHARLES WATKINS RAYMOND F. SEKULSKI W. L. BROWN

Mr. Brown, national representative of the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild, presenting to Sekulski, Harrisburg youth, the first award in the junior class of the Pennsylvania Napoleonic coach model contest, sponsored by the guild and the Sun-Telegraph. Paul R. Rempp, Spring House, won the first senior award. He and Sekulski received $100 in gold and a trip to Detroit for the annual guild convention next month and their entries will be judged in the national finals. Dr. Watkins, of Carnegie Tech, turned over the list of award names held by him as custodian for the judges. Award of the Sun-Telegraph trophy to the boy in the tri-state area whose model ranks best will be made later. This is a Sun-Telegraph picture.

Police and Doctor Fail To Save Fumes Victim

For more than two hours today police and physicians tried to revive Edwin Schneider, 25, mechanic found overcome in a garage in the rear of his rooming house at 107 Morewood avenue, Shadyside.

Mr. Schneider

Even though their efforts appeared futile, physicians continued to try to resuscitate him in Homeopathic Hospital after Patrolmen William Kent and William Kearney had worked to revive him in the garage. Later he was pronounced dead.

Schneider appeared a victim of carbon monoxide poison. The condition of the garage indicated he had been repairing his automobile when the fumes dropped him. He was found by Paul Gogarn.

Rites for Uncle Of President Set

WATERLOO, Ia., July 20.—(AP.)—Funeral services will be held Friday for Joseph Hepenstall Hoover, 75, uncle of President Hoover, who died Sunday at Pueblo, (Col.) sanitarium. He was an inventor and a native of West Branch, Ia., the birthplace of the President. He lived here 31 years.

BOLIVIA BORDER FEUD FLARES

LA PAZ, Bolivia, July 20.—(AP.)—The ancient boundary feud between Bolivia and Paraguay flamed today to the point where Bolivians crowded the streets and shouted for war.

The demonstration followed news that 300 Paraguayan troops attacked Fort Mariscal Santa Cruz, in the border area, Saturday, and that the fighting was continuing. Two soldiers, presumably Bolivians, were reported killed.

A crowd of 10,000 gathered in the square before the presidential palace after the announcement was made, shouting against "Paraguayan aggression," and demanding war.

President Daniel Salamanca appeared and told them the Bolivian people would know how to carry out their duty against an aggressor, ending by urging them to be ready to serve their country if needed.

15,000 TEXTILE WORKERS QUIT

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service.

HIGH POINT, N. C., July 20.—One of the most unusual economic and social outbursts in industrial history was simmering today—and nobody would definitely predict what its temperature would be by nightfall.

More than 15,000 workers in five North Carolina mill cities and towns had stopped work in 150 manufacturing plants, mostly textile and furniture, following a spontaneous and psychological mass exit of employes in a few hosiery factories here and a larger number of unaffected workers in textile and furniture plants.

The situation, attributed to further wage reductions by certain High Point textile mills, was complicated by the activities of from 2,000 to 5,000 unemployed in the area, who joined the more or less orderly demonstrations.

Mrs. Willebrandt Supports Hoover Silently

WASHINGTON, July 20.—(AP.)—Mabel Walker Willebrandt favors the re-election of Herbert Hoover as President, but apparently not to the extent of breaking her "political silence."

To a report she would go campaigning in Hoover's behalf, a report which was coupled with conjecture on her present stand on prohibition, Mrs. Willebrandt, one of the leading women campaigners for Mr. Hoover in 1928, made answer:

"I re-affirm the political silence which I have continuously and consistently maintained."

GIRLS' SCHOOLS MERGE HERE

Merger of the Thurston School, oldest private school for girls in Pittsburgh, and the junior girls' school of Miss Jessie Simonson, 1620 Murray avenue, was announced today, the two to be known as the Thurston School and to occupy the latter's building, 250 Shady avenue.

Miss Marjorie F. Pratt, headmistress of Thurston, will continue as head, with Miss Simonson as associate director in charge of the primary department. The staff of Thurston will serve the combined schools. Founded in 1888, Thurston School was reorganized in 1930, with a board of trustees.

REYNOLDS QUIZ 'UNDER COVER'

The next definite move was believed to be the new grand jury which convenes next week.

Mrs. Libby Holman Reynolds, widow of the dead boy, has made no legal move to claim the estate.

Cleveland Hunts Lost $1,170,000

CLEVELAND, July 20.—(AP.)—More than $1,170,000, apparently missing from the county treasury, was hunted today by a special accountant hired by County Treasurer L. G. Collister, while a grand jury was assembled to hear evidence tomorrow.

The special accountant, Clewell M. Smith, yesterday disclosed an amazing juggling of the county's tax revenues, indicating, he said, that amounts from $100,000 to $1,900,000 had been removed at various times by unidentified persons, and not always repaid.

17 Show Horses Die In Fire Stampede

NEWTON SQUARE, Pa., July 20.—(AP.)—Seventeen thoroughbred horses, stampeding in a frenzy of fear, were burned to death early today in a fire that destroyed a two-story barn on the farm of Dr. Charles F. Henry.

They were all hunters and show horses and were valued at $40,000. Among those burned to death was King Rexall, champion of the Easton, Pa., horse show a few weeks ago.

Plumer Buried Near Unknown Soldier

LONDON, July 20.—(AP.)—The last wish of Field Marshal Lord Plumer, British World War hero who died last Saturday, was granted today with his burial in ancient Westminster Abbey.

He had expressed a desire to be buried near the tomb of Britain's Unknown Soldier and it was in the new Warriors' Chapel, close to this spot, that the field marshal's body was placed.

Police Hunt Widens For Missing Student

PRINCETON, N. J., July 20.—(INS.)—Three states today cooperated in the search for Louis Albert Jackes, Jr., 21, summer student at Princeton University, missing mysteriously for a week.

Police of New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New York were asked to help find Jackes, whose home is in Montclair, N. J. He is the son of a Newark (N. J.) jeweler.

Suspect in Lindy Blackmailing Held

FRANKLIN, N. H., July 20.—(AP.)—Adam Jasewich, 35, of Springfield, Vt., was held in $2,000 bail yesterday on a charge of blackmail in an attempt to extort $10,000 ransom from Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Jasewich pleaded not guilty and his case was continued until July 25.

FALL'S INCOME TAX CHECKED

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., July 20.—(AP.)—Internal revenue office employes here say they are checking income tax reports of Albert B. Fall, former Secretary of the Interior, but Collector B. C. Hernandez characterized the check as "customary action."

Hernandez said the reports were of recent years and that reports of other persons also were under routine scrutiny.

Fall recently was released from the New Mexico State Prison, where he served a year and a half sentence on naval oil lease bribery charge.

GUNS DISCUSSED AT PARLEY

GENEVA, July 20.—(INS.)—The American, British, French and Italian delegations to the disarmament conference met jointly today in an attempt to draw up a satisfactory text dealing with heavy mobile guns, the sole outstanding point of disagreement in the projected resolution for adjournment.

The Americans were understood to feel it was impossible to reach an agreement on this issue, since the French and British have repeatedly declined to modify their view that "reduction of caliber should be according to the reduction of caliber on battleship guns."

Easy Pleasant Way To Lose Fat

How would you like to safely and harmlessly lose 15 pounds of fat in a month and at the same time increase your energy and improve your health?

How would you like to lose your double chin and your too prominent hips and abdomen and at the same time make your skin so clean and clear that it will compel admiration?

Get on the scales today and see how much you weigh—then get a bottle of Kruschen Salts that costs next to nothing and which will last you 4 weeks. Take one-half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water in the morning—cut down on pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—and when you have finished the contents of this first bottle weigh yourself again.

But refuse imitations—safeguard your health—you lose fat SAFELY with Kruschen.

THESE PRICES PROVE you don't have to buy low quality tires to get LOW PRICE

HERE'S something to think about if you want the biggest money's worth of comfort, safety and trouble-free mileage when you buy tires.

You don't have to take second-choice tires to save money—because FIRST-CHOICE costs no more.

Here are prices that prove it. Read them and remember, they buy real Goodyears. Big, stout, husky, tough Supertwist balloons with the name Goodyear Speedway on the sidewall, and Goodyear materials through and through.

For 17 years, motorists have voted Goodyear Tires the best on the market—because they have bought more Goodyear Tires than any other kind. Because Goodyear makes millions more tires than any other rubber manufacturer, it stands to reason Goodyear can build them better and better.

Take another look at the prices here, and ask yourself: Why buy any second-choice tire when FIRST-CHOICE costs no more!

SIX "PLIES?"

You can count six layers of cord here, but the first two under the tread in this tire (or in any so-called "six-ply" tire built this way) do not run from bead to bead. Some tire-makers count these as "plies," but they are really "breaker strips," so we call them that.

ARSON CHARGED TO EVANGELIST

PORTSMOUTH, O., July 20.—(INS.)—The Rev. W. G. Harris, 52-year-old Fairmont (W. Va.) evangelist, was held in jail today on charges of arson in connection with a $12,000 fire at the home of the Rev. W. S. Queen, Portsmouth pastor, who is accused of employing Harris to start the blaze.

The arrest of Harris and an alleged accomplice, C. R. Massie, 42, alias Metz, also of Fairmont, interrupted tabernacle services being held here by Harris and Queen.

Arrest of Queen was expected today on the same charge. An affidavit accusing him of arranging with Harris for the burning of the house has already been signed by Deputy State Fire Marshal Sanford Linck.

Massie and Harris were placed in jail when they were unable to raise $2,000 bond. Both denied the arson charge.

DEATH FOILED IN BRIDGE LEAP

NEW YORK, July 20.—(AP.)—Before he plunged 158 feet from the Manhattan Bridge, Dominica Sica wrote a note saying:

"Fairly well off a year ago, now a pauper. Maybe when my wife and seven children are a widow and seven orphans they will find help."

But Sica's desire for death was frustrated. Milton Stulay, 18, saw the body flash downward in the darkness late last night. He plunged into the black water, subdued Sica, fought the vicious current and dragged the man out.

Sica was recovering from bruises today.

Cleveland Artists Hold Curb Market

CLEVELAND, July 20.—(AP.)—Art for art's sake was abandoned temporarily in Cleveland's "Little Greenwich Village" today, in favor of art for the sake of bread and butter.

Adopting methods of high-pressure business, scores of artists established a curb-market display of their works, and went in for bargain prices.

U. S. Defers Greek Loan Payments

ATHENS, Greece, July 20.—(AP.)—It was officially announced today the United States government had accepted the Greek government's petition to suspend for two and a half years installment payments on the American sections of the 1928 loan which were due July 1.

Thornton Aide Quits Canadian Railways

MONTREAL, Que., July 20.—(AP.)—L. V. Hummel, assistant to the president of the Canadian National Railways, resigned today. The resignation followed that of Sir Henry Thornton, who stepped out as president yesterday.

Mr. Altmeyer expects to be host to 50,000. This is a Sun-Telegraph picture.

GIRL WILL FLY WITH WILLIAMS

NEW YORK, July 20.—(AP.)—Roger Q. Williams, who flew to Spain in 1929 with Lewis Yancey, announced today that his companion on his proposed flight to Greece would be Miss Elvy Kalep, Esthonian aviatrix.

Williams is about ready to start his projected non-stop flight from New York to Athens in the "Miss Liberty," in which Otto Hillig and Holger Hoiriis flew to Denmark last year.

Miss Kalep, the only Esthonian woman to hold a pilot's license, arrived in America in May and announced she was planning an Atlantic flight.

Intoxicants Seized In 5 Raids By Drys

Seven persons were arrested in five raids by prohibition agents yesterday. Large quantities of beer were reported seized in a building in Crest street, Charleroi, and a garage on Lebanon road, near Homestead. Small seizures of intoxicants were reported in three other raids in the city.

'Hughie' Jennings' Widow Given Job

HARRISBURG, July 20.—(AP.)—Appointment of Mrs. Nora M. Jennings, of Scranton, widow of "Hughie" Jennings, of baseball fame, to the Scranton office of the State Employment Bureau was announced here by the Department of Labor and Industry.

SET ROOSEVELT CAMPAIGN PLAN

NEW YORK, July 20.—(AP.)—The campaign to elect Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt as president will be run, as was the campaign to nominate him, through the state organizations, James A. Farley, Democratic national chairman, announced today.

There will be a campaign committee, located at the Roosevelt headquarters in New York, but it will assist and co-operate with the state organizations rather than attempt to direct them, Farley said.

For the campaign there will be only one national headquarters, located in New York City. There will be no branch headquarters aside from the regular headquarters in each state.

The office established in Washington by the last national committee will continue to function as a permanent organization of the national committee, Farley said. It was said, however, that it would be run with a skeleton-ized staff.

Daughter of Prophet Of Bahaism Dies

CHICAGO, July 20.—(AP.)—A cablegram from Shoghi Effendi, head of the Baha'i faith, brought word today of the death at Haifa, Palestine, of Bahiyyih Khanum, daughter of Baha'u'llah, the prophet of Bahaism.

The American National Spiritual Assembly, in keeping with the world Bahaist faith, has decreed nine months' suspension of religious festivities in mourning.

Gas Station Robber Holds Up Attendant

A robber entered the Cities Service gasoline service station, 28 East Carson street, early today, stuck up the attendant, Nelson Fox, of 16 Smithfield street, and escaped with between $50 and $60, Fox reported to police.

Two Gunmen Rob Man on North Side

Richard Thomas, of 506 West Lacock street, reported to police today that two gunmen, one a Negro, had robbed him of $5 and a $40 watch at West Lacock and Dasher streets, early today.

JOBLESS' FLOUR PROBE STARTED

WASHINGTON, July 20.—(INS.—John Barton Payne, chairman of the Red Cross, today ordered an immediate investigation of charges that Red Cross wheat was being used in Memphis, Tenn., for political purposes. He said:

"I never heard a word on the subject until I read in the press the statement of Senator Borah that he had received letters charging a political machine in Memphis was using the wheat and flour to secure votes. Immediately upon reaching my office I communicated with Memphis and instructed our local chapter there to get the facts and to determine whether there was any basis for the story."

Charges that Representative Crump (Dem.), of Tennessee, political "boss" of Memphis, rules the distribution of Red Cross flour through his political organization, were contained in letters from two lodges of the Loyal Order of Americans to Borah.

Lions' Clubs Urged As Public Forums

LOS ANGELES, July 20.—(INS.)—A proposal by International President Julien C. Hyer, of Fort Worth, Texas, that the 2,800 Lions' Clubs of the world be turned into forums for discussions of public problems was under consideration today by 5,000 delegates to the annual international convention.

Lancaster Judge, Ill, Quits Bench

LANCASTER, Pa., July 20.—(INS.)—President Judge John M. Groff, Lancaster County, resigned yesterday because of illness. He had served as judge since 1927, when he was appointed by Gov. John S. Fisher. Two years later he was elected for the 10-year term.

Woman Missing On Hitch-Hike Safe

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., July 20.—Mrs. Anna Perkins, 46, Detroit, who was feared by her husband to have been kidnaped while hitchhiking near Centerville, turned up unharmed here yesterday. She later joined her husband in Uniontown.

Father Shoots Two Daughters, Kills Self

PHILADELPHIA, July 20.—(INS.)—Crazed with worry over the loss of his job, a 53-year-old father today shot his two young daughters as they lay asleep and then fired a bullet through his brain.

The father, Frank Cibor, died a half hour later, while the two girls, Lucy, 9, and Jennie, 13, were fighting for their lives at Northeastern Hospital.

Prefers Governor Post, Says Ritchie

SOLOMON'S ISLAND, Md., July 20.—(AP.)—Albert C. Ritchie would "rather be governor of Maryland than hold any other public office."

WIFE DROWNED, BLONDE QUIZZED

SWEETWATER, Tex., July 20.—(AP.)—L. M. Parks, Sweetwater businessman, was held without bond after an examining trial yesterday on a charge of murdering his wife, who drowned July 8 at Lake Trammell.

Fay Condit, attractive blonde, alleged by the state to have encouraged Parks to commit the alleged offense, admitted he had been paying her bills and associating with her. Asked whether she loved Parks, she said:

"I suppose so."

The hearing revealed insurance policies totaling $9,000 had been taken out in Mrs. Parks name recently. Mrs. Condit admitted knowing of the insurance policies, but denied influencing Parks in his asserted plot to kill his wife.

SEEK TIEUP END AT POSTOFFICE

Further efforts to end the strike of hoisting engineers which has tied up work on the new $8,000,000 postoffice building were to be made today by Miss Emmelinne Pitt, Pittsburgh conciliator of the United States Department of Labor, union heads and representatives of contractors erecting the building. Miss Pitt entered the negotiations late yesterday after representatives of the men and the contractors had failed to agree.

Officials said the strike, involving more than 200 men, was called when officers of the Hoisting Engineers' Union objected to the use of materials furnished by a company not employing union men.

Studio Rushes Newspaper Story

By HARRISON CARROLL
(Copyright, 1932, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, July 20.

With time pressing, the casting of this picture turned into a last-minute scramble for players. Columbia was persuaded to lend Constance Cummings to take the feminine lead opposite Joel McCrea. Another frantic call to M. G. M. garnered Robert Young for an important part.

Constance Cummings

Wildest of all Hollywood premieres was the opening of "Strange Interlude," Eugene O'Neill's famous drama of asides.

Was it the spirit of "Laugh Clown Laugh" that inspired Buster Keaton to give that fantastic dance at the Frolics on the night his separation story broke? . . . Helene Millard and John Preston have been dining together in the intimacy of Stark's Bohemian Cafe . . . Air sickness plus a bad throat sent Kay Francis to her bed on her arrival here from the East. She's still under the weather . . . Now that the honeymoon is over, Sharon Lynn will come back to the screen as the vamp in "The Big Broadcast." She's married, you know, to Barney Glazer, Paramount supervison . . . Stamp collectors, you have a fellow enthusiast in Edmund Lowe . . . After shaking the kinks out of the story, Paramount will film "Hot Saturday" after all. But without either Carole Lombard or Richard Arlen. Gordon Westcott is one of the few members of the cast to be retained. Director Henry King is a stickler for detail. He flew to Arizona to get a prize pig for the picture "State Fair" . . . Many of those slaves in De Mille's "The Sign of the Cross" will be athletes from Southern California colleges. These lads draw $10 a day . . . Returning travelers are Helen Gahagan and Melvyn Douglas. She goes into rehearsal for the coast production of "The Cat and the Fiddle," while he awaits a picture assignment from Samuel Goldwyn.

Kay Francis

That threatened breakdown of Lilyan Tashman wasn't as serious as first reports indicated. Hollywood's most daring style queen is well enough to accept a picture engagement in Tiffany's "Those We Love." She replaces Evelyn Brent, who withdrew from the cast at the last minute after an argument over billing. This is the picture in which Mary Astor makes her screen comeback.

Another near-unknown is on the verge of getting a contract with Samuel Goldwyn. She is Phyllis Du Barry, English actress, who has been playing out here in a musical called "Hullabaloo." Miss Du Barry, whose name is to be changed, has taken a test, and Goldwyn holds an option on her services. She is a brunette and has done a number of musical comedy leads in Australia.

Honor

Debt Signers In Hearst News

THE GLOBE TROTTER

Prime Minister MacDonald, of Great Britain, Premier Herriot, of France, and Chancellor von Papen, of Germany, are shown in epochal pictures in the current issue of Hearst Metrotone News affixing their signatures to the reparations settlement document. At the conclusion of the historic gathering at Lausanne, Ramsay MacDonald delivers a farewell address in which he declares that the settlement is another important step toward world accord. The scenes are accompanied by a descriptive talk by The Globe Trotter.

Final trials of Uncle Sam's girl star athletes of field, track and water, show Mildred Didrikson of Dallas, Texas, winning the 80 meter hurdles at Evanston, Ill. This win was one of five firsts captured by Miss Didrikson for the day, her amazing performance giving her three places on the United States Olympic team.

HIGH DIVING

At Jones Beach, New York Elenor Holm is shown breaking her own world record in the backstroke race. Helene Madison, of Seattle, sets a new mark for the 400 meter free-style swimming, and there are flashes of the marvelous high diving in which Georgia Coleman lost her crown to Dorothy Poynton of Los Angeles.

In Los Angeles an inventor, whose name aptly happens to be Trusty, demonstrates a new safety device for airplanes. By pulling a lever in case of accident, two passengers at a time, seats and all, are thrust through doorways at different side of the fusilage, and drop gently to earth, the parachute attached to the backs of the seats opening automatically. Several tests are made and it works every time.

RACING IN READING

The most sensational and thrilling automobile race ever pictured comes from Reading, Pa., where a dozen drivers start off in the Bicentennial Sweepstakes. The oval is inches deep in dust, causing the cars to skid continuously as they dash around with terrific speed. The first accident comes when Harold Wright crashes through the fence. Shortly afterwards the car of Doc Mackensie, leading at the time, leaps high into the air and then disappears over the outside bank. By some miracle there were no serious injuries.

The bull is given a chance to do a little throwing in a new game introduced at Pamplona, Spain to celebrate the Feast of St. Firmin. A dozen bulls are let loose on the streets to chase the crowds. Men and boys inveigle the animals to follow them into the bull-fight arena, the gates are closed, and then a real battle royal starts.

Hundreds of thousands of visitors are shown viewing the ruins of the fire that wiped out a big section of Coney Island. Hundreds of them search for lost belongings and other hundreds of thousands enjoy themselves in the water.

Clive Brook Assigned Two Lead Roles

BITS OF LIFE

All in a Day

By Mark Hellinger

The Fixer

FROM THE TIME that Jerry was a small kid, he was recognized as a born fixer. He wasn't particularly clever and nobody would ever accuse him of being too brilliant. But there was some peculiar twist in his mind that enabled him to act as an extraordinary go-between. If he set his mind to it, there was very little that he couldn't fix—for a suitable consideration.

In school, the teacher would have unhesitatingly told you that Jerry was one of the best boys in the class. She really believed it and you couldn't have blamed her. For whenever any minor service was needed, Jerry was always the first to volunteer.

Think you, though, that Jerry did all this without a basic purpose? Say not so, my children. There was a method in his gladness. When one of the other boys misbehaved, the teacher always sent the parents a note to explain things. And it was Jerry's duty to deliver all such notes.

Well, sometimes he did and sometimes he didn't. It depended entirely upon the state of the offending boy's worldly goods. If he had sufficient pennies to turn over to Jerry, the note was never delivered—and Jerry fixed the teacher with an excuse.

Thus Jerry's career was settled at a very early age. He'd always be exactly what he was—a born fixer . . .

As he grew older the youth immediately joined the local political club and embarked upon his fixing voyage. He mixed with the right higher-ups and fawned upon the men who might do him the most good.

If one of the neighborhood youngsters was arrested for some petty crime, Jerry was able to fix the case in no time. If a storekeeper was handed a violation that kept him awake at nights, he had no peace until Jerry fixed it for him. And so it went. Jerry was waxing prosperous—and it was his boast that, for enough money, he was in a position to fix almost anything.

With the arrival of prohibition, our alleged hero really made good his boast. He had access to the private offices of practically every local and federal politician in town. The cops and the superiors bowed to him.

For a number of years, everything rolled along in magnificent fashion. And then, almost overnight, Jerry fell into a situation that required plenty of thought and consideration. Jerry looked att he matter—and wished very cordially for some master fixer whom he might call on to adjust his precarious position.

For, since he had been sailing along very nicely in the prohibition seas, he never dreamed that he might be caught between two mobs. He knew that the racket was no child's play, but everybody had been so cordial to him that he thought he was immune to all of the usual difficulties. It suddenly turned out that he was very wrong.

Two of the most important mobs in town—let's call them the properties of Big Jim and Little Joe—were fighting for control of a certain section of the city. In order to win the battle, one of the mobs would have to get the okay of a big political figure in that section. And Jerry was the only man in town who stood a good chance of getting that okay.

Within two days, then, Jerry had two very important visitors. One was Big Jim; the other was Little Joe—and if they had called at the same time, there is no telling what might have happened.

Both mobsters were very pleasant to Jerry—but beneath the sweetness was a coldness that made the fixer shiver. Their requests were practically identical, for both men wanted the same okay. And each man assured Jerry that his end of the deal would easily run into $100,000.

But Jerry wanted none of it, and I can't say that I blame him a great deal. If he swung the okay to Big Jim, Little Joe's mob would never be content until Jerry's chest looked like a punchboard with all the chances gone. If the deal went to Little Joe, he could expect the same treatment from the other outfit. And what good would $100,000 be in such a case as that?

For the first time in his career, then, the great fixer was plenty stumped. There was no one to whom he could turn; no one to whom he might appeal. A powerful danger was close at hand and it couldn't be avoided by any of the ordinary methods. This was one occasion when he would have to fix himself.

And he did. He thought long and carefully—and he finally reached a decision. He would leave town for some six months or so without giving either Big Jim or Little Joe any satisfaction.

So he packed his luggage—and fled . . . .

Some seven months elapsed when Jerry returned to the city. Little Joe had been knocked off some five weeks previously, and Big Jim was now in command. Jerry registered at his favorite hotel and was whistling in his bath when the phone rang.

A nervous voice gave him terrible news. It didn't make any difference who it was, said the voice; it was just a friend for whom Jerry had once done a good deed. Jerry had better leave town again—at once. Big Jim had sworn to have him killed for taking a runout, and the fixer was plenty on the spot. The voice stopped. The phone clicked.

Jerry's eyes almost popped from his head and his heart was thumping wildly—but the old brain was still on the job. There was but one way out of this difficulty, and that was to be arrested for something at once. As soon as he was in the police station, he'd be safe. And he would then have himself secretly released so that he could catch another train from the city.

He leaped into his clothes and raced into the lobby. In a loud voice, he began to argue with the clerk. Soon a patrolman came in, and Jerry demanded that he be arrested. The patrolman recognized the fixer immediately and drew Jerry to one side.

"I can't arrest you, Jerry," he muttered. "The boss would give me a beat in China. Just go ahead along and I'll fix the clerk."

Jerry almost wept to be arrested. He pleaded and begged, but to no avail. The policeman had a wife and kids, and he wasn't taking any chances. More, he intimated that Jerry was just a little drunk—and that the fixer would thank him on another day.

Jerry straightened. No use arguing further with this boob; he was only wasting time. The danger was real and very close at hand. He'd have to chance a cab ride alone to the nearest police station. That was his only salvation.

The decision turned out to be a fatal mistake. The moment he stepped from the hotel lobby into the street, a hail of bullets greeted him from a nearby limousine. He probably died before he hit the ground.

Not because he had failed as a fixer—but because he had been too good! . . .

Racket

Plays and Players

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

Two East End theaters make their midweek change of programs today. In the Enright the feature is Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., in "Love Is a Racket," in which Ann Dvorak and Frances Dee are the foremost femmes. "The Honor of the Press," Sheridan Square film, features Edward Nugent, Rita LaRoy, Wheeler Oakman and Dorothy Gulliver.

* * *

A change in billing will bring "Lady and Gent" to the Stanley screen Friday instead of "The Purchase Price," starring Barbara Stanwyck. George Bancroft is the "Gent" and Wynne Gibson the "Lady" of the story, which is about a pugilist and his gal.

* * *

Ralph Morgan, who for a long time was a player of stock leads here, will be in the cast of the picture that will co-star the Barrymores, Ethel, Lionel and John. Morgan recently completed work in support of Norma Shearer in "Strange Interlude," a play in which he toured on the stage, along with Harry Bannister, who also played here in stock.

* * *

"Domino," William A. Brady production, will have Katherine Alexander, Geoffrey Kerr and Joan Carr among those appearing with Rod La Rocque when the play is presented for the first time in Atlantic City August 1 . . . "Salomey Jane," old stage comedy, is to be filmed with Joan Bennett as the star . . . Zasu Pitts and Thelma Todd, who have been teamed in two-reel comedies, will continue the combination in eight more of the same length. . . Tallulah Bankhead has denied that she will return to the stage at any immediate time, saying movie contract will prevent it . . . "Just Out," adaptation from the French, will be tried out in an eastern summer stock theater, with Patricia Collinge in the leading role.

Kirkland to Play in Gaynor Picture

Kennywood "Bullet" Hurt But Works

Victor Zacchini, the "human bullet," now appearing twice daily at Kennywood Park, is working in a plaster cast and against the orders of physicians. He suffered a chip fracture of a vertebrae in an accident at Luna Park, Coney Island, last week.

Zacchini, former major in the Italian Army, struck the side of the net when something went wrong with the timing of the "Big Bertha," from which he is shot, and the result was the fracture.

There are seven brothers in the Zacchini family, all in the same line of business. Edmundo, traveling with Victor, is the man who shoots the cannon. Like Victor, Edmundo was at one time a "bullet," but there was an accident in the old country one day and his legs were so injured that he never will be shot from a cannon again.

PHILS POISON TO PIRATES

SPORT COMMENT

By James J. Long

Bartell Pirate Poison.
Another Trip for Moore.
Coast Star Faces Test.
Barbee Aiding Rovers.
Coaches' Dope Upset.
Duel of Turf Stars.

FORMER MATE BRINGS WOE TO BUCS

TOMMY THEVENOW HAS been very serviceable to the Pittsburgh club, and the Bucs have no cause to complain of what they got out of the Dick Bartell trade. But they have every reason to regret that Bartell is wearing an enemy uniform. The fact that the Phils are so bothersome to the Pirates may be attributed to the activities of the hustling, fighting young shortstop. Since he joined the Quakers the latter have beaten the Rovers 19 times in 31 games—10 out of 15 in Philadelphia and 9 out of 16 at Forbes Field.

Tommy Thevenow.

Last year the Shottons took 13 out of 22 decisions, and to date this season they have copped six out of nine. And almost always Bartell is the poison. On Monday his great double play on Comorosky's scorching hopper was the factor that beat the Gibsons, and yesterday in the second half of the bargain bill, after holding them to a tie score with another fast dual killing in the ninth inning, he crashed a single to right that knocked in the winning run in the eleventh frame. Throughout last season Dick kept up the same kind of work against the Corsairs. He does more damage to the Bucs than all the rest of the Philadelphia club.

THE SHIPPING OF Eddie Moore to Montreal by the Giants, to make room for Gilbert English, the ex-Bridgeporter, adds one more jump for the former Pirate, who has been a commuter between the majors and minors for several years. New York retains an option on him, but will exercise it only in an emergency.

Moore in the minors looks to be just a little bit too good for that company, but when he gets to the big show he falls a trifle short of requirements. He goes well enough for short stretches as a utility man, but when used for a long period he usually bogs down under the strain.

THE TIME WHEN English will get a chance in the Giant lineup depends on the hitting of Johnny Vergez. Manager Terry intends to keep Eddie Marshall at short and had planned to use English at third. The arrival of English seemingly had the effect of arousing Vergez. The latter proceeded to show a marked improvement in hitting, and as long as he keeps it up the newcomer will have to wait.

SPEAKING OF NEW players coming into the big show, the Cubs are said to have landed an unusually good prospect in Frank Demaree, the young outfielder purchased from Sacramento. Several scouts have given him the O. K. Considering the number of games played, Demaree has been the real batting leader of the Coast League. In 101 games he made 150 hits, including 1 home runs, for an average of .368. Oscar Eckhardt and Mark Koenig, with higher averages, have played in only 52 and 65 games, respectively. Demaree is tipped to give the Cubs a needed punch.

Dave Barbee

HOWEVER, IT REMAINS to be seen how much a lively ball and some small parks had to do with Demaree's batting figures. Usually, there's a big drop when these slugging sensations get up against major league pitching and a ball with a lower percentage of rabbit in it.

Stanley Hack hit .352 on the coast last year, Frank Crosetti, .343, and Dave Barbee had a mark of .332. They're quite a distance below those averages now. Barbee poled 47 homers in the far West in 1931. He has made only five for the Pirates and will hardly roll up more than 15 for the season, if that many.

BUT AT THAT, Pittsburgh fans have no fault to find with Barbee's hitting. He may not be the greatest outfielder in the world, but he has been a mighty useful citizen at the plate and has done his full share toward putting the Bucs in first place and keeping them there. Though not approaching his minor league record as a home-run clouter, Dave is all that could be desired in the pinches. His total of 47 runs knocked in is higher than that of any other Pirate except Paul Waner, and runs win ball games.

THE BOOKMAKERS WHO were offering heavy odds against the Pirates for first, second or third place have made haste to back-pedal, according to James (Red) Mason. "Tom Kearney, a St. Louis bookie, quoted odds of 25 to 1, 10 to 1 and 5 to 1 against the Pirates for first, second or third," Mason writes from Chicago, "but when I tried to lay a bet, Mr. Kearney reneged. I have had a chance to look at all the clubs, and from the way I figure it, Pittsburgh has a good chance for the pennant. The Pirates certainly looked good here. Too bad Barney Dreyfuss passed away before he could get a look at the present team and the way it has come to the front. It certainly would have pleased him, and it shows his good judgment in selecting George Gibson to manage the club. Dreyfuss showed in everything that he did that he was the best baseball man of the last 30 years, bar none."

THOUGH HE BARELY made the Olympic team in the running broad jump, finishing third to Dick Barber and Ed Gordon with 25 feet 2⅛ inches as his best mark, Lambert Redd, of Bradley Tech, Peoria, Ill., has actually beaten the 26-foot performances of Chuhei Nambu, of Japan, and Sylvio Cator, of Haiti.

Lambert won the national intercollegiate championship with a leap of 25 feet 6¾ inches, the best in the country this year, but he has beaten even that, though it didn't count. He made the remarkable jump of 26 feet 3 inches, but couldn't follow through in the unspaded area of the pit and fell back on his hands for a measurement of 25 feet 3 inches.

FOLLOWERS OF TRACK sports on the outside were not the only persons surprised by some of the results in the final Olympic tryouts at Palo Alto. The expectations of even the coaches were rudely upset.

Mrs. Payne Whitney

Just before the meet the track coaches on the scene got together and took a poll of their choices for first place in the various branches of competition. Out of 18 events, the consensus of selections named only seven winners and missed on 11.

THERE IS IN prospect a resumption of the duel to determine whether or not Cornelius V. Whitney has in Equipoise a greater race horse than Twenty Grand, owned by his aunt, Mrs. Payne Whitney. The rivalry between these thoroughbreds dates back to their juvenile days in 1930. Twenty Grand twice defeated Equipoise at one mile, but later at a mile and a sixteenth in the mud Equipoise scored a sensational victory over Twenty Grand and Mate after being practically left at the post. Last year Equipoise was forced into retirement and Twenty Grand went on to win the 3-year-old championship. This season the fates shifted. An ailment in the right foreleg kept Twenty Grand out of the picture and Equipoise has cleaned up seven straight races to stand out as the greatest horse of the year. But Twenty Grand is coming back to challenge him again. Mrs. Whitney's horse has been training for two weeks and if nothing interferes he will go to the post against Equipoise and other eligibles for the Saratoga Gold Cup on September 3, promising a title-deciding race that will be one of the high spots of the season.

ACES REMAIN IN TOURNEY FOR TITLE

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 20.—(AP.)—Three of the Pittsburgh entrants fell by the wayside in the second half of the 36-hole qualifying round of the National Public Links golf tournament here today when their high scores put them out of the running.

The unsuccessful Pittsburghers were John Pasikowski, who added an 81 to an 80 of yesterday for a 160; Dr. C. S. Brandon, with 82-86—168, and A. Betts, none-team member, with 86-91—177.

It was estimated no score higher than 150 would qualify.

KAUFMANN LATE STARTER

Two other Pittsburghers, Carl F. Kauffmann, three times winner of the National title, and Andy Swedka, still in the running, were late starters today, along with Francis Lally. Swedka scored 73 yesterday and Kaufmann 75 Lally scored an 83 yesterday.

Four players were tied for the lead at 71 after yesterday's round. A field of 203 players started.

EXPLANATION OF RIPLEY'S CARTOON OF YESTERDAY: THE ORIGINAL IRON-JAWED MAN—Hugh D. Evans, of Detroit, professionally known as Signor Lawanda, is P. T. Barnum's original "Iron-Jawed Man." In one performance he succeeded in lifting 1,400 pounds with his teeth. This unique lift was made by means of an attachment on the side of a barrel, the attachment being gripped by Evans' teeth. The barrel filled with water was found to weigh 600 pounds and the four men astride it weighed 800 pounds—a total of 1,400 pounds all suspended by the unbelievable vice-like grip of Evans' teeth.

TOMORROW: COUGHING BULLETS.

PISTOL CHAMPS GET PLAQUE

Universal Service.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., July 20.—William Randolph Hearst, Jr., son of the publisher, flew here from New York today in an amphibian plane and presented a gold and bronze plaque, donated by his father to the La Salle Military Academy pistol team, champion small arms marksmen at the Citizens' Military Training Camp.

The presentation ceremonies took place at Plattsburg barracks with the R. O. T. C. Battalion and C. M. T. C. Regiment lined up on the parade grounds.

Mr. Hearst made the presentation of the trophy to the La Salle team which consists of Cadets Francis A. Consullo, Ernest F. Zaloon, Joseph A. Ryan, William A. Connolly, Andre E. Mountenont, and John F. Murphy.

In presenting the plaque, Mr. Hearst congratulated the members of the team and the La Salle Military Academy, of Oakdale, N. Y., which they represented.

SPORT SHORTS

CINCINNATI, July 20.—(AP.)—Sidney Weil, president of the Cincinnati Reds, announced the Peoria (Ill.) baseball club, a Red farm, will not join the Central League as he had planned. He said the club, which had been with the Three-Eye League until that organization's suspension, would disband and the players become free agents.

LAWRENCE, Mass., July 20.—(AP.)—Gus Sonnenberg, former claimant of the world heavyweight wrestling championship, left the Lawrence General Hospital last night where he had been treated for injuries received in an automobile accident early yesterday.

TORONTO, July 20. — (AP.)—Fred Maguire, former major league second baseman, and Pitcher Walter Mitchell have been released outright by the Toronto Maple Leafs.

BERNE, Switzerland, July 20.—(AP.)—Winning his fourth successive game, Dr. Alexander Alekhine continued to lead in the international chess masters' tournament. Dr. Alekhine, who is the world champion, defeated Dr. Voellmy, of Switzerland.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., July 20.—(AP.)—Led by Jack Lynch, of Taft, Cal., seeded No. 1, five players won their way into the quarter-finals of the men's singles in the Western Michigan amateur tennis tourney here yesterday in competition featured by the lack of upsets.

OLYMPIC COACH AIDES NAMED

PALO ALTO, Cal., July 20.—(INS.)—Twenty prominent track and field coaches representing the entire United States will act in an advisory capacity under Head Coach Lawson Robertson, of Pennsylvania, during the Olympic Games, according to announcement made here today.

A few out of this group will be named as actual assistants, it was indicated. The list of advisory coaches follows:

Olympic Notes

PALO ALTO, Cal., July 20.—(AP.)—Suffering from a lingering cold and sinus infection, big Ben Eastman, of Stanford, will say goodbye temporarily to other members of the United States Olympic track and field team when they leave tonight for Los Angeles. His physician recommended, and his coaches approved, of keeping the middle-distance runner in Northern California for a few days to clear up his strength-sapping ailments.

TORONTO, July 20.—(INS.)—The British track and field team will work out here today and tomorrow, leaving late Thursday for Hamilton, Ont. Later they will proceed to Los Angeles by way of Chicago. Lord David Burghley, Olympic 400-meter champion, said the team was small, but would give a good account of itself.

PARIS, July 20.—(AP.)—Jules Ladoumegue, holder of the unofficial world record for the mile of 4:09 1-5, today sailed for the United States on the Ile De France. Disbarred from the Olympics as a professional, Ladoumegue will cover the games for a French newspaper. Ladoumegue said he did not think he would run in the United States, but that he might consider a match race with Paavo Nurmi if the Finn is not reinstated for the Olympic Games and should decide to turn professional.

NEW YORK, July 20.—(INS.)—The Swiss, Austrian and Danish Olympic teams left for Los Angeles today. They will visit Niagara Falls today and later stop at Chicago.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—(AP.)—Lieut. George Moffett, member of the Navy team and son of Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, has been compelled to withdraw from the Olympic boxing team trials because of a cracked rib.

LEANDER CREW WINS

PORT DALHOUSIE, Ontario, July 20.—(AP.) — Hamilton's Leander eight-oared crew yesterday qualified to represent Canada in the Olympic games at Los Angeles by virtue of an impressive victory over all rivals in the trials over Old Henley. The crew outclassed the Toronto Argonauts, who represented Canada at the Amsterdam games, winning by a length and a half in 4 minutes 19 4-5 seconds for the 2,000-meter Olympic course.

QUAKERS SPLIT DOUBLE BILL WITH BUCS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

The Phearless Phils refuse to admit there's a depression on, but they would love to see their Western Pennsylvania brethren in a panic. They've been in town less than three days on their present jaunt, yet they have caused as much annoyance to the league-leading Pirates as the other Eastern clubs combined. The fourth battle of the five-game series is on for this afternoon.

The Freebooters were close to a double victory over the Phillies yesterday. Such an eventuality would have represented a gain on the now-encroaching Cubs and it would have taken some of the confidence out of the so-called lowly Quakers, who forced an even break, thereby running their string of victories to six in the nine battles with the Buccos this year.

BUCS LOSE GROUND

The stubborn fight made by the Phillies since they landed here has cut into the Pirate flag advantage perceptibly. The Cubs won yesterday and thus gained one-half of a full game to cut the Pittsburgh lead to two games.

Either Remy Kremer or Steve Swetonic will face the Quakers this afternoon. Manager Shotton has Edgar Holley and Ray Benge for slab action.

Pitcher Phil Collins and Dick Bartell merged their diamond skill to give the Quakers a 50-50 party yesterday at the expense of the Buccos, who were bent upon a dual succes after they had won the opener, 5 to 2. Collins recorded his second victory over the Pirates in two days, and Daredevil Dick drove in the winning run in the eleventh inning of the nightcap. The score of this game was 6 to 5.

Collins rescued the Quakers Monday in the late round and he rushed to the scene in the ninth yesterday just in time to stave off what looked like impending defeat. The Buccos had just knotted the game in the ninth, only one was out, runners were on second and first and Slugger Dave Barbee was up.

LUCK WITH COLLINS

Collins had to be lucky to quell the big push. Barbee's drive might just as well have been a victory hit, but the hard smash bounded straight into Bartell's glove and Dick soon had a double play in action that ended the game. Collins opened the eleventh with a triple and Bartell scored him with a single. Flint Rhem and Leon Chagnon started this game, but both had departed before the regulation distance had been covered.

The Pirates scored twice in the seventh to deadlock the nightcap only to see the Phils make two more runs in the eighth. The Bucs proceeded to knot the game in the ninth; but the Collins-Bartell trick stopped us in the eleventh.

Bill Swift recorded his tenth victory of the season in the early fight. The Kansas City graduate held the hard hitters from Philly to eight hits as he won, 5 to 2. Southpaw Snipe Hansen, also a youngster, opposed Bill for most of the distance. Hansen's mates gave him a two-run lead at the outset, but Snipe's supporting cast went to pieces in the fifth and the home team leaped to the front as a result of the misplays. The Buccos made the contest safe in the seventh by scoring a couple of runs.

Chuck Klein hit his twenty-sixth

Nick Altrock Baseball's Humorist Says:

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 20.—The Presidential campaign is under way and it prove life is just a game of baseball. Congress has just pulled the squeeze play on the taxpayers, the Republicans are claiming all their errors should be scored as hits and the Democrats in the bleachers are yelling to take Hoover out of the box.

Nick Altrock

The campaign orators are warming up in the bullpen, with the emphasis on the bull. Borah is a holdout and threatens to play in an independent league, and Bishop Cannon is trying to get both sides to call off their platforms on account of wet grounds.

Everybody's all excited, and here it is only the first half of the second.

FRIDAY, MARKS SECOND WITH 79 EACH

By TOM BIRKS

Poden Gamble, of the Youghiogheny Country Club, played extremely consistent golf to take the lead with a fine 76 at the finish of the first 18 holes of the 36-hole qualifying test in the annual Western Pennsylvania junior golf championship tournament at the South Hills Country Club today.

Gamble, 17-year-old protege of Tom Bennett, Youghiogheny pro, displayed a well-rounded game, escaped with nothing worse than a 5 on any hole and put together two 38's to gain a three-stroke edge over his nearest rivals. He first gained recognition as a golfer of more than average ability while playing as a member of the McKeesport High School team last spring. His card:

MARKS BOYS NEAR TOP

Wilson F. (Billy) Marks and his brother, Jim Marks, Jr., of Kiski, co-favorites to win the title vacated by Sidney Carson, of Greensburg, who no longer is eligible to compete as a junior, placed well up among the leaders. Jimmy and R. H. Friday, of the Pittsburgh Field Club, carded 79 each and were the only players other than Gamble able to break 80. Jimmy three-putted six greens. His card:

Friday's card:

Out .. 655344346—40
In .... 543534366—39—79

It appeared that Friday might wrest the lead from Gamble until he got into all kinds of trouble on the two finishing holes.

Billy Marks had a 6 on the first hole and a 7 on the second, but from that point until the finish he played brilliantly to card an 80, and tie at this figure with S. C. Hulse, Jr., of Bedford Springs, and W. B. Nicklin, of Stanton Heights.

JENS, M'KEE TIED

Two South Hills entrants, W. Jens and Calude McKee, were tied at 81.

The second 18-hole qualifying round is being played this afternoon, and the champion will be determined through the medium of match play tomorrow and Friday.

J. C. Totten, Stanton Heights	52	44—96

At Stanton Heights today the Pennsylvania State Golf Association will hold a one-day tournament. At Butler Country Club the ladies will hold a one-day invitation affair.

PROS TO QUALIFY

Tri-State district professionals will qualify for the national professional championship tournament at Highland Country Club Monday, August 8, according to an announcement from Vincent Eldred, chairman of the tournament committee of the Tri-State Professional Golfers' Association. It is likely three places will be allotted this district for the national event.

The Hochbergs, W. H., Sr. and Homer, Jr., captured the fathers and sons golf title at Alcoma yesterday, turning in a low score of 79. The defending champions, W. H. and Thomas Nichols finished two strokes behind.

Miss Barbara Warmcastle set a torrid pace in yesterday's one-day women's invitation tournament at the Pittsburgh Country Club, leading a large field home with a low score of 42-42—84. She was the lone entry to break 90. Lois Hollander, of Westmoreland; Mrs. D. A. Garber, of Stanton Heights, and Mrs. L. G. Riley, of Edgewood, were tied at 90 for the runner-up position.

Gene Sarazen Turns Down Exemption

NEW YORK, July 20.—(AP.)—Gene Sarazen, American and British open golf champion, has declined the offer of the Metropolitan Golf Association to qualify him for the professional golfers' tournament at St. Paul without playing.

Sarazen will compete with other Metropolitan professionals in qualifying play at Rockville Center, Long Island, August 10.

TUFFY TO BOX RISKO

CLEVELAND, July 20.—(AP.)—Unsuccessful in attempts to get a bout with Max Schmeling, Johnny Risko, Cleveland heavyweight, has been matched for a 12-round bout with Tuffy Griffith, of Chicago, in the Cleveland Stadium August 1. Griffith has defeated Risko three times.

CHILLYSAUCE

P. Waner, his throwing hand still bothering him, came out of the double-header with five hits, including his thirty-ninth double of the season.

Brother Paul needs only 21 more two-suckers to establish a new National League Record. Chuck Klein holds the mark. Chuck clicked with 59 doubles in 1930.

Earl Webb, playing with the Red Sox last year, established a new major league mark for two-baggers with 67. The little slugger of the Pirates has a fine chance to surpass this feat.

Klein doesn't get his homers so regularly when he leaves the handbox park of Philly. Chuck's four-sacker of yesterday was his first homer of the big tour. Chuck, nevertheless, is a great hitter, a great fielder and a great hustler.

"Wait 'till we get you in our handbox park—we'll give you the dickens there!" he shouted yesterday.

Dick was charged with tripping Tony Piet as he rounded second in the fourth inning of the second game, but it might have been an accident.

COACH REVIEWS U. S. HOPES

By LAWSON ROBERTSON

Head Coach U. S. Olympic Team.

PALO ALTO, Cal., July 20.—Any analysis of our 1932 Olympic squad proves that we should be victorious on the majority of the track and field contests, but there are many triumphs that we must concede to other nations.

Without having seen any of the foreigners who now are working out in Los Angeles or are on their way there, I feel that we are quite sure to win the sprints, the high hurdles, perhaps the 400 meters, the pole vault, the discus, shot-put and probably Ralph Metcalfe, of Marquette, will take care of both the 100 and the 200 meters championships. If he fails in one or both, Eddie Tolan, of Detroit, and George Simpson, of Columbus, are able understudies.

CARR, EASTMAN, GOOD

Bill Carr, of Penn, seems a bit better than any of the aliens we have heard about and if Bill should be off form we can depend upon Ben Eastman, of Stanford, to do mighty things over that distance. With both Carr and Eastman, I do not think we need to worry concerning the 400.

The 800 is a somewhat different proposition. Had Eastman been eligible for that contest we all could feel supremely confident. I regard Ben as the greatest half-miler in the world. That is his natural distance, but his tutors chose not to enter him and thus we are bereft of the star at 800 and must entrust our hopes in that event to men who are nowhere near Ben and may not class with the foreign champions.

The 1,500-meter race is a toss-up. If Gene Venzke had performed outdoors as he did indoors last winter he would be outstanding. But Venzke never has run outdoors in keeping with the hopes for him. Pen Hallowell ran a slashing race to win here Saturday and is a game fellow, due to improve. He may be good enough to turn back every foreign assault.

McCLUSKY CONSISTENT

Joe McCluskey has been consistently wonderful at 3,000 meters and I do not think that Europe or the Orient has any one in his class. But after that, in the marathon and the other distance races, we do not seem to have anyone comparable with the foreigners.

We are liable to defeat in the javelin, the running broad jump, the hammer throw, the hop-step-jump, the long distance walk, the decathlon and perhaps in one of the relays.

ANSWER TO QUERY

Joe, Robinson, Pa.—The rule counts,

MAE CUTNELL TO DEFEND LAURELS

Miss Mae Cutnell, of the Keystone Athletic Club, who is resting up in New York, following her competition in the Olympic trials over the last week-end, will return home in time to defend her Allegheny Mountain Association A. A. U. 220-yard senior backstroke championship in the swimming meet to be held in the Willows Pool, Oakmont, next Saturday afternoon.

Bob Renner and other male star who competed in the men's trials at Cincinnati last week, also will compete in the large field of local stars. The A. M. A. 160-yard relays for men and women, women's 220-yard back stroke and 10-foot fancy diving for men will be decided, and a card of open events also is listed, including 40-yard novice races for men and women, 120-yard free style for men and 120-yard breast stroke for women.

The event will get under way at 2:30 o'clock. William S. Haddock will be the referee and John T. Taylor starter, with Press Anderson and R. B. Bright as directors of the meet.

Entries have been received from the Willows Pool, P. A. A., Homestead Municipal Pool, Homestead Library Club, Titusville Y. M. C. A., Kennywood Athletic Club, Irene Kaufmann Settlement, Clairton High School, Butler Aquatic Club and the Uniontown Y. M. C. A.

Eddie Jacobs Star Of W.Va. Tourney

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., July 20.—(AP.)—White-clad figures flashed in the sizzling sun and tennis balls whined like bullets as hopes rose, fell in the state net championships yesterday. Southpaw Eddie Jacobs, of Baltimore, emerged from the melee with two notches in his racket.

P. A. Deck, of Washington, was first to fall before the wizardry of Jacobs in the second round of the the open today, beaten 6-1, 6-3, and Lieut. P. K. Morrill, of Riverside, Cal., was the next victim. Jacobs, who ranks 16 nationally, trounced the Westerner 6-2, 6-0.

Already hailed by the galleries as the title winner, Jacobs will go into action today against Byron Wilkinson, of Huntington, or the winner of the tilt between J. B. Pierce, Jr., of Charleston, and Hudson Hamm, of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

Knockouts Feature St. Peter's Battles

A brace of knockouts featured the amateur boxing show staged under the auspices of the St. Peter's A. C. on the North Side last night. In the 126-pound division, Jack Crass knocked out Johnny Lugar in the second round, and in the 160-pound weight, Joe Kladdick stopped Vince Hambrick in the third round. The summary:

Junior Star

WILSON F. MARKS

Son of J. L. Marks, of Kiski school, who, with his brother, Jimmy, is an entrant in the annual Western Pennsylvania junior golf championship tournament, which got under way at the South Hills Country Club today. He tied for fourth place in the first half of the qualifying round. This is a Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph picture.

MADDEN STARS IN LOCAL NET TITLE EVENT

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Semi-final frays, preceded by hold-over tussles in the brackets of eight, feature today's program of activity in the annual Western Pennsylvania Junior and Boys' net championships in progress since Monday on the clay courts of Carnegie Tech. Quarter-final affairs are listed for this morning, with penultimate contests booked for the afternoon card.

Fourteen engagements were accounted for as Chairman Hub Rinehart hustled his youthful charges through the heat of yesterday. Bob Madden, hard-driving Schenley Heights lad, continued impressive pace through the Junior bracket with straight-set victories over Ed Holstein and Frank Killmeyer to crash the quarter-final frame.

MADDEN FAVORITE

In downing Killmeyer, 6-2, 6-1, Madden eliminated the Wheeling hope who on Monday disposed of Paul Elliott, Wilkinsburg star and first seeded entry. The Schenley youngster must be rated outstanding threat for both the Junior and the Boys' crowns, for each of which he is an aspirant. He did not cavort in the 15-and-under division yesterday, but encounters Eddie Carson, the only other youth to enter the two sections, in the Boys' semi-finals today.

Bob Beltz kept Wheeling in the tournament by overwhelming Carson, 6-1, 6-1, in the junior mixing yesterday. Meanwhile Harold Mathieson, rangy Koppelite, further boosted out-of-town stock with 6-2, 6-3 victory over Bob Villa. Mathieson, seeded seventh, was joined in the quarter-finals by Ralph Bald, Bob Grier and Bob Burnett, all seeded stars.

BALD BEATS BURKE

Robert Bald, ranked atop the boys' entrants, cleared the path to the semi-finals by outstroking John Burke, 6-2, 6-3. Jerry Goodman, kid brother of Pitt's Irvin Goodman, partner of Frank Brosida in copping the Westmoreland County and Fox Chapel invitation doubles crowns the past fortnight, registered upset of the day by thumping Irwin Solow, Taylor Allderdice High midget and second seeded contender, 7-5, 6-2, to join Bald in the frame of four, Lawrence Blatt, of College avenue, likewise attained the semi-final stage, his 6-3, 6-2 verdict over Billy Villa coming as no surprise after his caring for Oliver Hurst, fourth seeded performer, the previous day. The summary:

JUNIOR SINGLES

Second round, upper half—Robert Madden defeated Ed Holstein, 6-4, 6-2; Roy Heckler defeated Charles W. Wilder III, 6-8, 6-1.

Lower half—Robert Engel won from Joseph Manning by default; Cyril Dougherty defeated Sam Singer, 6-4, 6-2; Robert Reitz defeated Edgar Carson, 6-1, 6-1; John Bald defeated John David Jones, 6-1, 6-3.

Third round, upper half—Robert Madden defeated Frank Killmeyer, 6-2, 6-1; James Magaw defeated Byron Dillon, 6-3, 6-2; Harold Mathieson, Jr., defeated Robert C. Villa, 6-2, 6-3; Robert Grier defeated Roy Heckler, 6-8, 6-3, 6-1.

BOYS' SINGLES

Third round—Robert Bald defeated John Burke, 6-2, 6-3; Lawrence Blatt defeated William Villa, 6-3, 6-2; Jerry Goodman defeated Irwin Solow, 7-5, 6-2.

Chuck Klein Scores on His Homer

PHILLY SLUGGER ARRIVES IN CLOUD OF DUST AT THE PLATE ON HIS HOMER

This home run by Chuck Klein, mighty clouter of the Phillies, to the flagpole in the fifth inning of the second game with the Pirates at Forbes Field yesterday, enabled the Quakers to stay in the battle and win out in the eleventh inning. This is a Sun-Telegraph picture.

BOXING BITS FOR FANS

By HARRY KECK

Sports Editor

With tonight's show at Greenlee Field called off because of the reported injury of Natie Brown in training, preventing the Washington (D.C.) heavyweight from meeting Billy Jones in the main bout, there is a lull in the local boxing situation.

Leon Jendrasiak

But there is no lack of boxing chatter.

For instance, Jim O'Grady wants to know why the promoters can't dig up someone to fight his Leon Jendrasiak, Grand Rapids 126-pound southpaw, who has been training faithfully for several weeks, along with his stablemate, Johnny Allen, a lightweight, former Middle States amateur champion, who boxed Wesley Ramey as a simonpure.

SENSATIONAL BOXER

Jendrasiak fought two sensational battles with Steve Senich and one with U. S. Carpentier during a previous visit here and will take on anyone up to 135 pounds. According to Manager O'Grady, Battling Gizzy turned him down for a match, and so did Jimmy Thomas. He'll let Leon fight anybody, including Frankie Wallace, Mose Butch or any of the highly considered talent known to the fans. For Allen, he'd like to get a crack at Patsy Hennigan, Johnny Hazel, Mickey O'Brien or Don Asto.

Between Rounds

Frank Klaus, former middleweight champion, is on the warpath on behalf of his Joey Speigel, Uniontown southpaw welterweight, who has just gone under his management. Says he'll let him fight Johnny Hayes, Marty Gornick, Davy Grove or any of the other welters. He also has Jimmy Belmont ready again, and says how about another battle for him with Tiger Joe Randall or Ted Yarosz?

Tony Marino, Duquesne flyweight, is just getting over an attack of poison ivy and will teardrop at Atlantic City with his manager, Reed Brown, before boxing again. They hope to get some bouts in the East. Hal Finney, Brown's Negro welterweight, wants a bout with Max Elling or any of the others.

Marty McHale, junior-welterweight, of McKeesport, who has boxed Larry Madge, Ted Yarosz, Tex Takila, Sammy O'Dell, Billy Holt, Johnny Cooper, Young Rudy, Tiger Joe Randall, Jimmy Belmont and Pee Wee Jarrell during the past year, wonders why the promoters are passing him up.

The Meyers Bowl drew only a little more than $1,000 for its reopening show last Monday night, but is working on another bill for next Monday. Promoter Appies Meyers feels that the long shutdown had a lot to do with the poor gate.

Rickey Park, in Millvale, is all set for its show tomorrow night, in the main bout of which Ted Yarosz trots out against Lope Tenorio, the Filipino, who has fort the best and at one time was a top-ranking lightweight.

Marty Gornick came out of his bout with Johnny Hayes at the Bowl Monday night, with both hands bruised and will have to take a layoff for a spell. Charley Baxter also hurt his dukes in stopping Sammy Dorfman at Greenlee Field, last Wednesday night, and has gone to his old home in Columbus, O., until they mend.

Jack (Kid) Berg wins over Kid Chocolate and Johnny Jadich defends his world junior-welterweight championship against Tony Canzoneri, the lightweight king, the same night, but both decisions are protested by the fans. Plenty of food there to gossip about.

team get under way in San Francisco tonight, under the sponsorship of the San Francisco Examiner, a Hearst newspaper, which has guaranteed the expenses of the show, which continues through tomorrow and Saturday, with the survivors for the finals resting up on Friday.

Boxers from this section in the Olympic trials include Johnny Birek, of the Pittsburgh Lyceum; Charley Crovatto, of Uniontown; Al Lewis and Pete D'Allesandro, Washington, Pa.; Dominick Bufalino, Ambridge, and Dave Stoop, of Altoona. Penn State's national collegiate bantamweight champion. A field of 101 boxers will vie for places on the team.

This is the night Primo Carnera meets Jack Gross, of Philadelphia, in a return bout at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn. Jimmy Reed, formerly of Erie, now of Washington, D. C., boxes Phil Raymond, of Baltimore, at Laurel, Md.

Sam Rice Honored By Senator Fans

WASHINGTON, July 20.—(AP.)—Sam Rice, who has been with the Senators 17 years, is willing to vouch for the fact that there still is sentiment in baseball.

Yesterday was "Sam Rice Day" out at the American League ball park. Besides the tributes, Sam was to get all ticket receipts above the usual 5,000 Tuesday crowd.

But when tabulators finished their work, they found only 5,093 customers. President Clark Griffith, of the Nationals, telephoned President Frank Navin, of the Tigers, with the result that they decided the usual Tuesday crowd this time should be considered 3,000.

Besides that, the Washington outfielder hit .400 for the day, got a congratulatory message from President Hoover, a couple of silver service sets, a wrist watch, a set of golf clubs, an oil portrait of himself, an automobile, flowers, a loving cup, the ball he hit for his first single of the day, an electric clock, and a set of wicker furniture.

STOCKS HIGHER ON STRENGTH IN BONDS

NEW YORK, July 20.—(AP.)—The advance in the stock market was quietly resumed today, as traders took courage from the continued steadiness of the bond market and the quiet drying up of liquidation in shares which appeared Monday.

The turnover in shares remained small, but shorts seeking to retire their commitments found nearby offerings scarce, and prices quickly rose a point or more in several of the leaders. There was some recession from the best in the middle of the day, but the list stiffened again in the early afternoon.

Shares rising a point or more included such issues as American Can, American Telephone, Allied Chemical, Consolidated Gas, Borden, Case, American Tobacco B, Liggett and Myers B, Brooklyn Manhattan, Public Service of New Jersey, Auburn, Santa Fe and Union Pacific. United States Steel was up a fraction. Penney and McKeesport were isolated soft spots, off more than a point.

The meeting of the Railway Executives' Association to discuss measures to ameliorate the situation of the carriers was watched with considerable interest. While most quarters felt that only a substantial pickup in traffic will serve to put the roads generally on a paying basis, it is acknowledged that much may be done in the way of economies, both individually and co-operatively. The Illinois Central has been pointed to as an indication of what roads can do individually. Its net for the first half of the year actually showed a gain of about $1,000,000 over the like period of last year.

The midweek business statistics were somewhat mixed in tenor. Sentiment seems to have improved somewhat in the steel industry, although little in the way of substantial quickening of operations is expected for some weeks. The Youngstown area, however, has shown some gain at the middle of the week, as result of resumptions by some plants which had been awaiting an accumulation of orders. Quick fluctuations in the rate of activity tend to increase steel making costs.

The report of electric power production for the week ended July 16 was somewhat disappointing, showing a reduction from the week of last year of 13.9 per cent, the sharpest drop thus far. There was some gain over the previous week, however, which included the July 4 holiday. The reduction from last year shown by the preceding two weeks, taken together because the holiday came in an earlier comparable week last year, was 12.8 per cent. Petroleum statistics showed that the drop in Oklahoma crude output last week had been offset by gains elsewhere, notably California, so that output in the aggregate was barely changed.

CORPORATE EARNINGS

General Electric Company reports for six months ended June 30, 1932, net profit of $8,940,701 after depreciation, interest, reserves, federal taxes, etc., equivalent after dividends on special stock, to 27 cents a share on 28,845,927 no-par shares of common stock. This compares with $22,811,127 or 78 cents a share in first half of 1931. For quarter ended June 30, 1932, net profit was $3,788,278 after charges and taxes, equal to 11 cents a share comparing with $8,152,423 or 28 cents a share in preceding quarter, and $11,323,139 or 37 cents a share in June quarter of previous year. Orders received in first half of 1932 amounted $67,712 comparing with $151,428,978 in first half of previous year. For quarter ended June 30, last, orders received were $35,304,070, against $33,404,642 in preceding quarter and $81,062,681 in second quarter of 1931.

POLITICS AGAIN PASSES BUCK TO BUSINESS

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
Universal Service

NEW YORK, July 20.—With Congress adjourned, politics has again passed the buck to business in the matter of economic recovery.

The superficial will derive temporary stimulus from the mere fact that our national legislators have gone home, but in the last analysis that negative fact will not of itself add to the earning power of business corporations. This axiom was emphasized in 1931 as business became progressively worse in the months while Congress happened to be out of session.

Mr. Rukeyser

To the nonpolitical analyst this last session of Congress was representative of the muddleheaded and chaotic thinking which brought on the collapse. But this fact scarcely warrants derision of Congress by business executives, who are at least jointly responsible for the lack of a civilized business economy.

SLUMP PROLONGED

Take the highly unscientific tax law, for example. Instead of patriotically organizing to encourage sound tax legislation in the interest of restoring prosperity, business weakened its voice by degenerating into an unco-ordinated group of selfish lobbies, each of which in effect advised the national legislature to let them alone but tax the other fellow.

By such unenlightened selfishness, business paved the way for the ridiculous "soak the rich" outbreak, which gave the tone to the new hodge-podge tax legislation, which deepened and prolonged the depression. The merchants raised their voice against a moderate sales tax and received instead burdensome and destructive nuisance taxes leveled against unfavored commodities. The result was disturbance to the channels of distribution. In Mississippi, which is pioneering with the sales tax, the legislation was effected against the almost unanimous protest of shopkeepers. Now that the law is operating successfully there, most of the merchants recognize that their intense opposition was not warranted.

In making its calculations, business has been puzzled by the disparity between the verbal expressions of politicians and the nature of actual legislation. This has been exemplified by the talk of economy on the one hand, and the computed actual increase in appropriations by the Seventy-second Congress of $558,000,000 on the other.

This Congress appropriated more than in any previous peacetime year largely because of the large amount of emergency legislation providing for relief of financial institutions, agriculture and veterans.

As a matter of fact, the nine regular departments' appropriation bills carried $316,069,000 less than in the previous session. With two years of deficits, interest charges on the debt mounted substantially.

Fortunately during the boom, more than $9,000,000,000 of federal debt was retired. If the states, counties and municipalities had done likewise, instead of greatly increasing their debt during the boom, the country would be in magnificent condition to increase indebtedness boldly during the period of stagnation to stabilize employment conditions through vast public works projects.

BACKLOGS GROW

In the light of the financial history of the last decade, the main burden for following such an enlightened policy falls on the federal government. The actual new appropriation in the new relief measure for direct public works is ridiculously small in the light of the economic need—$332,000,000, of which $190,000,000 may be deferred at the discretion of the Secretary of the Treasury. There is also some possibility of desirable emergency construction under another section which authorizes the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to borrow an additional $1,500,000,000 to lend to public or semi-public institutions for self-liquidating construction work or to private corporations for the same kind of projects of a public nature.

The practical significance of this clause will depend on its administration. It is no secret that the management of the corporation has felt right along that it was a mistake to forbid it to make loans to finance new construction, which entails additional employment. Heretofore it could make such loans only to finish construction already under way.

The advance to the Pennsylvania Railroad to finish electrification projects was a loan of this character. Such job-giving construction loans add to the real wealth of the country and are the most justifiable which the corporation has made, being vastly sounder than the questionable loans for bailing out bankers and for socializing losses in connection with frozen assets.

The timid character of relief legislation, especially in regard to public works, passes the buck to businessmen, who will, however, be aided by the credit expansion policy of the Federal Reserve System and by the currency expansion authorized in the new Glass alternative to the Goldsborough bill. Meantime the accumulation of shortages and the wearing out of supplies and equipment are doing more to build up demand than the inventions of politicians.

Help Workers by Expediting Rail Mergers

—By B. C. FORBES—

WILL THE Interstate Commerce Commission please expedite its pending sanctioning of four mammoth Eastern railway mergers?

Mr. Forbes

All indications have been that the commission intends to authorize this important step toward consummation of the transportation act of 1920. But, like most tax-paid bodies, it rarely acts with businesslike dispatch.

An immediate decision would enable the four systems, New York Central, Baltimore and Ohio, Pennsylvania, Chesapeake and Ohio, to start readjustment steps which would provide direly-needed employment. To knit together the different lines to be embraced in each system will involve the expenditure of scores of millions of dollars.

What better use could the Reconstruction Finance Corporation find for funds than legitimate lending to the country's principal railway systems for the purpose of integrating them into more efficient transportation machines, seeing that integrating would give work to many thousands now idle, at no cost, ultimately, to taxpayers?

All agree that giving work is preferable to giving a dole—true-blue American don't want doles, they want to maintain their self-respect by earning their living. Therefore, several timely worthy objectives could be reached by sanctioning now and promptly setting in motion admittedly desirable, but unconscionably delayed Eastern railway combinations.

Interstate Commerce Commissioners, won't you please cease dawdling and permit the launching of action right away?

A NUMBER of my friends identified with small business concerns say there has been a welcome pickup in activity this month.

TRANSPORTATION IS the measure of a nation's civilization. The most backward countries have the most backward facilities for moving man and merchandise from one place to another, the most progressive countries have the best.

The American-Canadian agreement to connect the Great Lakes with the sea is epochal. The United States already has the greatest network of railways in the world, the greatest mileage of excellent roads, the most extensive freight and passenger motor vehicle routes in active operation. The largest air transportation enterprise in the world is also here.

Linking to the sea, the vast territory serviceable from the great lakes will incalculably enlarge and improve the country's transportation facilities. What the Panama Canal has done for the Pacific Coast in stimulating its commerce with the populous Atlantic seaboard will be done for an enormous area along our northern tier of states.

It is earnestly to be hoped that politics will not prevent making the dirt—actual dirt—fly without avoidable delay. The far-flung project will furnish much employment. An early start would not only reduce unemployment, but would mean economical construction, since costs of all kinds now are low.

Begin excavation!

FRANCE REPORTS more unemployment. The signs are that here long period of immunity from economic and financial troubles is nearing an end.

INSTEAD OF combatting conditions by vigorous, aggressive, constructive advertising, some leading banking institutions in New York and in other large cities have shown the white feather. How refreshing, by contrast, is the policy which is being consistently pursued by the Alamo National Bank of San Antonio. Here is a typical example of the advertisements it publishes regularly and prominently in the local newspapers:

BUILDING BUSINESS

"Because the flow of business is directly dependent upon the availability of legitimate short term bank credit, this bank is safely employing its funds in the extension of such credits as will assure the business progress of its commercial depositors.

"It is the belief of the Alamo National Bank that such a policy is essential to the unhampered conduct of business and that its beneficial effects will be reflected throughout the community."

That spirit, energetically exercised all over the land, would start the nation on its overdue upward march.

Lynn Is Disappointed When She Fails to Hear From Tom on Holiday

CHAPTER XXXVI.

Many things were not yet clear to Sarah, but a nebulous theory was forming in her mind. That night she went to Lynn's apartment and found her consuming bread and milk and cocoa before rushing off to a class.

"Sit down," invited Lynn. "I'm almost through."

"No. Lynn, please tell me the truth this time. Did Tom know about this merger proposition a long time ago and did he speak to you about it? Did you disapprove of his attitude?"

"Sarah, what am I to think?" She flung her hands out. "The rumor; the stock buying; Tom's new job; his new car. He has broken his word."

"Are you sure?"

"He hasn't been near me since I accused him of it." Her lips shook.

Sarah went back upstairs. Lynn had spoken to David Dwight of this last summer. Dwight knew. It was possible Dwight might be in a position to know more, to know definitely that Tom Shepard had broken his word.

But what was more important to Sarah was that Dwight had told her that he was absolved from his.

Downstairs, Lynn was putting on her hat and coat. How Sarah had come by her information she did not know. Possibly Mr. Norton had been talking to her. The telephone rang. Tom? She ran to the instrument.

"Lynn? This is David Dwight."

ASKED TO DINNER

She said, after a moment, "How on earth did you get my number? It isn't in the book."

"I saw Sarah today," he answered.

That was odd. Sarah had not spoken of him, yet she had given Dwight her telephone number. Lynn dismissed it from her mind. As a matter of fact, the telephone number, neatly typed, had been in plain view on a card of numbers lying on Sarah's desk. Dwight remembered numbers.

He said, now, "I've missed you. Will you have dinner with me tomorrow night?"

There is a curious little road house not very far from Yonkers. It has an "authentic," romantic setting, and is perched on a cliff overlooking a deep ravine from which the spruce trees aspire, very tall, with dark, straight trunks. The inn itself is bright, evenings, with Japanese lanterns, and is run by two gentlemen from the Orient. But if you wish it, good American and better French food is served there, and of recent years, the Cherry Blossom has found it expedient to engage one of the best colored orchestras in Manhattan.

For a long time not so very many people knew about the Cherry Blossom. Lately, however, the entertaining U. B. C., always hunting for excellent sustaining programs, placed a semipermanent installation in the roadhouse and on divers nights brought the turgid or violent music made by the possible descendants of African kings into the homes of what is optimistically termed "millions of listeners."

LYNN MISUNDERSTANDS

In this inn the long arm of remote control reached out and touched Lynn, figurately speaking, on the shoulder.

Dwight had taken her there the evening of their reunion. He had been very amiable that evening, and Lynn had accused him of vast arrears of attention.

"It wasn't altogether my fault, and not my inclination, Sarah"— he raised a whimsical eyebrow — "Sarah, poor dear, warned me that I was rushing in where Shepards feared to tread. Nice Christmas metaphor, that."

Lynn said unsmilingly, "she needn't have bothered. That's —over, you know."

"No, I didn't know. I'm sorry. No, that's a lie. I'm not sorry. But if you're unhappy, Lynn, then I must be sorry."

"It's hard. I—please don't talk about it," she said, vainly trying to control her lips. "Let's dance, shall we?"

Later, driving her home, he said, "Christmas won't be so very merry this year, will it? Suppose we celebrate together. I'm lonely, too."

"You, lonely!"

She thought he spoke of his broken home, his children; she touched his hand and said, "I do understand." She didn't, of course.

VISITS JENNIE

After a moment he drew his hand gently away. He had to, or crash to the ground the delicate structure of confidence he was assisting her to build.

"You're a darling," he said lightly. But he had not thought of his flat-footed, flat-chested wife or of his ungainly youngsters. At Christmas time he dismissed the latter from his mind by opening his check book.

"I have to have Christmas dinner with Sarah in the middle of the day," she told him.

"Then give me the evening. We'll be very foolish. We'll do all sorts of absurd things. Is it a bargain?"

It was a bargain. She made her excuses to Sarah, not very well. Sarah commented only, "I hoped you'd stay with us."

"I promised—someone," Lynn told her.

Afterward she wondered why she had not told her all the truth. But at the moment she could not. Sarah wouldn't approve; Sarah, moreover, had been interfering, just as Jennie had said she would.

Jennie sent perfume for Christmas, a great box of it, tied with red ribbon. "Good Luck," read the card, "and happy days. Come see me on Christmas if you can."

That meant that the mysterious Jake was at home with his people. Lynn took a bus early Christmas morning and went to Jennie's. Jennie, in a negligee, opened the door to her friend. "Gave my smoke the day off," she explained.

Jennie had trimmed a Christmas tree. She displayed Jake's gifts—an ermine wrap, stockings by the dozen, a wrist watch, candy, flowers, fruit. "He's a good egg," she admitted, yawning.

IS BORED

The apartment was just as you'd think it might be; long-legged dolls and frilly cushions; lots of furniture; the best radio money may buy. Jennie, in lace and chiffon, trailed about the place, dissatisfied.

"Has Tom said anything about Slim?" she asked.

"Not very much." Lynn answered carefully. "I—I haven't been seeing much of Tom lately."

Jennie nodded. "So I gathered from what Slim said." She pointed to a little package clumsily tied in red paper. "That's what he sent me," she told Lynn. A pair of gloves—wrong size; some handkerchiefs; a funny little pin fashioned in the shape of a perky Scottie, and a Christmas card. "Sorter sweet," said Jennie, low. But in a moment, as Lynn laid the things back in their box, "Drink?" asked Jennie, moving toward the cellaret.

"Heavens, no! At this hour of the morning? Jennie, you're not going to——?"

"Believe it or not, I am! Look here, Lynn, I'm bored to blazes. I even look forward to going to work," Jennie admitted.

The long blue eyes were tired. The wheaten hair had lost some of its luster. She was thinner than ever, a little haggard.

JENNIE LONELY

Lynn stiffened. "No. It's over and done with, that's all."

"Darned shame." Jennie stared at her, at the angry, hurt gray eyes. "Well it's not my business," she conceded. "Sometimes I think it's a mistake for two saps to love each other a lot. What do you get out of it? Precious little pleasure for the rest of the trouble you have to wade through." Her eyes were moody.

Lynn asked quickly, trying to divert here from the subject of Tom and herself, "Is it Slim, Jennie?"

"Yeah. Darn him, anyway," Jennie said, without anger, "with his long legs and his eyes like a hungry kid's and his coat sleeves that are always a couple of inches too short. I could laugh him off before, when I was on my own, free. That's funny, isn't it? But now, hanging around this dump, alone nights — lonely, it's different. I've got to watch my step," she added somberly.

Lynn left her presently. Standing at the door, Jennie said:

"Wish you wouldn't go. I'll stick around here, go out to dinner, come home and wait for a long-distance call—not that it matters. Lynn, what do you do with yourself now that Tom—"

Lynn said, "I have my work up at Columbia. I see Sarah a lot. Lately, David Dwight has been taking me out. We've been to a funny little place out of town, the Cherry Blossom."

"Yeah, I know it. I saw you there once."

"You did?" Lynn stared. "Why didn't you come over and speak to us?"

"Fat chance! Lynn, you are a kid! I was with—oh, a gang. We had a private room. Do you think I wanted to let you know I was there so you could help carry me out?"

"Jennie!"

"Run along and eat your turkey," said Jennie, and gave her a gentle push, "and don't fret about me. I'm oke—everything is Jake. That's pretty good, isn't it? That hands me a laugh!"

She was still laughing, lonely, forlorn laughter, as Lynn closed the door.

Christmas with Sarah was a falsely merry affair; a small tree and presents, and a heavy dinner; not much conversation. There was an empty place at the table. Lynn saw it; Sarah saw it.

Afterwards she was glad to escape. Dwight sent the car for her and it took her directly to the penthouse. She went upstairs, wondering a little, not at the unconventionality of her visit, but at what he had in store for her. She had been like a child always, greedy for a surprise, for a secret, and she was wondering if she could recapture that. She thought not.

Christmas Day. Tom had not even phoned. But flowers had come, without a card. Could it be possible—

Where was he?

He was in Childs' with Hank, gnawing upon a turkey bone. Later he would be back at the studio, working savagely to insure the success of a new sponsored program.

Dwight asked: "Did my flowers come?"

Lynn thanked him, sick with disappointment. She might have known.

"Are you warmly dressed?"

"You told me to be."

"Go upstairs," he said, "and look in the bedroom. But not now. Look at your stocking first."

It was of wool; it dangled from the fireplace. She took it down and opened it under his amused and eager eyes. Perfume, lipstick—a gold one, a little set of gold bangles, soap, handkerchiefs.

"How—dear!" she said sincerely. But her eyes were absent. Why hadn't he sent his card with the flowers? She'd rather have known at once than hoped—and prayed.

"Look at your stocking first," said Dwight.

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS JUNIOR KOMIC CLUB

Community singing by all the members who attended the regular meetings of the Schenley Chapter of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club, was resumed Saturday. This feature which proved so popular with the members was discontinued more than a month ago when the organ went out of order, but Manager Harry Thomas has had the organ put into first-class condition and the members exercised their vocal cords to their hearts' content Saturday.

Every member of the South Hills Chapter who attended the meeting Saturday received a catch ball through the courtesy of Ken Hoel. These toys proved very fascinating to the youngsters.

RECORDS BROKEN

The Kenyon Chapter, North Side, broke all attendance records Saturday when more than 500 youngsters attended the meeting. Paul Miller, usher, acted as master of ceremonies and he was assisted by Freddy Rose at the organ, Wilma Kidel, Sara Atwell and Ruth Stahl entertained the members with several songs, while Hazel Fretz danced her way right into the hearts of the audience.

Miss Elizabeth Wolfe, mistress of ceremonies at the Ambridge Chapter, called the meeting to order and then called all the members who celebrated birthdays during the past week to the stage and presented each with a birthday cake. Following this she introduced the following acts to the youngsters, Jane Smith and Marie Simon, in an acrobatic dance; Francis Gentis, tap dance; Helen Druzisky sang 'Let Me Call You Sweetheart"; Mary Pass offered a difficult acrobatic tap; Elizabeth Wolfe, mistress of ceremonies, did a tap dance for the youngsters that brought rounds of applause. The stage show was closed by Jane Smith, Mary Simon, Frances Gentis and Dorothy Mann in a novelty number entitled "Spanish Dance."

At the Manor, Manager Joe Blowitz turned the meeting over to his assistant, Paul Shannon, who opened the meeting with the recitation of the club pledge. The members were then introduced to Helen May Johns, Harold Davis, Leonard Pischler, Hohn McGreary, Herbert Shubin, Milton Pinsky, Gerson Pearlomon, Jack Goldstein and Roberta Bloom, who are members of the Manor Chapter of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club appearing in the all-talking, all-Pittsburgh "Kiddie" comedy being made by Warner Brothers. The meeting was closed by the Boy Scouts of America flag ritual.

If you are not a member of the Sun-Telegraph - Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club, send your name and address, name of your parents, date and year of your birth, school you attend, to the Secretary, Junior Komic Club, Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa., and a membership card and button will be mailed you.

ONWARD AND UPWARD, or Close the Book Stores and Save the Publishers

News Item—Book dealers in the United States should decline to sell volumes which would not benefit the morals of the reader, according to Orion Howard Chaney, director, of the economic survey of the National Association of Book Publishers.

Conversation in a book shop:

CUSTOMER: Have you "Twice a Virgin," Mister? I thought I would like to buy it, maybe.

DEALER: Well, yes. I believe we have the book. How have you been behaving? You lead a pretty fast life, I presume?

CUSTOMER: Oh, no!

DEALER: No? But, of course, you get a little gay once in a while—just for relaxation, let us say. Oh, nothing vicious, of course. But we're all human, after all. It's only reasonable to suppose you have some little pecadilloes.

CUSTOMER: No, I'm afraid not. Really, I sometimes wonder if it's quite right for me to be this way.

DEALER: Ah, then you have suppressed desires. You're just seething torments within—

CUSTOMER: No; I just wonder.

DEALER: Well, sir, I'm very sorry. But I'm afraid we can't quite see our way clear to letting you have this book. I see no possibility whatever of it benefiting your morals.

CUSTOMER: Oh! Well, I guess I'll be going then.

DEALER: However, if you really want to read the book and are willing to co-operate, we might be able to arrange it. If you could become a bit more . . . ah, normal, let us say.

CUSTOMER: You mean if I wasn't so good you might let me buy "Twice a Virgin?"

DEALER: Exactly. The book isn't really bad, and if you could change a little it might lead you to a better and more normal way of life.

CUSTOMER: Well, I'll think it over.

DEALER: That's fine. Fine! Now maybe you'd like to make a small deposit so we could save a copy for you. They're going pretty fast, you know.

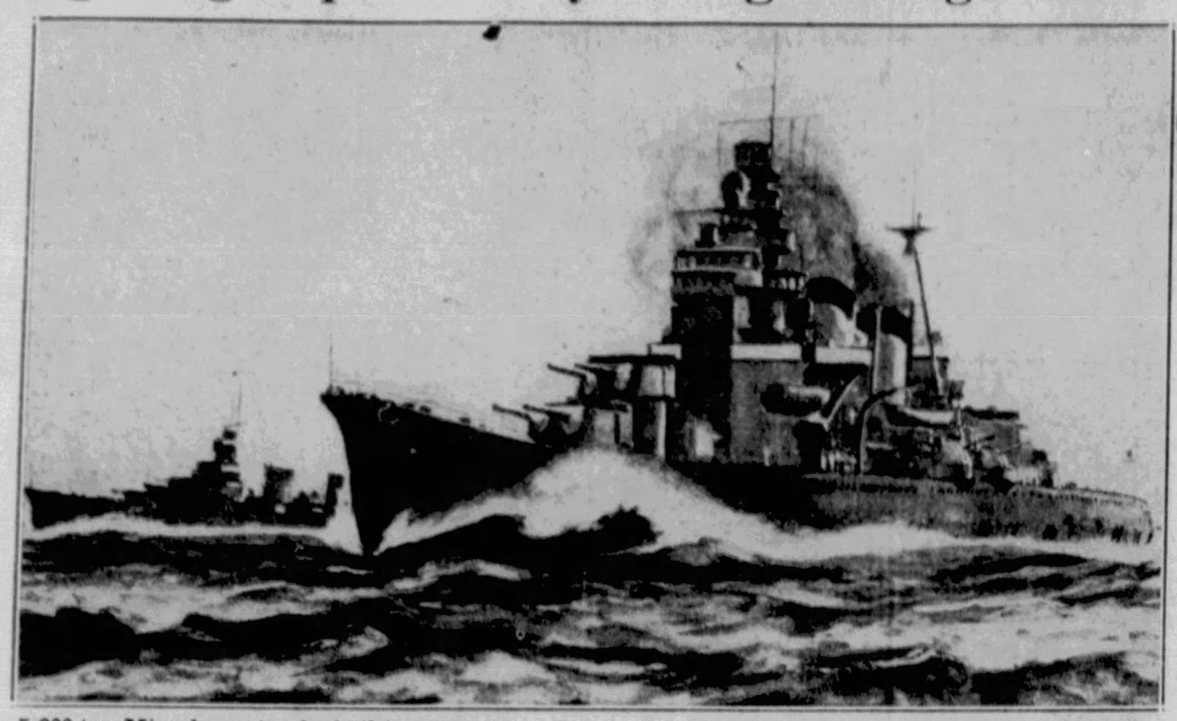
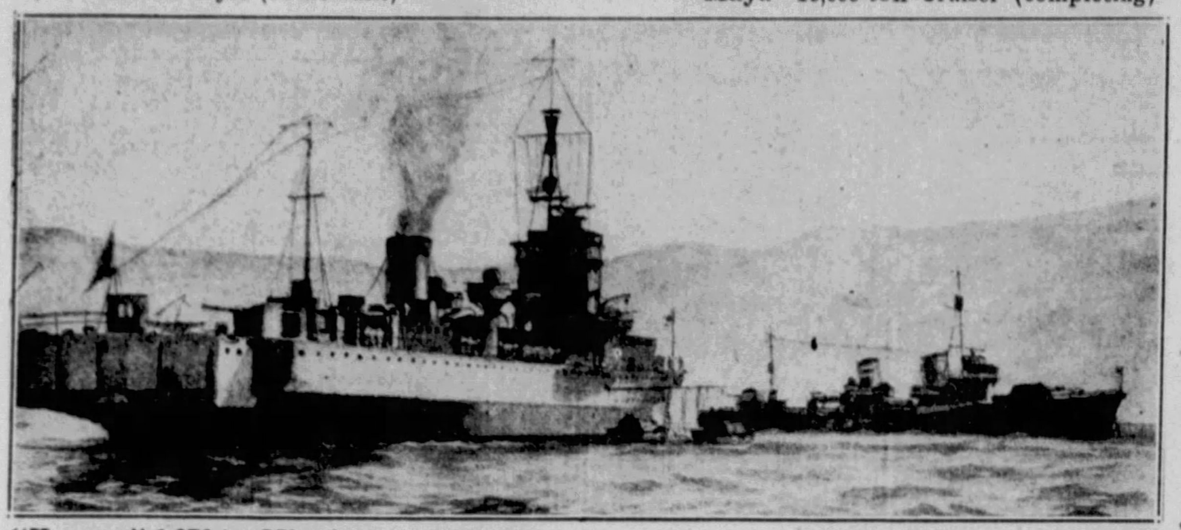
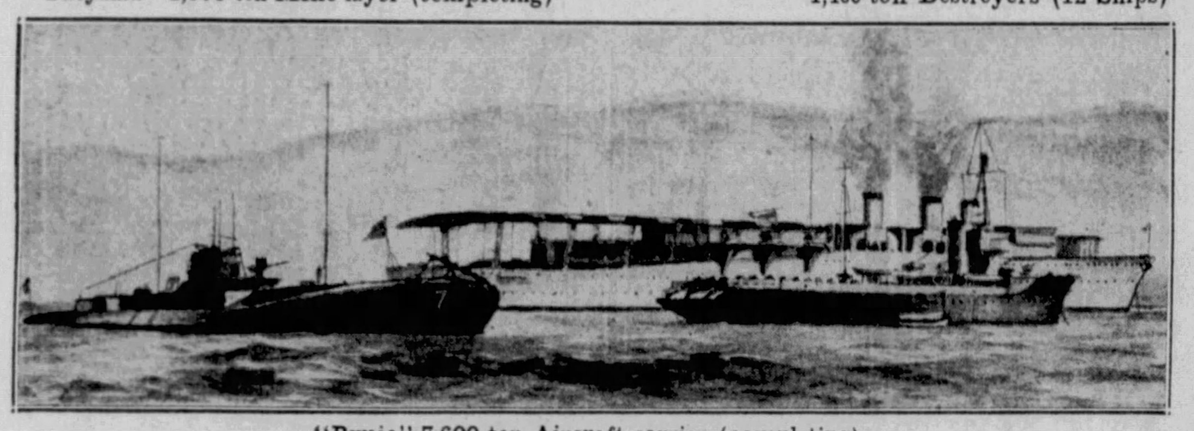
Fighting Depression by Strengthening Defense



5,000-ton Mine-layer (to be built) "Maya" 10,000-ton Cruiser (completing)



"Yaeyama" 1,970-ton Mine-layer (completing) 1,400-ton Destroyers (12 Ships)



"Ryujo" 7,600-ton Aircraft-carrier (completing)

5 Submarines 1,638 tons (completing)
1 Submarine 1,970 tons (completing)
6 Submarines 1,300 tons (to be built)

2 Submarines 900 tons (to be built)

8,600-ton Cruiser (1 building; 3 others projected)

Under the Naval Treaty, Japan is allowed 12 10,000-ton cruisers, and all except the "Maya" are completed. She will carry 10 8-inch and four 4.7-inch guns, and steam 32 knots, three turrets are grouped on the forecastle and two aft, and the great bridge mast structure is as imposing as that in the British cruiser "Nelson."

The new Japanese 8,600-ton cruiser will carry five triple turrets mounting 15 5.5-inch or 6-inch guns. Four of these ships are to be built, but only one has yet been laid down.

The curious stern of the "Yaeyama" accommodates six mine-dropping ports and she will carry 250 large or 500 small mines. A large mine layer of 5,000 tons is to be built and also three small 600-ton layers and three sweepers.

Various Japanese ships are due for a scrapping in a few years. Japan does not propose to retain older ships beyond their time, as we shall have to do.

Japan Fortifying

That Nation Combats Depression by Providing Work in Shipyards While We Lag Behind.

Like the United States, Japan is hard hit by the world depression.

Unlike the United States, however, Japan is not jeopardizing her national security by failing to build up her navy to treaty strength.

As a naval development of imperative interest to the so-called disarmament conference now in session at Geneva, the Illustrated London News recently published the drawings reproduced in the adjoining columns of some new and powerful additions to the Japanese fleet.

Four 10,000-ton cruisers, two of which were supposed to have been completed within the first half of this year.

Two six-inch gun cruisers of 8,500 tons each.

In addition to ships actually under construction, Japan has already appropriated for ALL THE TONNAGE ALLOWED HER NAVY UNDER THE LONDON TREATY except four destroyers and one aircraft carrier.

Provided Japan completes her present program, AS SHE SHOWS EVERY INTENTION OF DOING AS RAPIDLY AS POSSIBLE, it will be necessary for the United States, in order to attain even equality with Japan, in each category of ships in which this country is now deficient, to build EIGHTY SHIPS totaling 138,816 tons.

And in order to maintain the 5-3 ratio with Japan, which was the policy laid down at the Washington Naval Conference, the United States must build ONE HUNDRED TWELVE SHIPS of 253,380 tons.

Aside from capital ships, as to the replacement of which a naval holiday has been declared for the life of the London Naval Treaty, the United States has today LESS THAN 70 PER CENT OF OUR TREATY QUOTA of under-age treaty warships built and building.

Japan, however, has about 101 PER CENT of her quota of such ships built and building.

Furthermore, the American-Japanese aggregate tonnage ratios for these fleets of auxiliaries are now about 10.0--10.0 instead of 10.0—6.9 contemplated by the London treaty.

Senator Hale, of Maine, Republican chairman of the Committee on Naval Affairs, recently revealed officially the astounding figures upon which these comparisons are based.

Instead of building up to the quota allowed us under the London Naval Treaty, the United States, from the day the Hoover administration entered power, has neglected to build up to treaty strength with the result that our Navy is falling farther and farther behind every day the navies of Great Britain and Japan.

Japan is combatting the depression by PROVIDING EMPLOYMENT for her people in the shipyards, which are building the ships that will soon give Japan a navy more powerful than that of the United States.

The United States, with 10,000,000 men out of work, and most of our shipyards idle, and our Navy far below treaty strength, REFUSES TO PROVIDE EMPLOYMENT FOR HER UNEMPLOYED, and refuses to build up her Navy to treaty strength because the Hoover administration insists upon FINANCING THE FINANCIERS AT HOME, and THRUSTING A MORATORIUM UPON OUR WAR DEBTORS ABROAD.

If hard times have not prevented Japan from building up her navy, and giving employment to her unemployed, what hypocrisy it is to pretend that the United States is too poor to do likewise.

Federal Aid Needed

Gov. Pinchot's Prompt Appeal Justified By Plight of Jobless.

Gov. Pinchot's appeal for $45,000,000 in relief funds from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation is fully justified by the plight of Pennsylvania's 1,150,000 jobless persons.

The Legislature undoubtedly will produce some funds for relief purposes before the present special session comes to an end but the resources which can be drawn upon are slim. The plight of the state's rural districts would make increased taxation, except in certain limited forms, an almost unthinkable burden. There is no doubt about the fact that some economies can be made in the operation of the state government but it is doubtful if all the anticipated savings in the proposed cuts in appropriations will materialize. In some cases they will compel the discharge of state employes and will increase the jobless problem. In other cases, as has been pointed out by the Governor, they will actually cause a drop in state revenues.

Pennsylvania is constitutionally prevented from issuing bonds in excess of $1,000,000 without a constitutional amendment which could not be made effective until the latter part of 1933. Similar restrictions bar the adoption of an income tax.

Must Qualify to Vote

Dates for Assessment, Tax Payment and Registration Important to Keep In Mind.

Ere long, it is to be assumed, many people will be "all het up" over politics. They represent what the stump speaker calls the "sovereign American voter." But no person is a voter in our commonwealth until he has qualified for the right of suffrage. Preliminaries are essential, and neglect of these often prevent some who are fervent spouters during campaign periods from registering their sentiment at the only place it counts—the polls.

Here are some dates to paste in your hat:

September 7—Last day to be assessed.

September 8 and 20 and October 8—Days for registration in places where personal registration is necessary—that is, the cities. October 8 also is the last day to pay poll tax.

September 6 and 7—Register assessors in boroughs and townships will sit in polling places to register citizens who may have been overlooked.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

The Morning

The Morning put her hands on me,
The Morning said: "Be gay,
For every leaf on every tree
Is dancing with the day.
And every bird on every bough
Is caroling and glad!"
The Morning kissed me on the brow.
How could my heart be sad?

The Morning poured her sparkling wine
Into my every vein;
She set her golden sun to shine
Across the world again.
The Morning laughed with artless mirth
And sang aloud in glee:
She gave her joy to all the earth,
She shared her bliss with me!

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

Some wives are insistent that meals be served at the same hour each day.

And, if a certain time has been agreed upon, the routine should be observed.

But there are times when a husband should be forgiven for his failure to conform to the general rule, especially when he has given ample notice that he may be late.

If his tardiness is the result of important business matters he should receive some consideration.

But if violation of the meal routine is caused by the time he spends in some line of amusement he should be a good sport enough to take what is easily prepared.

But even though some men are willing to wait on themselves or eat what they can find in the refrigerator or on the pantry shelf, certain wives are always irritated when they fail to appear at the appointed meal time.

There would be fewer disturbances in homes if both husbands and wives were more fair in their requirements as to time and kind of meals.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, July 20.—Ten-cents-a-dance ladies have come into sudden competition with the chorus girl in attracting the Johns. Heretofore, the taxi dancer received attention chiefly from the hard-boiled young sports of the tracks and basement counters. She was a gum-chewing "dese" and "doser."

But Tin Pin Alley glorified her in a popular lament. Short stories, a film and a novel coupled with the stage play, "Child of Manhattan," added to her fame. And then a youth of social Register parentage quit college and eloped with a platinum member of the guild.

Gold Coast slummers in tall hats begin to drop in "to spiel with a twist." The depression, too, inspired a change in personnel by recruiting beautiful girls temporarily unable to find employment on the stage or as mannikins in the dressmaking establishments.

Today, some unusually attractive hostesses are dancing with all comers in various temples clustering about the Tenderloin. The perilously haphazard clip-joints feature the brazen huzzies but there are a number of places on the square.

A visiting noble is reputed to have left a cigaret case, jeweled in Kimberlite, as a token of his admiration for a ravishing brunette he met in one of the halls. Proprietors have 50 applications for every job and the number of terpsichorean temples has tripled during the year.

That literary rebel, Ben De Casseres' new one-man magazine, is to be a song of self in which De Casseres will mirror his own personality—his angers, devotions and guffaws. The spirit of the periodical is to be forecast in a foreword: "I remember reading in Edgar Saltus' essays that Voltaire, leering mockingly from the tower of his skull, asked the world: 'Why is anything?'"

* * *

O, yes, De Casseres announces his magazine will not only haggle over niceties of diction, but pay respects to certain literary and artistic thimbleheads who will be denied its pages. Says he: "It will have no room for the lady-bugs of the magazines, lace curtain philosophers, publishers' gigolos, book-stupid reviewers, cocktail-chasing log-rollers and licking literary climbers. It will bombard and ridicule the gymnopaedic sesquipedalians, the pleonastic platitudinarians, the logographic rigmarolists and the abracadabrists who have been thinking for us."

Another odd litterateur is W. O. Inglis, official biographer of the elder John D. Rockefeller. The biography is "on ice"—waiting publication. For three years Inglis lived in the elder Rockefeller's various households at Lakewood, Tarrytown and Orlando. He played golf every day, joined piously in family prayers and laughed with due decorum at the proper time. Three hours a day, in clock-like precision, he worked with the oil king, assembling data, family documents and photographs. The gossip was that Inglis was paid a dime a day if, of course, apocryphal. The truth is the proceeds from his venture have made him independent, a happy fate seldom awarded the earnest biographer.

I have wondered if there is some nexus between race tracks and longevity. Turf followers are almost invariably long-lived. Perhaps it is that it keeps one out in the open air. Pittsburgh Phil, a consumptive, held his track activities prolonged his life. Eddie Burke, at 71, looks no more than 50. Foxhall Keene is alert and erect, past middle years. Pop Walbaum, more than 90, is hale and hearty. Alex Ullman, Fred Escher and Ed Callahan, more than 70 each, are at the races daily. Felix Isman reached a ripe old age, as did Dave Gideon, the Dwyer brothers and Dave Pulsifer.

Gentleman Jim Corbett, in a state of semi-invalidism for the past year, is on the move again. Few love life more or have such an eager zest for its excitements. He is at the ringside of every fight and wrestling match his health permits.

* * *

No ring idol fired my youthful imagination like Corbett. During the world's fair I sat in his St. Louis saloon—on Locust street, if memory serves—from 11 a. m. until 7 p. m., just in hopes he might drop in. He never did, and feeling the guilt of the bartender's numerous glances, I neatly tossed off a double whisky I did not want. And next morning awakened across a bed in the Planter's hotel, fully dressed, with a headache built for a zebra.

MARRY-GO-ROUND

By Helen Rowland

Why Do Men Complain?

Men complain that women are unreasonable. And some women ARE!

* * *

But what encouragement do women get to be reasonable? Who is it that gets all the petting and coddling, as well as all the jewels and spending money?

* * *

Is it the sweet, reasonable, unselfish woman, who economizes on "facials," curls her own hair and does her own manicuring? Is it the understanding, self-sacrificing woman, who would rather wear her old clothes and drive an old flivver than keep her husband's nose to the grindstone?

* * *

Is it the woman who never pouts or weeps or nags, when she can't have a new hat or a new car or a new slave-bracelet—who never makes a fuss or goes into a tantrum?

* * *

Oh, yes, of COURSE it is—NOT! That sweet, reasonable woman is permitted to go right on being "reasonable and self-sacrificing," and wearing made-over hats and five-and-ten jewelry, just as long as she will; while little Mrs. Storm-and-Strife gets everything she frets for, including tender devotion. Everything and anything—to keep her QUIET!

* * *

I've never met that kind of "business girl," but doubtless there are lots of them. Why not? Did you ever see a man pick out the plain, unpowdered girl, who looks as though she might never have a date, in preference to the fluffy-haired, lip-sticked Cutie who applied for the job?

And do you see the men around a business office taking Miss Paintless or Miss Superior out to lunch? Or falling over with gratitude when she works after hours to get their letters off and their desks cleared up?

* * *

Men complain that the modern girl is not interested in plain, old-fashioned marriage and a good, old-fashioned home. She wants a career; she wants excitement; she wants whoopee and limelight and all that sort of thing.

Yet I doubt that there is a normal-minded girl living who would not joyfully exchange an office desk for a blue-and-white kitchenette, a "shoppe" for a wedding-ring and a job for a baby. "Woman's place is in the home"—and so is her heart. But what can she do if men "compromise" by offering her an automobile instead of a home, and a part-time affection instead of a life-job?

* * *

Men complain that women spend too much time decorating the outside of their heads and too little cultivating the inside. But since when have men encouraged women to be intelligent? And what does it profit a girl to speak three or four languages, when she can giggle in one and get twice the results.

* * *

The truth is that women are more reasonable, more efficient and more intelligent today, than they ever have been. But some of them will always be as frivolous, silly and capricious as men want them to be; and those are the ones that men will seek, fall in love with—and then hold up to scorn as typical examples of the "Selfish Sex"!
